BIG IMPROVEMENT HERE IN THE CITY LIGHTING SYSTEM

City Engineer Reports on Plans Now Under Way for Extension of White Way System—Work to Be Completed Early in 1925

Final steps towards one of the greatest improvements in the history of the city will be undertaken next week when actual construction work will get under way which will result, probably by the first of next year, in the city being one of the best lighted municipalities in the country. The already completed call for a rearrangement of the lighting system on the main traffic arteries, providing in place of the present incandescent lights on streets, the modern and very type B white way light of the power extension of the type A white way system and the replacement of all arc lights throughout the entire city with type B lights. In addition to this, type A white way lights, similar to those on Merrimack Street, will be replaced by City Engineer

PLAN EXPERTS NEW QUESTION RAISED IN LIQUOR CASE HERE

—(By the Associated Press.)—The question of whether a person can determine the alcoholic content of beer through the sense of taste was raised before U. S. Commissioner Joseph B. Walsh today by counsel for Joseph Bateman and Patrick Driscoll of Lawrence, who are charged with charging illegal sale and possession of beer. A motion to quash the search warrant on grounds of illegality was filed with the commissioner by Attorney James Donovan of the firm of Coulson, Donovan & Hargreaves of Lawrence, who argued it at some length. The commissioner reserved his decision. Attorney Donovan argued and claimed that the affidavit made out and sworn to by federal agents before Commissioner Walsh at the time of request for a search warrant stated that on a prior date a glass of beer had been purchased at the establishment operated by Bateman and Driscoll in Lawrence and that it contained alcohol of a content greater than one-half of 1 per cent. Counsel for the defendants raised the point of a person's inability to determine through taste whether beer contained more than one-half of 1 per cent alcohol and that, therefore, the warrant which preceded the search was illegal. It is the first time the question has been raised before Commissioner Walsh and he will take several days to make a decision.

Loeb-Leopold Murder Trial Justice Sustains Contentions of Defense Attorney As to Evidence

CHICAGO, Aug. 1. (By the Associated Press.)—Judge John R. Caverly overruled objections by the state to alienist testimony offered in mitigation as to punishment by the attorneys for Nathan Leopold, Jr., and Richard Loeb. The result, which came after more than two court days of argument was a decided victory for the defense, as it established the right to give testimony on mental disease short of legal insanity, "not as a defense, but in mitigation of punishment." The decision was momentous in legal annals of this state, as no exact similar situation could be found by attorneys for either side in Illinois records. The field opened by today's findings was more extensive than in cases which bordered it. "It is the court's duty to hear this evidence," said Judge Caverly. "It is not his duty to reject it before he had an opportunity to hear it. The objection by the state is overruled." Immediately Dr. William A. White, alienist from Washington, D. C., took the stand and stated his professional connections, the stage where his testimony was interrupted Wednesday morning. Robert E. Crowe, state's attorney, struck back at Clarence S. Darrow and Walter Bacharach, attorneys for Na-

COX UPHOLDS CONSTABULARY

Chief Executive Scores Informal and Breezy Manner Release Was Asked

BOSTON, Aug. 1.—Governor Cox today made public his reply to the protest by Governor Flynn of Rhode Island against the arrest at Rutland on July 19 of members of a Rhode Island party, including two assistant attorneys general.

The governor supports the stand taken by the state constabulary, who made the arrests, and of the officials who refused a telephoned request from Governor Flynn to release the arrested men. Had a request been made for co-operation of Massachusetts authorities, instead of coming here unannounced, Governor Cox said, "the regrettable event of which you speak would not have occurred."

The arrest grew out of the partisan controversy in the Rhode Island senate, the sessions of which were interrupted on June 19 by the explosion of a bromide gas bomb. When Governor Flynn obtained affidavits from two former guards of a group of Rhode Island senators, who went to Rutland, Mass., after the incident, that republican planting, the Rhode Island assistant attorneys general went to Rutland with the men who made the affidavits to obtain further evidence.

Governor Cox said in his letter that the arrest was made in consequence of a telephone call "purporting to come from Providence police department, requesting the apprehension of an alleged criminal from Rhode Island whose description was given, and as a result of information given by Senator Sherman of Rhode Island then staying at the Hotel Bartlett in Rutland. It was made in the belief that one of the members of the party was the man who was wanted."

The governor recited the circumstances of the arrest and the fact that eventually no complaint was made in court.

MANSLAUGHTER CHARGE

Case Continued for Further Information Concerning Report of Inquest

John J. Keogh, operator of the automobile which struck and killed 10-year-old James J. Jubert at the corner of Lakewood avenue and Bridge street on June 10, was called in district court on a manslaughter charge this morning. An inquest concerning the death was held some time ago by Judge Pickman, and in his finding today, he states that there was negligence, but not criminal, on the part of the operator. In order to understand more clearly what is meant by the negligence referred to in the report, Judge Barlett ordered the case continued until he consults Judge Pickman.

The concluding remarks in Judge Pickman's finding read as follows: "I find that there was negligence on the part of John Keogh in operation of the car prior to the accident in not having presence of mind to stop or check the progress of the car under the conditions that existed just prior to the accident when he tried to turn his car on the railroad tracks on which he was running. I find that his negligence was not so gross and wanton in its nature to make him criminally liable, at least, not for manslaughter."

TODAY'S STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, Aug. 1.—Prime mercantile paper 2. to 3 1/4; foreign exchange firm; demand rates: Great Britain 4 1/2%; France 5.13; Italy 4.33; Germany per trillion 2 1/2%. Prices continued to surge upwards during the morning despite a rather large volume of weekend profit-taking in various sections of the list. Steady fluctuations of the railroad shares resulted in additional new 1924 high records being reached by Pittsburgh and West Virginia, Western Maryland, Gulf, Mobile and Northern, U.S. Rubber, United Fruit, Nash Motors, U.S. Sugar, Int. W. Conglomerate, Consolidated Sugar, Producers and Refiners and Calumet and Arizona up 1 1/2 to 3 points. Call money opened at 2 per cent. Prospects of an early agreement being reached at the London reparations conference had a bullish effect on sentiment at the opening of today's stock market. Buying orders were again spread over a broad list with an exceptionally good demand noted for the railroads and motors. Atlantic Coast line moved up one point to a new 1924 top at 135 and Houston Oil advanced 1 1/2.

STATE DECLARES WAR ON K. K. K.

Public Safety Commissioner Orders Constabulary to Disperse Meetings

Says State Will Not Tolerate Any Warfare Between Opposite Factions

BOSTON, Aug. 1.—Commissioner Alfred E. Foote of the state department of public safety in a statement today announced that at a meeting of troop commanders of the state police patrol and detectives of the state police at the state house, instructions had been issued "for the purpose of putting an end to the bloodshed and riot which has attended recent meetings of the Ku Klux Klan in this state."

He said that the department could not under the constitution forbid the Klan to hold meetings, "but we can and will prevent any assembly of men bearing arms, whether firearms or other weapons." He said his men have been instructed to disarm every individual at such meetings, to arrest persons found carrying arms without permits and to take away weapons of those having permits, at the same time notifying the latter that they may get them at headquarters the next day by proving ownership. This precaution, he said, would give an opportunity to determine whether permits had been issued legally.

The commissioner, emphasizing that these measures would be applied impartially to klansmen and their opponents, added: "Massachusetts will not tolerate armed warfare between any factions. Every man and every resource of this department will be used to prevent it."

BOSTON ATTORNEY RAISES UNIQUE POINT IN DISTRICT COURT

Counsel for Man Found Guilty of Operating Auto While Intoxicated Claims Arrest on Charge Specified Was Illegal—Sentence is Withheld

James F. Fitzgerald of Boston was found guilty, in district court this morning, of operating an automobile while he was under the influence of liquor, but because of certain peculiarities in the case, Judge Barlett decided to withhold sentence until tomorrow. Fitzgerald, who was arrested in Braintree on June 10 after the machine he is alleged to have been operating turned turtle, pleaded not guilty to the charge. His attorney, T. J. Kelley of Boston, entered a motion that the arrest on the charge specified was illegal and cited a Boston case wherein a defendant was dismissed because of a similar technicality. Attorney Kelley argued that the charge of drunken driving cannot be preferred at the time of the arrest. Drunkenness should be the immediate complaint, he said, to be followed by the charge of operating under the influence of liquor only after substantial evidence has been secured.

WELL SATISFIED WITH COURT HOUSE PLANS

Complete satisfaction with the county architect's plans for the new Lowell district court house was expressed today by Judge Thomas J. Enright, Associate Justice John J. Pickman and United States Commissioner R. B. Walsh, who were in conference yesterday on the plans with County Commissioner Barlow and Architect Charles R. Greco.

"I am much pleased with the plans," said Judge Enright this morning, "and I believe we are going to have one of the finest court buildings in the state. Naturally there were some changes and alterations that the court and lawyers felt should be made and which pleased us particularly was the co-operative spirit shown by Commissioner Barlow and the architect in granting our requests. It will be a fine structure."

Justice Pickman expressed similar thoughts, saying that the new building will be a splendid addition to county property and will give the city of Lowell what it has been badly in need of for a long time. "A most excellent building," will result from the plans, I am sure," was his comment. "The new district court building will be used far beyond the expectations of the county commissioners," said Commissioner Walsh, "for it will be a pleasure to work in such surroundings. I am perfectly satisfied with the plans and feel very grateful to Commissioner Barlow and the architect because of their extremely fair attitude toward making slight alterations in compliance with our requests."

SHORT CAMPAIGN TOUR IS DAVIS PLAN

NEW YORK, Aug. 1.—A comparatively short, but vigorous campaign is the plan now of John W. Davis, democratic presidential nominee, as disclosed today by his campaign manager, Clem L. Shaver. In line with this program, Mr. Davis will return to his home at Locust Valley after his formal notification for a stay of some time before actively taking the stump. The speaking program still is held in abeyance. Mr. Shaver explained that the more important task was that of getting the organization perfected and in operation.

The U. S. Bureau of Standards has developed a camera that takes 250 pictures a second to study the flight of projectiles.

RADIO ADDS INTEREST IN GOOD MUSIC

By N.E.A. Service.
MADISON, Wis., July 30.—Radio is largely responsible for increased interest in the part of the general public in better types of music, says Professor P. W. Dykema of the University of Wisconsin school of music. "Give the best music adequate performance and its appeal is immensely extended," says Professor Dykema. "Most wrong notions about classical music are based upon singing or playing that is so poor that the ideas of the composer are not evident. Just as a scratched or soiled copy of a great painting obscures or con-electric lines have caused one of the larger electric light and power companies to distribute a set of safety rules for the prevention of such accidents.

E. S. Hight, engineer in charge of operations of the Illinois Power & Light corporation, specifies them as follows:

"Antennae or any part of same must not be attached to arc light poles, or any poles carrying wires at a greater potential than 220 volts. These wires must not be installed above or below any electric light or power wiring, or nearer than three feet from them.

"When being installed the wires must not be thrown over any wire of any kind, unless it is positively known that this wire does not carry any voltage.

"Transmitting sets must not be connected to secondary lighting or power circuits to which any other customers are connected. A separate transformer must be set up for any such connection into the radio apparatus.

"Any transmitting or receiving set attached to a secondary circuit must be provided with a thorough and adequate ground which is not connected to a gas pipe."

RADIO MONOPOLY UNDER SCRUTINY BY GOVERNMENT

WASHINGTON, August 1.—Recent findings of the federal trade commission alleging that a monopoly exists among certain radio companies, have led the "Sherman law section" of the department of justice to determine upon "a further investigation or additional facts."

Whether Attorney General Stone has decided to bring anti-trust law action against these or other radio equipment manufacturers and distributors had not been made known, but officials of the department are understood to be of the opinion that some companies are involved in an agreement affecting selling prices. They have not been willing to say, however, whether the companies they have in mind are those cited by the trade commission, which included the Radio Corporation of America, General Electric, American Telephone and Telegraph, Westinghouse, Western Electric and International Radio companies and the United Fruit and Wireless Specialty.

HOW TO SPEAK BY RADIO

Speaking to a microphone is an art distinct from all other forms of public speaking, avers Wheeler McMillen, associate editor of Farm and Fireside, who's tried it.

a big part through the microphone," says McMillen, "but resonance is only half the secret of effective broadcasting. Some voices, gifted with a clear, sharp, vibrating quality, are changed by the microphone to a series of incoherent blurs."

For effective broadcasting, he adds, use short sentences made of simple words. "If long sentences are used, make them compound. The beginning and ending of a paragraph should be made of short, pithy sentences packed with thought."

"A monosyllable with a long vowel is harder to pronounce sharply than a syllable with a short vowel. Listeners in cannot see the periods by radio; the speaker must make them evident."

"The sentence ending must never be ragged. Words are clearest and most easily pronounced that end in sharp consonants."

CHICAGO TO ENGLAND ON LONE TUBE!

By N.E.A. Service.
CHICAGO, Aug. 1.—E. T. Flewelling, famous radio engineer, announces he has succeeded in hearing Poldhu, England, on a single tube. This remarkable achievement is made even more so by the knowledge that signals were heard at the distance of 3500 miles with a loop as antenna.

According to Flewelling, the receiver used was the famous super-regenerative circuit invented by him. The station heard was 2YT, which was said to have been using Marconi's new "direct ray" transmission system, on 91 meters, when its broadcast signals were heard.

"It is but a demonstration of what can be done in radio," is Flewelling's comment. "Very soon, by next winter perhaps, you will find such reception common on better made sets. The short wave and direct transmission are part of the secret. Sensitive sets, well designed, are another factor."

DEATH LAST EVENING OF WILLIAM J. MADDEN

The death last evening of William J. Madden, a former well known young resident of the Acra district but for a year past a resident of New Brunswick, N. J., will occasion widespread grief among a host of friends and former schoolmates. Mr. Madden was formerly employed at the Merrimack Clothing Co., later going to the Talbot Clothing Co., where he had charge of the boys' department. He was a fine young man, polite and courteous, ever radiantly happy in the enjoyment of life, and his sudden demise will cast a gloom over a wide circle of friends. He took an active interest in the life and activities of the Broadway Social and Athletic club and was one of its most vigorous workers before leaving for New Jersey. While in New Jersey he was employed in one of the departments of the Hamilton arsenal working on his work enabled him to meet many people all of whom he cherished as friends. He came to Lowell but a few weeks ago on a vacation and was enjoying his respite at the home of his mother, 128 Mt. Washington street, when suddenly taken ill. He is survived by his wife, Alice (Curtin) Madden, his mother, Mrs. Margaret J. Madden and one brother, John J. Madden.

WALL STREET ITEMS

A plan to re-group the railroads and the eastern section of the country, which is expected to be submitted to the Interstate Commerce commission providing for four instead of nine systems, exclusive of New England roads, is understood in the financial district to have been discussed by executives of the four chief trunk lines operating east of the Mississippi river. The conferences have been attended by Samuel Rea, president of the Pennsylvania; Patrick Crowley, president of the New York Central; Daniel Willard, president of the Baltimore and Ohio and representatives of the Van Swerghin interests. The discussions thus far were said to have dealt chiefly with the traffic end of the consolidation.

Directors of V. Vivaudou have omitted the 14 per cent. dividend on the preferred stock due at this time. The last declaration on the preferred was made April 30 when the common dividend was omitted.

Directors of Republic Steel have authorized the purchase of the Warren Foundry and Pipe company for $4,000,000 in August 26. The company plans to issue $2,500,000 first mortgage 6 1/2 per cent. bonds against the Warren property and 125,000 shares of Republic common stock for the transaction. The stock will be offered at $11 a share to stockholders, all the shares having been underwritten.

Declaration of an extra dividend by the United States Steel corporation this week is believed to have caught a large short interest by surprise and the efforts of this group to retreat have been a factor in the quick rise of steel common to a new high price on the current movement.

DOCTOR FAINTS AT AUTO WHEEL

Physician Thrown Through Windshield and Expected to Die as Result

WATERBURY, Vt., Aug. 1.—Stricken with a fainting spell, Dr. Harry D. Hopkins, one of the best known physicians in Vermont, crumpled forward over the steering wheel of his automobile, yesterday, and the heavy machine tore down the steep hill from Waterbury Centre and plunged into a group of young people, instantly killing 12-year-old Raymond Lefevre and seriously injuring four others. After knocking the group in all directions, the speeding machine crashed with terrific force into a tree and hurled the unconscious Dr. Hopkins probably fatally injured. Dr. Hopkins recovered consciousness shortly after he was carried to a nearby house and asked what had happened.

Shortly before the accident the boys had left a neighboring farm where they spent the day picking beans for one of the cannerymen. They were party down the hill, laughing and playing, when without warning the physician's auto plunged into the group. None escaped injury. Passing automobile drivers carried the injured into the town and brought back a physician to where the dead boy lay.

The machine containing Dr. Hopkins continued on its wild run down the hill, swerving from one side of the road to the other, finally leaving the highway and crashing into a tree. The physician was picked up several feet away. Even after he regained consciousness he was unable to tell what had happened.

The police, who immediately started an investigation, learned that Dr. Hopkins had left Waterbury but a short time before the accident. He had called and had complained of feeling ill. A Waterbury farmer also reported to the police that shortly before the accident he met the machine with the doctor lying face down on the steering wheel and going at full speed. He turned his horse out of the road just in time to avoid being struck by the automobile and its unconscious driver. Dr. Hopkins is 46 years old and has practiced in Waterbury several years. He was graduated from Baltimore Medical college in the class of 1901. He is a member of several medical organizations and fraternal orders. Besides suffering from probable concussion of the brain and internal injuries, Dr. Hopkins was found to have many several cuts and bruises about the head and face.

JERSEY BANDIT FORMER STATE TROOPER

EAST ORANGE, N. J., Aug. 1.—The bandit slain at the Lackawanna railroad station here yesterday in an attempt with another to steal a mail pouch containing what they thought $50,000 in federal bank notes, has been positively identified as John J. Manion of Hoboken, former member of the New Jersey state police. He was discharged about a year ago for insubordination.

NEW INVENTIONS TO REPLACE BATTERIES

NEW YORK, Aug. 1.—Batteries, including the A, B and C types, are nearing the end of their usefulness. Instead, inventions are popping up to replace these local power sources with coils of other instruments for attachment to the electric wiring in the home.

Ever since radio became popular, inventors have been busy on some method for transforming the 110-voltage alternating current supplied for home use into the direct current of variable voltage needed for receiving sets. A British invention claims to have accomplished this in part, with the design of a new type of receiving circuit.

In this country, two recent inventions point to the death of batteries in the near future. One is a small device which permits the use of alternating current to light the filaments of radio and audio frequency amplifying tubes. It cannot yet be applied to detector

"Monday" Fades When Women Organize Laundry Plan

INTERIOR VIEW OF CO-OPERATIVE LAUNDRY AT RIVER FALLS, WIS., AND TRUCKS USED FOR DELIVERY.

By N.E.A. Service.
RIVER FALLS, Wis., July 31.—Wash day is not "blue Monday" to the farmers' wives of St. Croix county, Wisconsin.

They have a co-operative laundry of their own, which has just completed 10 years of successful operation—so successful that women's clubs from all sections of the country are asking how it's done.

Originally the laundry served only the immediate vicinity of River Falls. Now the adjoining rural communities and 10 nearby villages have their dirty clothes collected, washed and returned with the regularity that prevails in a big city.

And it all came about as the result of a debate in a woman's club. Dirty clothes took so much time to wash that members of the Home Culture club, an organization of farm women, decided something should be done about it.

A canvass was made of the surrounding farming community. Stock was sold at $10 a share. At first, the project was not in conjunction with a co-operative creamery, but the managers took such a spurt that a separate enterprise became necessary.

After the first year the project was a success. The co-operative laundry, still owned by the farmers' wives, employs 10 girls and three men. It has an average of 477 customers and furnished same-day service to hotels and restaurants in Hudson, Hammond, Ellsworth, Cumberland, New Richmond, Baldwin, Spring Valley and Prescott.

The college of agriculture, University of Wisconsin, awarded it a prize of $300 this year because of its success in lightening the burden of the farm home.

The institution is a model in every respect, equipped with latest machinery. It has paid off all indebtedness with the exception of $1200, it manages to pay off about $1000 a year.

The type B white way lights which are to be installed on the main arteries are similar to those now in place on the Central bridge and along the Adams street boulevard as far as the city line. The lights are very bright, yet are not glaring, and feature which, in the opinion of city officials is very favorable to this system, is that the lights are all-night lights, not being shut off as the type A lights are late in the evening.

City Engineer Kearney and Mr. Wilson have been in conference several days each week for the past several months discussing the project and laying out plans for the new system. At a recent meeting of the public service board the city engineer's plans were approved and all that is now necessary for the beginning of work is the approval by the city council of a number of pole locations, which will be noted upon at Tuesday's meeting.

The type B white way lights, unlike the type A lights which require special poles, are mounted on the electric light corporation's wooden poles by means of an ornamental bracket. This feature is one of the most important in connection with the change, for it is doubtful if the city could afford the change if it were necessary to erect separate posts for each new light.

The replacement of the old lights throughout the city, according to the city engineer, is next to the complete rearrangement of the street lighting system on main arteries, a great step forward.

As above stated, it will be impossible to make the change of lights all at one time and afford opportunity for a formal opening of the new system, and the new lights will be put into operation just as soon as installed.

MONSTER RACIAL WAR PREDICTED BY NOTED LONDON PUBLICIST

Sir Valentine Chirol Addresses Institute of Politics at Williamstown Saying Peaceful Adjustment of Relations With Occident and Orient is Vital Necessity

WILLIAMSTOWN, Aug. 1.—Cases some way is found to a peaceful adjustment of relations between the Occident and the Orient, the world will be plunged into a deadly racial conflict, said Sir Valentine Chirol today in the first lecture of this year's Institute of Politics at Williamstown college.

Sir Valentine was director of the foreign department of the London Times for many years and a member of the royal academy, and the leading public services. His lecture was the first of a series on eastern and near eastern questions.

The reawakening of the Orient, he said, was a "direct challenge to western supremacy, intellectual and spiritual as well as economic. It assumes a different shape in different countries, but there is one feature common to them all. They belong to many different races and have different religious and social problems, but they are all united in a common resentment of the white man's assumption of superiority."

IRISH LEADERS TALK IN BOSTON SUNDAY

BOSTON, Aug. 1.—Sean Moylan of the Irish republican army and Luke Dillon of Philadelphia, who has spent 15 years in British prisons for his activities in the Fenian movement, will be the principal speakers at a mass meeting to be held Sunday night, in the Fidelity hall, 134 Dudley street, to celebrate the release of Ramon De Valera, Austin Stack and others from an Irish jail.

Big Improvement Here In City Lighting System

mack and other downtown streets, will be installed in John and Paige streets, in Middle street from Central to Shattuck streets, and in Market street from Central street to Cardinal O'Connell parkway.

The new type B lights are to be installed by the Lowell Electric Light corporation, that company bearing all expense in connection with the change, and will cost the city $33 a light a year instead of the $50 now being paid yearly for each arc light.

Five months' work has been necessary to complete preliminary plans for the change and the Lowell Electric Light corporation has borne an expense, it is stated, of nearly $100,000 in changing over its plant to meet the requirements of the new system. There is still considerable work to be done which will cost the electric light company a great deal more money. The work is to be done in such a way that no section of the city will be left without lights while the change is being made. New lights will be placed where the old lights were, or in new locations if such are necessary, and will be switched on immediately.

The city appropriation for street lighting, according to the city engineer, is sufficient to take care of the increased cost in lighting. The appropriation for this year is $150,000.

The new system will not be completed before Jan. 1, 1925, in the opinion of the committee, and it may be finished still after the date, but both Mr. Kearney and Mr. Wilson hesitatingly state that Lowell will be, upon the completion of the work, one of the best lighted cities in the country.

The camellia is changing colors as the season advances. First every one saw the natural white ones, then came the deep red ones, and now green ones are the rage.

Among the popular fabrics for fall and winter are crepes with chenille and velvet figures interwoven. A lavish use of fur is also foreseen.

Loeb-Leopold Murder Trial

"Innocent babes, who still believe in Santa Claus."

"Mr. Darrow had chided me because I sentenced a confessed criminal to death when I was on the bench," said Mr. Crowe. "But I was following the law."

Mr. Crowe followed Attorney Bachrach of defense counsel, who had finished his analysis of cases offered by the state in its efforts to bar from the record reference to the mental state of the defendants.

"We have made an analysis of all the cases cited by the state," said Mr. Bachrach. "Except in one or two inconsequential instances, none of them related to instances in which mental disease was offered as mitigation of punishment. All were inapplicable to this case."

"As this argument has progressed I have wondered what function there was in the office of state's attorney that allowed him to fix the punishment of these defendants."

"That is his duty, as an officer of the law, to demand what form of punishment should be meted out."

"It is, in fact, none of his business. Whether a defendant pleads guilty or is convicted by a jury, his function is to inform the court by laying before it all facts in the case."

"That is his real duty, whether the facts are favorable or unfavorable to the defendants."

"Were I in his place, I would instead let my conscience be my guide, and were I a judge I would want to know every fact that could be presented from every viewpoint of both state and defense."

"I would lay aside the rules of evidence," continued Mr. Bachrach. "They don't matter in a situation like this. They don't matter as a fact of law."

"This is not a trial. It is a hearing for you to determine the punishment to be meted out."

He quoted from Fischer on evidence to the effect that formalities necessary when a case is before a jury should be disregarded by a court in considering punishment.

"Everything went in that the state desired and properly so. When it comes to the defense's evidence nothing should be shut out. It requires a distortion of the mind to say that evidence as to the mental condition of these boys is not a proper consideration in fixing the punishment."

"It seems a useless thing for us to have to stand here and argue that mental condition like age, shall not be considered in mitigation of punishment."

Mr. Crowe said the issue before the court was something for Judge Caverly himself to decide. Mr. Crowe also defended his course in backing a bill in the last Illinois legislature for revision of the jury laws.

"This is a tremendous case in Illinois," Mr. Crowe said, in opening remarks.

"As I listened to Mr. Darrow, I was in doubt whether he was a court trial, making a speech before the legislature, or making a closing speech to a jury in an effort to save his clients," he said. He referred to rights by Darrow that he had no after a plea of guilty and by Bachrach, that the state's attorney's duties ended with presenting the case, denying the defense had stated the case correctly.

"Yes, the state's attorney is a sworn officer of the law," Crowe said, "but the defense would bar me because they would have this proceeding not as a lawsuit at all."

"Mr. Darrow has castigated me because when I occupied the place Your Honor occupies, I attempted to follow the law and protect the women and children of the community."

"I have heard Mr. Darrow say that he would not hang anybody and even that he would not punish anyone for crime."

He referred to a bill he had tried to sponsor through the legislature for isolation of mental defectives before they had committed crimes.

"There is only one issue in this," he continued. "The purpose of the testimony now about to be introduced concerns the mental responsibility of these defendants. The legal effect and the effect it has on the mind of the layman is that it is a defense of legal insanity. You have no right to hear it. The state could not appeal. The defense, if satisfied, would not appeal. If not satisfied they would appeal and the supreme court would send the case back on appeal."

Judge Caverly looked inquiringly at the attorneys for both sides and finding none wished to argue further, delivered his decision.

There was a stir as the significance of the court's words struck home. Loeb and Leopold, with broad smiles on their countenances, leaned over to Benjamin Bachrach and spoke in a low tone.

THE VACATION LARDER

When it came time for his vacation to start Mr. Mann of Ayrton might be found busily packing the family siver with tents and blankets and cooking utensils and foods.

What to take for the vacation larder is always a problem.

This depends largely upon the distance of the camp site from some handy store.

But a camper can always bank on a few old reliables: Rice will take the place of potatoes and is far more easily carried. Dried lima beans are also easily carried and many good dishes can be made from them.

Dried fruits of all sorts are easily carried: Prunes, apricots and apples being more generally favored.

A slab of bacon should keep with but slight attention. Hardtack, rusks or zwieback substitute for bread.

Flap-jack flour is a general favorite for breakfast; also a good supply of coffee or tea, thinned milk and, if desired, eggs and almost all vegetables can be obtained in a dried condition.

ARREST MANIAC
AS MURDERER

Inmate of Feeble-Minded
Home Said to Admit
Killing Laundress

Police Say He Re-enacted
Crime for Them and Told
Complete Story

LAPEER, Mich., August 1—Louis Johnson, 21 years old, an inmate of the Michigan Home and Training school, a state institution for the feeble-minded, is in jail in a nearby city after having confessed here yesterday, police say, that he strangled to death, Mrs. Blanche E. Burke, pretty 28-year-old widow, employed at the institution.

Johnson, who is classed by the institution as definitely feeble-minded and who has been at the home for 14 years, readily admitted killing the woman, according to officers, and then went to the scene and re-enacted the occurrence for them. He told them, they said, that he resolved to kill the woman to "get even" with her for an argument they had had in the laundry of the institution sometime before.

On the night of Saturday, July 28, the alleged confession continued, the man waited for Mrs. Burke to leave the home and followed her until they reached a spot where the roadside was heavily overgrown with weeds and underbrush. After he had caught her, she broke away and ran, but he overtook her and overpowered her.

Stripping off her stockings, Johnson bound her feet together and then tied her hands before he strangled her, police say he said.

Mrs. Burke was missed late Saturday night when she failed to return to her home from the institution. A search was started and her underclothing was found early Sunday morning. For days officers searched the vicinity in an effort to get some clue, but without success. Johnson was arrested yesterday after another inmate of the home had told officers that the man had told him he killed Mrs. Burke.

The hold-up men made their escape in an automobile after a chase by policemen.

Premature Old Age of Women

It is no secret that so many women suffer from ailments peculiar to their sex. Dark circles appear under the eyes, a pale, drawn, haggard expression to the countenance, and the weakness which accompanies such ailments is evidenced by the lagging step, headaches, backache and nervous conditions. Every woman who is afflicted in this way should rely upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which for a half century has been overcoming some of the most stubborn ailments of women.—Adv.

HOPE REVIVED AT CONFERENCE

New Proposals of French Premier Augur Well for Successful Solution

Likely at Any Time

LONDON, Aug. 1.—(By the Associated Press)—Premier Herriot's proposals have revived hope in the inter-allied conference which is seeking ways and means of putting the Dawes reparation plan into effect. Following acceptance of the proposals by the first committee of the conference yesterday as a basis of settlement, the experts went into session in an effort to reconcile the views on certain important phases and adjourned at 2:15 o'clock this morning after a lengthy sitting which left them tired and haggard. This agreed upon adjournment to reassemble at 11 a. m. and James A. Logan, Jr., the American official observer, expressed hope that a settlement would be forthcoming today.

When this has been reached an invitation will be dispatched to Berlin asking German delegates to come here and make the final arguments for putting the new reparation progress into effect. The international commission, which the Germans will deal as usual, yesterday decided to sit officially in London for that purpose.

IN NEW YORK

By Stephen Hapnagan

NEW YORK, Aug. 1.—Tons of steel girders fell when a derrick lifting them to the top of a 15-story building broke.

Arthur Brown, walking beneath, was buried beneath the debris. Hundreds crowded to the scene. Brown walked calmly from beneath the wreckage, which had fallen in such a manner as to make a protection wall for him. Only his clothes were dusty.

A newspaper photographer, near at hand, induced Brown to pose in the spot on which the heavy girders had fallen.

Just as Brown started to the spot, the remaining half of the derrick and more girders fell at his side.

Brown finally posed for the pictures—a block away.

While the boys of New York play marbles the girls play Jacks.

Just as the boys have been having a big tournament for several years, the girls are engaged in a tourney this year.

It promises to be an interesting competition.

Chinamen are wary as to introducing two countrymen.

None of this latest back-slapping, hand-grasping tomfoolery of the professional introducer, so prevalent today.

For the honor of the Chinese code demands that if No. 1 introduces No. 2 to No. 3 and if No. 2 subsequently incurs a bad debt with No. 3, then No. 1 is honor-bound to make good the loss No. 3 has sustained.

This was told to me down in Chinatown.

Broadway. Noon. The crowd moves sluggishly. Sand still in eyes of many. Theatrical people are late risers. Disheveled chorus girls dashing from a morning's rehearsal to snatch a bite of lunch. That girl looks familiar. I'm positive she's from my home town. Pardon me, miss, but aren't you Mildred March? No? Well, I'm sorry. Don't be angry. I'm not a masquerader. But you look just like a little girl I saw growing up back in Lafayette, Ind. You did. You are. You remember me, now? Well, why the high-hat, then? Oh, you've changed your name. I see. Virginia Moore. Theatrical business, eh? Forgotten your own name already. Surely, I understand. Let's go have lunch and talk about the home folks. What's in a name, after all?

FLORIDA DRY LAW PASSED IN 1855

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., Aug. 1. (By the Associated Press.) The far-sightedness of Florida's legislators of the 19th century is disclosed in an old law unearthed in the archives of the state capital here. It is an act which became effective in January, 1855, and provided heavy penalties for employees of railroads found guilty of being intoxicated while in the performance of their duty.

At the time of its enactment there were no railroads in Florida. The act, however, imposed upon the general assembly the duty of ascertaining the proper objects of improvements in relation to railroads, canals, and navigable streams; and indicates the presentment the lawmakers must have had that liquor and locomotive combination would not make for public safety.

Chicago has 10 active broadcasting stations.

Face Disfigured. Lost Sleep. Cuticura Heals.

"Pimples broke out over my chin causing terrible itching and loss of sleep. They kept growing larger and redder, and the irritation caused me to scratch them. Finally I decided to try Cuticura Soap and Ointment so purchased some, and after using two cakes of Cuticura Soap and one box of Cuticura Ointment I was healed." ## OUT OUR WAY

WHY MOTHERS GET GRAY
THE ANNOUNCER.

LOCAL PLANT REPORTS
BETTER BUSINESS

American Hide & Leather company reports business steadily increasing in the production of its regular lines, strengthening perceptibly in new finished leather products that have returned to popular favor after several years' neglect because of changing fashions.

More activity has been apparent in local shoe and leather industries since July 1. Both buying and manufacturing operations, until the present time have been on a very conservative basis for several months. The turn for the better, reported today by all of the local shoe factories and also the American Hide & Leather company on Perry street, represents a welcome change. And it is bringing a good deal of very valuable new business to the Lowell tannery. The Sun was informed today.

On Perry street, general industrial conditions are much better today than they have been for more than six months past. Optimism is rampant, not too strong, but real optimism, in offices and factory quarters. The calf departments are moving along in production in good shape today, there being more work and larger output.

The recent re-opening of the patent leather department of the Perry street plant, was made necessary because of the sudden change of fashion's whim and the demand for patent leather shoes for summer, fall and winter wear. This demand for new leather grades could not be met by the smaller manufacturers, and the American Hide & Leather company, it is reported, secured many large orders for the patent product, necessitating the opening once more of the Lowell patent leather division. This department is now giving employment to a goodly number of Lowell workmen, who had been laid off some months before by the closing of this same plant.

Today, The Sun is informed, production in the patent leathers on Perry street is "about 100 per cent." Business has increased since the formal re-opening several months ago.

With relatively quiet conditions prevailing in the upper leather business during the quarter ending June 30, particularly in staple lines, it was not to be expected that the American Hide & Leather company would show results as good as in the first three months of the year, when a profit of $200,588 was reported. All things considered, however, the profit of $36,667, after interest charges, reserved for taxes and depreciation, in the second quarter, was very satisfactory.

This contrasts with a loss of $189,132 in the quarter ending June 30, 1923, and a loss of $12,294 in the corresponding period of 1922.

While American Hide & Leather has been operating near capacity so far this year, demand has centered largely on specialty and luxury leathers, to the partial exclusion of more staple lines. To meet the demand, the big upper leather company has concentrated more on the specialties.

Patent leather was very active in the first three months of the year and its popularity continued in the second quarter. Indications are that demand for the fall is likely to swing into calf leathers. Oxfords in blacks and medium browns. Oxfords are likely to come into their own with a waning of the gaudy fad.

For the first six months of 1924, American Hide & Leather reports a profit of $237,156 equivalent to $1.89 per share on $12,548,300 preferred. This contrasts with a deficit of $307,000 in the first half of 1923, and compares with a surplus of $449,000 arising from use and occupancy insurance on a plant destroyed by fire.

PASTEL SHADES
Organdie and tulle, particularly in the pastel shades, are combined very effectively this season. Pleated sections and aprons are of the organdie and the under tunic is of tulle.

Is Your Child Thin, Weak or Puny?
Sugar Coated Cod Liver Oil Tablets Put on Flesh and Build Them Up—Quick

In just a few days—quicker than you ever dreamt of—these wonderful flesh-making tablets called McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Tablets will start to help any weak, thin, under-nourished little one.

After sickness and where rickets are suspected they are especially valuable. No need to give them any more nasty Cod Liver Oil—these tablets are made to take the place of that good but evil smelling stomach-upsetting medicine and they surely do it. They do put on flesh.

"My son, 16, became thin and pale and did not gain needed nourishment from his food until he took McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Tablets. In a little over two months he gained eleven and a half pounds and feels and looks 100 per cent better."

TARIFF REVISION PUT UP TO PRESIDENT

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1.—The question of revising the sugar tariff schedule has been put up to President Coolidge after more than a year and a half of investigation and dispute by the tariff commission.

The commission's findings, completion of which Senator La Follette, independent candidate for president recently charged was being opposed by representatives of the "sugar interests," were submitted yesterday to the president, who alone is empowered under the law to proclaim revision of the rates, up or down, to the extent of 50 per cent.

The results of the inquiry, which has embraced sugar production conditions in Cuba and elsewhere, were not announced, although it had been indicated that majority and minority reports were contemplated by the commissioners, who had been split between contentions that the duties should be lowered or left as they are, —1.75 cents a pound on Cuban and 2.20 cents on other sugar imports.

DAVIS PREPARED TO START SPELLBINDING

NEW YORK, Aug. 1.—His calendar clear of engagements, John W. Davis was able to devote much of his time today to the perfection of his address accepting the democratic presidential nomination and to plan for the campaign.

The program called for further discussion with his manager, Clem L. Shaver, who is to have complete charge in carrying out campaign details while Mr. Davis is presenting himself and his cause to the country.

One of the principal problems of organization—the selection of a national treasurer, and a finance committee—remains to be disposed of, but the nominee and his field general hope to have this and other important items of organization out of the way before the official notification ceremonies at Clarkbury 10 days hence.

Amplifying the formal statement issued after his return from Maine yesterday in which he endorsed the position of his running mate, Governor Bryan of Nebraska, regarding the administration's plan for National Defense day on Sept. 12, Mr. Davis said informally last night that he believed in "military preparation."

Between this and the "civilian mobilization" to which Governor Bryan had voiced objection, Mr. Davis drew a sharp distinction. He declared opposition to the encouragement of "demonstrations" at a time when he said every effort should be made to get the "world back to peace and to work."

FOR MIDSUMMER
For midsommer the medium-sized hat is getting a bit of notice. There is a tendency to broaden the sides of the hats and to shorten the front and back. Bows and trimmings of the tailored sort are used in the back instead of the front.

QUAKERS UNITE TO HONOR GEORGE FOX

LONDON, Aug. 1.—The tercentenary of the birth of George Fox, founder of the Society of Friends, was celebrated at his birthplace, the small village of Fenny Drayton, Leicestershire, July 5. Quakers from America and from all parts of England gathered in the village and took part in the ceremonies.

The Anglican Bishop of Peterboro sent a message to the meeting which was read by Albert Russell, of Philadelphia, at the conclusion of his address.

A visit was paid during the day to the parish church where there still exists the font in which Fox was baptized and which was for many years used as a village horse trough.

FRANCE PRODUCES LESS IRON

PARIS, Aug. 1.—The claim of some economists that France is the "iron-master of the world" is disputed by recently published figures. These show the production of iron to be 590,000 tons a month and of steel 554,000 tons. These figures are 15 per cent less than the 1918 output.

The dinar, the money in vogue in Herod's time, has been adopted as a monetary unit in Palestine.

The United States cruiser Raleigh arrived here yesterday and found all preparations complete for the coming of the fliers, down to the erection of a big red sign, lettered in English: "Welcome to Hornapfjördur." The village nestles in front of huge barren mountains and great ice fields that sweep to the edge of the mirror-like fjord, where the planes will be moored during their brief halt.

CANADIAN GOLF
TOURNEY STARTS

MOUNT BRUNO, Que., Aug. 1.—Despite withdrawals of several noted players from the United States, the first two rounds of the Canadian open golf championship got under way today, with a classy field competing for the blue ribbon of dominion golf. The matches will not be finished until late today because of the large number of contestants.

The feature pairings today were those of Gene Sarazen former United States open champion, and Johnny Farrell, New York; T. G. Armour, former Scottish champion, and now of the Westchester-Biltmore club, and Tedders MacKenzie, of Montreal; Clarence Hackney, Atlantic City and C. S. Lyon of Toronto, veteran Canadian amateur champion; George Cumming, Toronto, and Mike Brady, Detroit, an ex-Canadian open champion; Frank

SOME OF THE BATHING SUITS ENTERED IN ATLANTIC CITY BEAUTY PAGEANT

By MARIAN HALE
By N.E.A. Service

NEW YORK, Aug. 1.—We have one pleasant event to look forward to, at least, though it is still several weeks away. I'm referring to the 1924 Atlantic City beauty pageant.

By September the various belles who represent the various cities of our land will be marshaled into New Jersey to try out for the "Miss America" title.

To be sure, there is never but one contestant who is really satisfied with the decision, and the judges have to get out of Atlantic City by the next train after the choice is made, but it always brings forth a new crop of beauties and a new crop of bathing suits.

The photograph above will show you some of the contestants and costumes that are already in the race. I'm informed that the regalia on the left, worn by Rita Caldwell, is to be the standard costume.

It is an adaptation of a short dress made of blue and white satin, with a smart monogram and a leather belt and short knickers that come near enough to the knee to please the most exacting beach cop.

Blanch Nevins is carrying the popular black and white craze into her beach costume. Her black satin costume is worn over white knickers and she adds a smart scarf of black and white satin and a monogram turban for extra smartness.

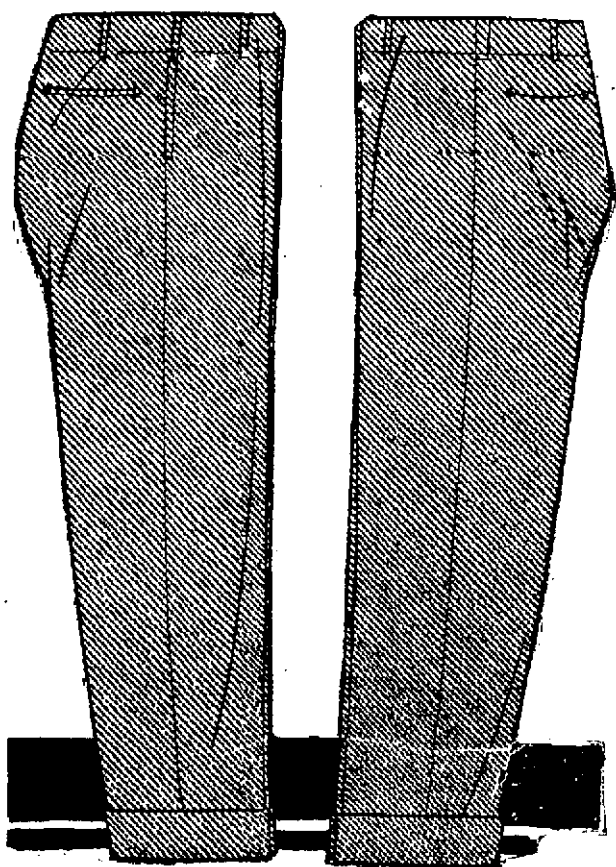

The other three costumes worn by Betty King, Irma Laver and Georgia Brown are of fancy brocaded materials. Two of them feature colors against a background of gold cloth, and the third shows brocaded antler figures on black taffeta. Each costume has its distinct place of millinery.

Needless to say these outfits are the sort you hang on a hickory limb or in a locker or any convenient place so they don't get in the water.

POLICE CLOSE IN ON
PALS OF BANDIT

EAST ORANGE, N. J., Aug. 1.—Federal postal inspectors and detectives expressed the belief today that they are closing in on the escaped accomplices of John J. Mahony, former state trooper, who was killed in an attempted mail robbery yesterday by Eugene Stack, 22-year-old mail clerk. The federal inspectors are trailing two men who they say operated with Mahony in hi-jacking exploits on New Jersey roads.

LEGION ASKS MANY WHAT WAS ACTUAL GAIN BY WORLD WAR

Former Kaiser's Secretary, Crown Prince, Newton D. Baker, Generals Pershing and Allen Among Those Who Make Answer—Some Deny Any Gain

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Aug. 1.—A symposium on "what did the world gain by the World War" is published today by the American Legion weekly. The majority of the replies, many of them from famous Americans, agree there were gains, though some deny any.

The first person quoted, the former Kaiser's secretary, Admiral H. von Reibell-Paschwitz, said:

"What did the world gain? Nothing! It lost everything."

"This answer," said the article, "was in reply to a letter to William Hollenhorst in Holland. It is taken to represent very closely the real views of the former emperor."

The symposium was prepared to feature the tenth anniversary of the beginning of the World War.

The Crown Prince
Friedrich Wilhelm, former crown prince, says:

"The result was that all nations are armed as hard as they can, and what about democracy? Just look at the cables from over the whole world. Dictatorship of some sort or other is the favorite idea. The only good the war did is to show that a nation, not well armed, is powerless, and that such a nation gets no help from anybody."

Newton D. Baker
Newton D. Baker says:

"Taking the long view, I believe, it is possible now to say that the world is at last convinced that the balance of power theory is an unstable basis for world peace and that international co-operation is the only other plan to be tried. This is a great gain."

General John J. Pershing said:

"While we are probably too close to the events of the World War definitely to judge of its general benefits to mankind, yet the victory did result in preventing domination by autocracy, with all its disastrous effects upon civilization, and the evidence is clear that the free peoples of the world will unite in resisting such domination."

General Allen
General Henry T. Allen, commanding general of the American army of occupation, says:

"The world has seen that the impious creeds that might make right, and that the state as the incarnation of power stands above law have been overthrown. The world has learned much more of the interdependence of states. It has learned that Europe cannot proceed properly along the road of moral and physical restoration without our participation in the great unsettled post-bellum measures."

John Doughboy
American soldier, who served in the ranks throughout the war and is now a staff sergeant.

"Although we cannot claim that, as a result of the World War, the world has been made 'safe for democracy,' it is apparent that the American principle that governments derive their power from the consent of the governed' has been, for the first time, impressed upon European minds."

Sir Phillip Gibbs
Sir Phillip Gibbs, British war correspondent, says:

"The only gain to humanity from the World War, as far as I can see now, was the inspiration that comes from the supreme valor of youth and its ready sacrifice for ideals higher than self-interest."

William Allen White
William Allen White, Kansas editor, says:

"The gain came in self-respect for the workingman and the man of small means and his woman folks. And it cut through nationalities without respect to allies or central powers. In that much democracy has gained and will never go back."

Hilaire Belloc
Hilaire Belloc, English historian and student of military science:

"The world gained by the great war a demonstration in practice that the atheist doctrine and tradition of which Prussia has been the increasingly successful exponent for 150 years, would ultimately prove weaker than the culture of Christendom."

President Emeritus Eliot
Charles W. Eliot, president-emeritus of Harvard:

"The World War destroyed the huge Russian, a German and Austrian autocracies. . . . Democratic principles have made good progress and brought them nearer to effective union for promoting liberty, justice and peace throughout the world."

Samuel Gompers
Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor:

"The world gained as a result of the great war a freedom from the menace of organized militarist imperialism without which all peoples sooner or later would have been enchained in bondage and vassalage. Democracy is in the ascendency, the dominant form of government."

Jane Addams
Jane Addams says:

"A revolution of what modern war is when systematic propaganda arouses world-wide hate and when the latest methods of industrial efficiency achieve the maximum of slaughter and destruction. 2. Among the living, a growing determination to abolish war for the sake of those who gave their lives to end it."

Here's the Gem
John Maynard Keynes, English economist and author of "Economic Consequences of the Peace":

"I don't know."

Follow the arrow! Attention, all ye Rotarians! You can't lose.

Hudson, N. H., rural and exotic in August when summer is in full bloom, calls from afar, and the invitation entices. Just follow the arrow.

Next Tuesday afternoon, promptly at 5 o'clock, if the weather be fair or stormy it makes no never-mind, a host of Lowell Rotarians, old and young, will depart in automobiles for a quick dash over deviously winding highways from Dutton street via Merrimack and Pawtucket streets and Vermont avenue, to a point just over the New Hampshire state line where Hudson, the given of the great outdoors, beckons.

The automobile excursion into the Granite state is momentous. It is the talk of Rotary-dom today. Not a member will be missing when the round-up roll-call is read at local Boys' club headquarters. If nothing serious happens to prevent attendance at the checking-up point, Secretary Roy Panchet has been assured that the new car enroute to the northward destination, will be imposing and a good time will be had by all.

Lowell Rotarians are preparing to visit Hudson to see how the Lowell Boy Scout campers are getting along. They have had excellent written reports from Boy Scout Executive Edwin J. Mellen, of course, and parents of the lads in khaki have also been assured that the 1924 scouts' summer has been a record-breaker for success, full programs of every outdoor delightful pursuit, but the Rotarians want to see for themselves. And so they are planning not only to hold their weekly business meeting at the Lowell Boy Scouts' camp ground at Hudson, N. H., next Tuesday afternoon, but will partake of a regular dinner in the camp dining barracks, providing the railroads for one and all in the usual Rotarian full-course fashion.

This trip from Lowell to Hudson cannot be made at this time of the year without a few detours. Rotarians have smoothed the way for members, so they won't get lost en route to the Boy Scouts' summer camp. The directions call for initial movement to the corner of Mammoth road and Vermont avenue first, swinging down the avenue, then following the arrows. It will be necessary to keep a sharp eye out for these arrows. Rotarians are told. They will be more noticeable along the route at important turns and detours.

Officers of the club hope to have many well-filled automobiles in line, the August visitation trip being one that many members look forward to with genuine eagerness annually.

HEAVY WEEK-END
The Dixon Shu-fix team will have a very busy week-end. Tomorrow afternoon they will journey out to Chelmsford to battle the strong Chelmsford A. A. Sunday they will take on the Puckett A. A. in a twelfth game at Highland park. "Tiger" Derrall, the Dixon star twirler, will be back in the lineup. The Dixons have open dates for Saturday and Sunday, August 8 and 9. Call Dixon Shu-fix, 6710 and ask for Bert Dixon.

Derrall will erect four radio stations in Greenland. Use of radio receivers is forbidden in the German occupied areas.

FIND BIG SUPPLY OF HOME BREW
A Hguer rald in an Exeter street he a 4 and 6 per cent beverage. Simultaneous last night, 2500 one-quart bottles of home brew, alleged to be of the island goods have been sent to Boston for analysis.

The raid was conducted by Captain Palmer, Sergt. Winn and Officers William L. Keegan and Alfred J. Conroy, and an arrest will follow when ownership is established.

Simple Little Cottage of "Western" Type Built for Comfort and Economy

The five-room cottage pictured here is of a type that has been called "western" by some architects.

Some of its characteristics are widely overhanging eaves, open cornice, exposed rafter ends, a frank plainness, overhanging second story suggestive of the chalet, good proportions, balance in the size and placing of openings.

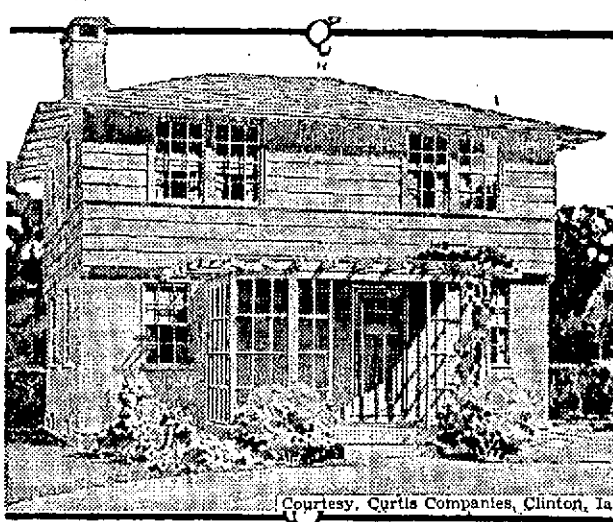

Stained clauboards and stucco are used in developing the exterior. Windows divided into small panes are in good taste in any house. The trellises about a quaint-shaped porch, and the exposed rafter ends in pergola effect, as well as the pleasing design of the chimney, show a fine consideration for detail in the exterior treatment.

The interior is no less carefully planned. The use of standard stock materials has been taken into consideration all the way through, effecting a decided economy in construction.

One enters directly into the living room which occupies one side of the first floor, with the stairway at the rear of it. French doors open into the dining room, also at the front of the house, making both rooms lighter and more spacious.

Good light and pleasant view help make the kitchen pleasant. Note the convenient arrangement of the base-cabinet steps, below the main flight. An outside entry is provided for the refrigerator and handy storage shelves.

There are two bedrooms, each with a front location and cross-ventilation.

FRONT VIEW AND FLOOR PLANS OF FIVE-ROOM WESTERN HOME.

The bathroom and several closets, one of which is fitted with removable trays, complete the second floor layout.

This little cottage is planned for economy, but for the sort of economy that provides conveniences and comfort for the owners. Part of the joy of living in it comes from the knowledge that passersby also "like its looks."

NO CANTONMENTS IN NEXT WAR SAYS ARMY CORPS LEADER

Maj. General Andre W. Brewster Explains How Three Branches of Army, the Regulars, National Guard, and Reserves, Would Function Should War Come

BOSTON, Aug. 1.—War department plans for national defense, made public today by Major General Andre W. Brewster, commanding the first corps area, provide for a return to revolutionary war methods of mobilization. Instead of troops being sent to a central cantonment, they will be gathered locally, trained near their homes, fed and sheltered there, and replacements will come from fellow citizens.

"Never again will men be herded into huge cantonments, erected at enormous expense, far from home and friends," General Brewster said. "Instead, men will collect themselves naturally, much as our forefathers did, in the American revolution and each town and state will be largely responsible for its own troops. There is no question of the economy of such a plan or of its equitable distribution of the burden, but it is so highly decentralized that its success depends upon each community understanding and intelligently performing its duties."

General Brewster's statement, making public "certain features of the war department plans for national defense which have heretofore been classified as a secret," repeated the plans to call out troops for the regular army and the national guard first, in the event of an emergency adding "that as soon as these troops had mobilized, expanded to war strength and left their areas, the organized reserves would commence their mobilization, using the shelter and other facilities in their communities used previously by preceding troops."

STATE PROBES ROOF COLLAPSE

Rhode Island Attorney General Investigates Sudden Fall of Mill Roof

Endeavor to Determine if There Was Criminal Negligence in Accident

WOONSOCKET, R. I., Aug. 1.—State Attorney General Herbert L. Carpenter has started an inquiry into the collapse of the roof of the Branch River Combining company plant at North Smithfield, to determine if there was criminal negligence.

Mr. Carpenter visited the scene this morning and will take up the matter with officials of the engineering and construction companies involved, at their Boston offices.

Officers of Lockwood and Greene company and the Turner Construction company have completed their investigations and turned in their reports at Boston but will have nothing to say as to their nature.

The three men critically injured are in grave condition at the hospital and several others are also under treatment at the institution.

Work on clearing the ruins has been started but there is much of the steel that cannot be used again in the building.

Westminster abbey, St. Paul's and other European cathedrals will install loud speakers.

WILLIE RITCHIE TO TRY A COME-BACK

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 1.—Willie Ritchie, who held the lightweight boxing championship from 1914 to 1917, has signed a contract for the first bout of a much-hoped-for come-back attempt. Two years ago Ritchie, now an automobile tire dealer here, let it be known that the huge purses offered for boxing matches in the east were too tempting to resist and that he would endeavor to re-enter the ring and gain some of them.

The readers of THE SUN are the bone and sinew of Lowell. They are practically all Lowell people who have helped to make the city what it is.

They earn their living in Lowell; they spend their money in Lowell; they are the main support of the Lowell merchants.

SUN readers are not in the habit of running to Boston for their supplies. They trade at home.

They are the largest body of newspaper readers in the city, and few of them read any other paper because they don't need to.

There is only one way for the merchant to reach this large, thrifty, industrious and intelligent body of readers, and that is through the columns of THE SUN.

NATIONAL CAMPAIGN AGAINST MILITARY

RICHMOND, Ind., Aug. 1.—A nationwide campaign under the direction of a group of Young Friends, against observance of National Defense day, was in progress today, according to an announcement by J. Howard Marshall and Miss Rachael Conrad Jones of Philadelphia, chairman of the committee in charge of the movement. Letters and literature protesting against observance of the day on the ground that it constitutes an endorsement of future wars, is being mailed out to groups of Young Friends throughout the nation, according to the chairman, who are attending the Young Friends conference here.

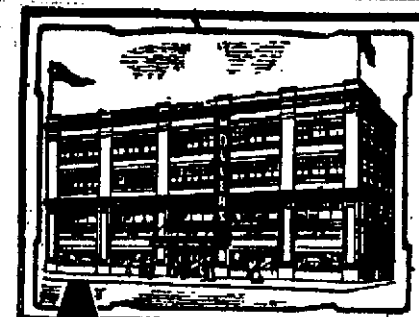

The campaign was declared on at a meeting of Young Friends at Ocean City, N. J., two weeks ago, which was called to consider the relation of world peace to the proposed observance, the announcement said.

HELPS COOLIDGE ON HIS SPEECH

Col. George Harvey, Former London Ambassador, Aide President on Draft

Charles B. Warren, Retiring Mexican Ambassador, Visitor at White House

WASHINGTON, August 1.—Arrival here today of Charles B. Warren, retiring ambassador to Mexico and chairman of the platform committee at the republican national convention, revived speculation as to the part he will take in the republican campaign.

Mr. Warren came to Washington to surrender formally his commission as ambassador to Mexico, but it was understood that as a White House guest, opportunity would be afforded for conferences of a political nature between him and the president. It has been generally presumed among republican leaders here that Mr. Warren would be requested to take a prominent part in the campaign because of his experience as republican national committeeman in Michigan for a number of years and because of his work as leader of the platform builders at Cleveland.

Mr. Coolidge is expected to go over his notification address, now being drafted, with Mr. Warren during the latter's visit at the White House. He has consulted frequently during his work on the speech with George Harvey, former ambassador to Great Britain, and probably will read it over early next week to William M. Butler, chairman of the republican national committee, before sending the manuscript to the printer.

Official business having taken most of his time yesterday, Mr. Coolidge was hopeful that today he would be able to get in more work on the address.

HUGHES CHATS WITH MILLERAND AND POINCARE IN FRANCE

Secretary of State Has Long Chat on Reparations With Former Presidents of Republic—Le Matin Comments on Extended Conference

PARIS, Aug. 1.—Before leaving for Brussels, Secretary Hughes had long talks, not only with President Doumergue, but with former Presidents Millerand and Poincare, with the former at his home in the Avenue de Villars and with the latter after dinner at the American embassy. It is revealing no secret of state, says Le Matin to record that the American cabinet chief was deeply interested in the conversations of the two former presidents.

"It has been a long time," the paper continued, "since Mr. Hughes was in Europe before and he has followed the situation here from afar, sometimes perhaps it was through the distorting prism formed from the immense ocean. The secretary felt that himself in the conversations. The word reparations was most often on his lips.

"He sought to understand France's viewpoint, and in addition he did not conceal that the question of French safety, and consequently the possibility of a new war, pre-occupied to a high degree the government and people of the United States and he appeared strongly impressed with what M. Millerand, who spoke with great energy and frankness, said to him."

"In a word," concludes the paper, "Mr. Hughes left in a very different state of mind from what he had when arrived. He sees, above all, that if France is struggling with serious financial difficulties, she is by no means ready to abdicate all her rights in

FATHER DINAND RETURNS AS HEAD AT HOLY CROSS

WORCESTER, Aug. 1.—The appointment of Rev. Joseph N. Dinand, S. J., as president of Holy Cross college is announced in connection with the appointment of Rev. James J. Carlin, S. J., who has held the office for six years, as treasurer of the Jesuit Novitiate at West Stockbridge. Father Dinand, who was the Holy Cross head for several years, beginning in 1911, has been assistant to the Jesuit provincial of the New York-Maryland province in recent years.

GOODWIN TREATENS MAIL TRUCK DRIVERS

BOSTON, Aug. 1.—As long as "the United States is too poor to put suf-

Scient lights" on mail trucks, drivers who operate such vehicles "faster than it is safe to go at night without lights" will have their licenses suspended, according to a letter sent to Postmaster Roland M. Baker yesterday by Frank A. Goodwin, state registrar of motor vehicles.

"It has been called to my attention," said the letter, "that a number of mail trucks are now being operated on the streets without any lights at all at night, and I have seen two such cases myself.

"Of course, I realize that you cannot help it, because apparently the United States government is too poor to put sufficient lights on their trucks to safeguard the lives of the people, but so long as your trucks are in this condition, I wish you would please notify the drivers to take existing conditions into consideration while driving through the streets, because if any complaints are made to me and are verified by investigation that your drivers are going faster than it is safe for motor vehicles to go at night without lights, I shall suspend their right and not permit them to operate on the highway."

SUSPENSION BRIDGE TO CAMDEN FROM PHILA. NEARS FINISH

Gigantic New Span to Be Opened to Traffic for Sesqui-Centennial Exposition—Largest of Its Kind in World, Engineers Assert

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 1.—Construction work on the great Delaware river suspension bridge, according to officials of the commission directing its erection, is keeping pace with the schedule set by the engineers who designed it, making it probable that July 4, 1926, the sesqui-centennial of the signing of the Declaration of Independence, will see the new artery of traffic opened between Pennsylvania and New Jersey.

The bridge, with a span of 1750 feet between towers, according to the engineers, will be the largest of its kind in the world. More than a mile and a half in total length, its towers, already in place, reach 385 feet above the surface of the Delaware river.

Draped from the monster cables, each of which will be 29½ inches thick, the floor of the bridge is to be 135 feet above high water, providing passage for the largest craft without altering their tonnage.

The bridge will be 126 feet wide and will accommodate four tracks for trolley and rapid transit lines and a roadway for six lanes of vehicles. Two walks for pedestrians will be built above the roadway. The cost of the project is estimated at $32,733,000, divided between Philadelphia and Camden, and the states of Pennsylvania and New Jersey.

At its present stage, the structure presents the appearance of a bridge without a floor. The towers and anchorages are in position, and the two shores linked by temporary cables on which a narrow footpath for workmen has been laid. Both shores of the river are alive with men and resound to the clatter of machinery, the grind of concrete mixers and the sharp exhaust of hoisting engines. Tons of concrete are being poured daily in the construction of the great anchorages. A wide swath has been cut into the heart of Philadelphia and the heart of Camden to clear the way for the approach to the bridge. Historic churches and buildings have been moved or demolished to make way for this 20th century project.

LIQUOR SEIZED BY FEDERAL OFFICERS

In raids made yesterday by federal enforcement agents at the Bass Point house at Nahant and a near-by establishment in Lawrence, Agents Sullivan, Hall and Canale secured liquors of various brands and upwards of 1000 gallons of beer. As result of the raid at the Bass Point house, the alleged proprietor of the hotel, Andrew F. Fuller, was summoned to appear before U. S. Commissioner Jenny in Boston.

In addition to the beer seized at 126A Elm street, Lawrence, the agents confiscated a considerable amount of manufacturing equipment. The alleged owner, Anthony Cabara, will be called before Commissioner Walsh in this city.

LIBERAL RULING ON BONUS BILL

Time in Guardhouse or Absent Without Leave May Be Counted

Dishonorable Discharge is the Only Barrier, Attorney-General Stone Asserts

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1.—Atty. Gen. Stone has notified the army and navy that a liberal interpretation should be placed on the insurance bonus act with regard to who is entitled to receive the benefits. The term "active military service" allows time spent in the guard house or "A.W.O.L." to be counted in, according to his ruling. The only barrier is that men dishonorably discharged are not eligible.

More than 1,000,000 applications for the "adjusted compensation" have come in so far, Maj. Gen. Robert C. Davis, the adjutant general of the army, announced today. Since distribution of application blanks was completed on June 26, 12,000,000 blanks have been issued and the rate of return is surprisingly low.

A force of 2000 clerks is at work here, passing on 1000 applications a day. The output will reach 40,000 a day when the new machinery gets into efficient operation, Gen. Davis said. He urged that those who have not filed their applications do so as early as possible.

Certificates have been approved and the veterans' bureau will issue checks for cash payments due March 1, 1925.

AUTOMOBILE BURNED

A new Hudson sedan, valued at $2200 and owned by William A. Griffin of Somerville, was destroyed by fire starting from gasoline ignited by the flame of a farm lantern, early yesterday morning, at the summer cottage of the Griffins in Billerica. An attempt had been made to draw gasoline out of the sedan tank in partially full the tank of another car that was empty. The flames spread to the cottage nearby, but Billerica firemen, promptly summoned, saved the building from destruction.

COMMODORE BALLROOM

With a spacious dancing surface in the best possible condition, wonderful music and the temperature just right, there is no reason why one should not enjoy an evening of real pleasure at the Commodore ballroom. Tonight there will be check dancing with Minter-Doy's orchestra playing all the popular numbers. The admission is 10 cents. Check dancing will also be on the card for tomorrow evening.

PEARL WATER SCARCITY

Billerica water commissioners have requested water takers to refrain from using hose on lawns and gardens for the present, on account of the extreme drought of the past few weeks, which has lowered the driven wells' supply perceptibly. Several of the wells are actually dry. The meadow land near the pumping station has never been so lacking in moisture as it is at the present time.

LA FOLLETTE LEADERS PLAN CAREFULLY.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1.—The national campaign in support of the independent progressive ticket headed by Senator La Follette as presidential and Senator Wheeler as vice-presidential candidates, organization leaders asserted today, will be in full swing by Sept. 1. The setting up of campaign and electoral machinery for the entirely new enterprise, which has absorbed attention to date, will have progressed by that time, said the leaders, to the point where a direct appeal may be made effectively to the voters, led by the candidates themselves.

Members of the national executive committee plan to select a director of publicity shortly, Robert M. La Follette, Jr., vice-chairman of that body, declared.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE
Only a few opportunities remain for Lowell movie lovers to see "The Fool's Awakening," a screen adaptation of the noted story by William J. Locke, which features the current program at the Merrimack Square theatre. "The Fool's Awakening" is one of the greatest romances of the year. It's dramatic, it's punchy and full of thrills and excitement. The cast stars Edith Bennett, Harrison Ford and Mary Alden. The other feature of the week-end is "Phantom Justice," an exceptionally strong play with Rod La Rocque and Estelle Taylor. An Our Gang comedy and the latest International News complete the bill.

For Sunday, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday the feature attractions will be "Babbitt," by Sinclair Lewis, author of "Main Street," and George Washington, Jr., starring Wesley Barry.

RIALTO THEATRE

"Stormy Seas," a thrilling story of the "briny deep," is the chief attraction at the Rialto theatre. The latter half of the week, J. P. McGowan, whose weakness is liquor, is seen as the captain of a ship. He is entrusted with a new liner on her maiden voyage, but in a moment of weakness gives way to drink during a severe storm and the ship founders on a treacherous reef. Heart-broken and ashamed to face the owner of the line, the disconsolate captain disappears. Of course, there's a pretty love story, too, with Helen Holmes as the girl.

"The Freshie," a story of college life with Big Boy Williams in the title role is an amusing film and contains many hearty laughs. Another round of H. C. Witwer's "Fighting Blood" and Fox News are included in the program.

IRISH QUESTION UP IN HOUSE OF COMMONS

LONDON, Aug. 1 (by the Associated Press).—The house of commons upon reassembling this morning at once took up the Irish question. Colonial Secretary Thomas said the government proposed immediately to introduce legislation, giving effect to the Anglo-Irish treaty and to press its passage through parliament regardless of the consequences to the government.

He announced that he had invited William T. Cosgrave, head of the Southern Irish government, and Sir James Craig, the Ulster premier, to come to London to confer with him.

OVERNIGHT FLASHES BY ASSOCIATED PRESS

President Coolidge sticks to his decision against any personal entrance into the political phases of the Defense day controversy, Washington advises say.

Department of agriculture declares American wheat growers may get from $100,000,000 to $200,000,000 more for their wheat this year than last; disputes the billion dollars increase estimated in certain quarters.

Detroit Free Press prints a report that Henry Ford may seek republican nomination for United States senator from Michigan.

Young people in the Society of Friends are organizing nation-wide drive against idea of National Defense day, Richmond, Ind., despatch shows.

Attorney General Stone has ordered a further inquiry into gasoline price situation and there are also indications he is to attack certain radio equipment companies for alleged violation of anti-trust laws.

Louis Johnson, inmate of Michigan home and training school, confesses to murder of Mrs. Blanche Burke, young widow, Lapeer, Mich., despatch says.

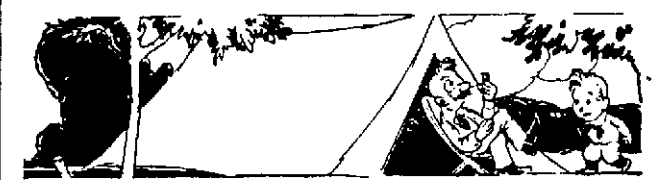

Secretary and Mrs. Hughes get an enthusiastic reception in Brussels, Belgium.

General Pershing, on his arrival in New York from France, announces that he and other service are ready "to go to the mat" on the problem of national defense.

By covering their fields with large strips of paper, Hawaiian pineapple planters have been able to increase their yield between 60 and 85 per cent.

DON'T COOP YOURSELF

"Now, don't get yourself imprisoned in a tent. You might just as well stay home in your $10 city apartment," warned the physical instructor when Mrs. Mann was packing up for her vacation. "Most people think that tenting out is a healthful stunt," he continued. "Well, it is, if properly practiced. But most people don't know how to tent out and you have to be careful with tents of the old-fashioned variety. Most people treat tents as though they were dog kennels in which to crawl. Unless the weather is stormy the tent flaps should be kept up to allow the freest circulation of air. Tents, when entirely closed, allow little or no air to enter and, since you go into the vacation country to get fresh air, why coop yourself up at night? It's far better to use the tent as a storm shelter and sleep out under the sky—there's a kick for you if you've never tried it. There are many tents being made now, however, that lend themselves easily to opening and these are preferable to those of ancient vintage."

As a "Friend in Need" nothing compares with a savings account in a Mutual Savings Bank.

FAST GAMES ON BASEBALL MENU OVER PRESENT WEEK-END

Abbot Worsteds Play No. Cambridge and Everett at Graniteville—Cleveland Giants at Alumni Field Tomorrow—Silesia Has Sunday Game

Baseball galore is programmed over this week end, the main sponsors of the sport being the Abbot-Worsteds and Silesia. This evening, in Graniteville, the Abbot worsteds endeavor to outwit Dan Leach's North Cambridge team; tomorrow afternoon, Abbot's line up against the Cleveland Giants (colored) at Alumni field in Lowell, and Sunday they cross bats with Everett at Graniteville. Sunday, the Silesias play Gardner at Silesia park in North Chelmsford.

This evening's game at Graniteville, featuring the pennant-hungry North Cambridge boys, will doubtless be a hummer all the way. Since the second half of the Greater Boston Twilight League got under way, North Cambridge has been unable to defeat the Abbot, although they have trimmed about every other team in the circuit. To date, the Abbot claim one victory and one tie game against the Cantabs, and Dan Leach doesn't like it a bit. But the Abbot aren't worrying about Mr. Leach's feelings and will go after his team hammer and tongs when play is called at 6 p. m.

Cleveland Giants Tomorrow

For the benefit of the local fans who will not be able to get out to Graniteville this evening, the Abbot management has arranged for a star attraction at Alumni field, formerly Spalding park, tomorrow afternoon. At 2 o'clock, the blue-uniformed youths will stack up against the famous Cleveland Giants, the greatest colored aggregation of ball players in this part of the country. Aside from their original humorous stunts, the colored men play a serious game of ball, and have turned back several formidable opponents this season. The Abbot, knowing of their prowess, are not counting on taking any chances in this game. The best available lineup will be used in an effort to continue the wonderful winning spirit of the Graniteville outfit. And it has been some winning streak at that. The boys have been clipping the apple at a merry gait, led by the example of the inimitable Ellie Urran, the greatest little shortstop seen in this neck of the woods in a decade.

Sunday Battles

Two good Sunday games are on the sport menu, one at North Chelmsford and the other at Graniteville. Abbot will tackle the Everett team of the Greater Boston Twilight League and Silesia will work hard to defeat Gardner at North Chelmsford. As Silesia appears to have recovered from its slump, its future games will be closely watched by a large following.

Other Games

This evening on the South common, the Lowell Twilight League will introduce Logan's Centrals and the Centralville Princeton. Both teams have engaged in several bitter struggles this season and are about on even terms in the won and lost column. Toby Quinn, of one-hit game, will probably work for the Centrals tonight, while Gu. McKenzie will do his stuff in the box for the Princetons.

For tomorrow and Sunday, amateur games are scheduled on practically all local playgrounds. Ricard's Belmonts, St. Peter's Cadets and other

Means to Land Lightweight Title

LUIS VICENTINI

BY JOE WILLIAMS
NEW YORK, Aug. 1.—A young, sharp-eyed Chilean, who started out to be a sculptor and later worked his way into the films as a Daring Diamond in his native Santiago, is the newest woe in cauliflowerdom.

Mr. Luis Vicentini, by his recent feat of refuting the good Rocky Kansas to a state of clammy submission in 11 rounds, has leaped blithely over the dome of Dundee, Moran, Barbican, White and Zivic as the foremost lightweight challenger in the ring.

Mr. Vicentini has something most of the other contenders lack, a destructive punch. White can punch, but he is hopelessly old and worn. Mr. Vicentini is replete with youth and all the essentials that accompany it.

Crude, But He Wins

Vicentini's punch is somewhat of a novelty, if you are interested in technique. It is a right-handed punch, but it is as different from the orthodox right-hand punch as a squirrel's bark is from a mother's lullaby. It suggests at once that swinging effect employed by Firpo and the bee-line straightness sponsored by Max Baer. It is, in fact, a combination of the two.

Vicentini's great speed and agility enable him to use this curious punch with splendid effect. In some puzzling manner or other he manages to get all his body power behind the hit at the proper moment. Old judges of boxing lift their crumpled brows in high scorn.

"He hits like a hammer," they say. "And yet when Vicentini's mongrel mauler connects the show is over. It is the cue for the janitor to come briskly down the center aisle and sweep the debris from the middle of the ring."

The full potency of this punch was observed in the knockout of the russed Kansas. Prior to his fight with the Chilean, Kansas, in some 160 knocked off his feet. Benny Leonard, lightweight champion, is credited with a knockout over the Buffalo Italian.

It was one of those technical things, Kansas broke his hand and had to retire.

Best of All Contenders

Leonard fought Kansas four times, over an aggregate distance of 45 rounds, and not once was he able to put the challenger on the canvas for a count. No one will deny that Leonard can hit. Next to Gans and La-cigne he carries more misery in his fists than any man who ever held the lightweight title. Yet Kansas was too tough for him.

Vicentini, though, was able to drop Kansas twice in less than 11 full rounds. This is proof enough that the Chilean is a great hitter, a harder and more dangerous hitter, perhaps, than Leonard.

We wouldn't bet, however, that Vicentini, in his present stage, can take Leonard. Vicentini has plenty to learn. Kansas had him whipped soundly on points up to the moment of the knockout. If Leonard had been in Kansas' shoes that night he would have knocked the visitor out.

Vicentini is not ready for Leonard yet. His sense of defense is still mechanical and his left hand is a crude weapon. But he has a punch and the heart, and these are two robust qualities.

Will Hold Drag Hunt

Nine-Mile Race of Local Fox Hounds for Three Silver Cups

Special attractions in greater abundance than ever are programmed for the edification of members and guests of Lowell Fish and Game association, when the organization conducts its annual outing, banquet and field day at Willow Dale, on Tuesday, Sept. 18 next.

Secretary Frederick W. Barrows made an important announcement today that will interest not only members of the club sportsmen but the public at large, delighting in outdoor programs with a background of woods, fields and streams.

Lowell sportsmen, after long debating and carefully considering plans and suggestions, have decided to hold a genuine Magnolia drag hunt over the hills and valleys of the shore of peaceful Willow Dale, on Tuesday, Sept. 18 next.

The Sept. 18 drag hunt will cover a distance of nine miles. It is predicted that Magnolia will not be on the map any more when the Lowell Fish and Game drag-hunters get down to the field trials and put on that stellar afternoon attraction after the big banquet in the Willow Dale casino.

RUTH'S HITTING CANNOT STEM TIDE AS YANKS LOSE TO ST. LOUIS

Bambino Gets Another Homer, His 14th in July, Setting New Record—Detroit Loses to Washington—Close Scores Mark American League Games

NEW YORK, Aug. 1.—St. Louis first, 7 to 3, and Cleveland, the second, 4 to 3, in a ten-inning battle. Speaker's double, chasing Summa over the plate, was the deciding blow in the second encounter.

John McElraw's Giants took another drubbing at the hands of the Pirates in a game that rulin limited to six innings. The score was 5 to 0. It was the Pittsburgh team's seventh straight win and placed them only eight games behind the league-leading New Yorkers. Chicago remains in second place, six games behind.

Chicago evened up the series with Brooklyn, winning a closely contested game, 4 to 1. Britt's hitting for the Cubs was the feature of the game, the first snicker driving in all the Chicago tallies with a homer and triple.

Defeat once more was Philadelphia's portion when the St. Louis Cards battered Mitchell out of the box in the first inning, scoring four runs enough to win. The final score was 6-3. Blades, Wilson and Hornsby hit for the circuit, Rogers making his fifteenth of the season.

The Cincinnati-Boston game was called at the end of the fourth inning, when rain made it impossible to continue play.

Tilden is Lad's Tutor

By N.E.A. Service
NEW YORK, Aug. 1.—A 17-year-old youth will be William Tilden's partner in the national tennis doubles championship this season. Tilden admitted today his definite decision to team with young Sandy Wiener of Philadelphia, fellow townsman and protégé of the champion.

Tilden scoffs at the suggestion that Wiener is too young for competition in the national event, or worse, too inefficient. "I think Wiener is just about as desirable a partner as I could wish for," Tilden says.

It is said Tilden had every intention of teaming with Wiener in the national doubles last fall, but for some reason or other changed his mind at the 11th hour and asked Brian Norton to take his place. Tilden and Norton then went on to win the championship. Tilden and Wiener have been playing all season as doubles partners, and it can be admitted they have proved a formidable pair. Recently, in the national clay court championships, the two gave a remarkable performance, winning in straight sets from two such stars as Clarence Griffin and Brian Norton.

Tilden, naturally, carries the brunt of the burden. It is probably true that he covers three-fourths of the court. This is not exactly good doubles play, since the play should be evenly distributed. But it seems to work in Tilden's case. So great is his skill, speed and resourcefulness that he hardly needs a partner at all. Any player of medium skill will do. Wiener, however, is a young star who does not rank many strokes behind the older stars.

BILLY EVANS SAYS

Is the crouch system used by baseball catchers all wrong? A famous track coach of a big eastern college thinks so. He has some convincing arguments to back up his contention.

The coach is of the opinion that every major league catcher could add several years to his career and save his speed if other methods were used. Most major league catchers are slow of foot. The outstanding stars are no exception.

Let two players of equal speed, one a catcher, the other an infielder or outfielder, break into the league at the same time and the catcher will show the wear and tear much sooner.

In five years of play the catcher will show up a step on the other player. Over a period of 10 years he will be from two to three steps slower. There is a reason.

The famous track coach insists it can all be traced back to the crouch system used by the catchers. The practice of squatting on every ball pitched, prior to giving the signal.

"Nothing could possibly be worse for the muscles used in running than the 'squat-on-every-ball' habit used by all catchers," says the track mentor.

It is an exercise that tends to tighten the muscles of the legs rather than make them pliable, a condition so much desired for speed. He realized the crouch system is employed to hide the signals of the catcher. However, there is no reason why a catcher could not work out a set of signals that could be flashed by a pitcher from an upright position, yet escape detection.

"Nine out of every ten catchers are slow of foot. If they have speed when they start their careers as catchers they soon lose it."

There must be a reason. Catchers do only one thing differently from other players, squat on every ball pitched. I am positive that is the cause.

The argument of the famous coach sounds logical.

It is worthy of a trial but probably will never get it.

Baseball players are prone to follow precedent. Catchers have used this crouch system since the introduction of the game. In all probability will continue it.

Cannibals recently discovered in New Guinea are reported by an explorer to have features of a distinctly Jewish type, although their skins are bronze.

DAIRY CATTLE GET OWN

U. S. BUREAU

BY N.E.A. SERVICE
WASHINGTON, Aug. 1.—The importance of the dairy cow and the growing complexity of American agriculture have finally been recognized with the establishment of the new bureau of dairying in the U. S. department of agriculture.

Dr. C. W. Larson, head of the new bureau, was head of the dairy division of the bureau of animal industry, from which the bureau has sprung. He was born on a farm in Iowa and for the last 20 years has been actively dairying.

Although several European countries have been famous for their cows and dairy products, no country has gone forward in this industry as rapidly as the United States. Foreigners frequently comment on the safety of our milk supply and the marvelous machinery developed for handling milk from the time it is taken from the cow with the milking machine until it is delivered to the consumer in a sterilized bottle, cleaned, filled and capped by machinery.

Also the health of dairy cattle has been wonderfully improved, particularly in the eradication of tuberculosis, which is going on at an increasing rate. Each year shows an increase in the consumption of milk because it is becoming one of the safest foods and long has been recognized as one of the most nutritious.

Dr. Larson says that, in spite of the progress which has been made, there is room for much more improvement, as many of the fundamental problems have not been solved. His bureau will study, among other things, the underlying principles of breeding to insure, if possible, the same results that breeders of grain, flowers, and fruit are able to accomplish.

In addition to the laboratories, the dairy problems will be worked out on a large farm at Beltsville, Md., near Washington, at a commercial dairy and cheese factory at Grove City, Pa., and on experimental farms in various parts of the country.

San Francisco Players Meet in New Jersey Tournament

Three Teams Survive Elimination in Men's Doubles—

Women Play Today

SEABRIGHT, N. J., Aug. 1.—The coast stars, William M. Johnston and Howard Kinsey, both of San Francisco, clash in the final singles match in the Seabright invitation tennis tournament here today.

Johnston has gradually rounded to form and with Kinsey playing the game of his life, a slashing battle is looked for. Kinsey stands between Johnston and his fourth straight victory in this event.

In the men's doubles three teams survive, with William M. Johnston and Clarence Griffin in the final and Howard and Robert Kinsey, and Earl Behr and Dean Mathey in the semifinal.

By defeating Miss Molly Thayer and Miss Phyllis Walsh of Philadelphia, Miss Mary Browne and Miss Horace Dudley of Los Angeles, advanced to the final in the women's doubles. Miss Browne and Miss Dudley won their match 6-3, 6-2. They met Miss Mayme MacDonald and Miss Florence Dalhin of New York in the final today.

Senior Firpo will now arise and broadcast that pathetic little ditty entitled, "My Sweetie Went Away."

Freddie Welsh is teaching our soldiers how to handle their dukes. Those American girls who persist in grabbing off European nobles might profit.

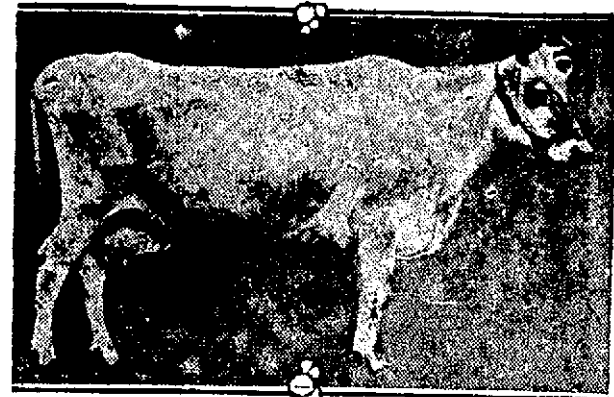

Millburn Devoreux has been playing polo for 16 years. You'd think he'd know better by now, wouldn't you?

Nick Altrock refereed a prize fight in Cleveland the other night. The sight of clowns in modern prize rings, however, is not uncommon.

USEFUL AFTER DEATH

SOPHIE 15TH, CHAMPION JERSEY OF HOOD FARM.

CHAMPION COW GIVES BODY TO SCIENCE

By N.E.A. Service
BELTSVILLE, Md., Aug. 1.—Even in death, Sophie 15th, famous Jersey champion, has given herself over to science.

After nearly 30 years of service in milk and butter production, during which time she held many championships, Sophie was slaughtered recently on the government farm here, in the presence of many scientists interested in the study and improvement of domestic animals. She was a member of the famous Jersey herd at Hood Farm, Lowell, Mass.

But, killed because of old age, Sophie is still useful to science. Her body has been the object of study by scientists of the department of agriculture.

Their special search is confined to high-yielding dairy cows, to see if there is some relationship between the sizes of their organs and their productivity. Also a new basis for judging dairy cattle may be developed.

During her lifetime Sophie produced nearly 100 tons of milk and almost five tons of butter. At the age of seven years she produced 999 pounds of butterfat, which means about 1300 pounds of butter in one year.

From January, 1911, to November, 1918, she was world champion Jersey and as late as 1923, when she was very old for a cow, she was eighth highest milk producer of the breed.

CHARGE IS DISMISSED

Lowell Fireman, Defendant in Auto Accident, is Found Not Guilty

In Lawrence district court yesterday morning, Patrick P. Cahnan, a Lowell fireman, was found not guilty of driving in a manner endangering the safety of the public, and going away without making himself known after an accident.

Mr. Cahnan had been accused of injuring one Frank Mahon of Salem, but an investigation of the affair by the police developed the fact that Mr. Mahon was injured by an automobile other than that driven by Mr. Cahnan.

BROCKTON, July 31.—Beginning tomorrow the price of milk will be increased from 14 to 15 cents, general through the district and is due to the drouth.

The North Easton water department this morning sent out notices advising economy in the use of water. The Canton water officials have prohibited the use of water for sprinkling.

Mr. Sullivan is serious in Bridgewater, and Randolph officials are apprehensive. Water is being used at the rate of six million gallons daily in Brockton. The normal consumption is 3,000,000.

Piles

Can't Be Cured From the Outside. External treatments seldom cure Piles. Nor do surgical operations. The cause is inside—bad circulation. The blood is stagnant, the veins flabby.

The bowel walls are weak, the parts almost dead.

To quickly and safely rid yourself of piles you must free the circulation—send fresh current through stagnant pools. Internal treatment is the one safe method. Ointments and cutting won't do it.

J. S. Leonhardt, M. D., a specialist, set at work some years ago to find a real internal remedy for piles. He succeeded. He named his prescription HEM-ROID, and tried it in 1000 cases before he was satisfied. Now HEM-ROID is sold by druggists everywhere under guarantee. It is a harmless tablet, easy to take, and can always be found at Green's Drug Store, which will gladly refund the purchase price to any dissatisfied customer.—Adv.

Every household should have a jar of Resinol to heal skin troubles

Minor skin troubles—itching patches, bits of rash or redness—so easily develop into serious, stubborn affections, that every home-maker should have Resinol Ointment on hand to check them before they get the upper hand. We recommend Resinol for this with the utmost confidence because of its harmless ingredients and its success in healing eczema and similar serious skin diseases.

Resinol Ointment is an excellent healing dressing for chafes, burns and stubborn little sores. Doctors prescribe it. Sold by all druggists.

CHARGE "FEDS" FOOLING WITH BOAT ENGINE

BOSTON, July 31.—A charge that officials of the department of justice and of the navy were conspiring to alter the motor boat Katherine B. recently seized with alcohol aboard, was made today by counsel for Captain Arthur L. Backman of Lunenburg, N. S., in presenting to Federal Judge Lowell a petition for an injunction to restrain them from alleged further tampering with the boat's engine. It is the contention of counsel that changes are being made to increase the indicated speed of the engine. Judge Lowell refused to accept the petition, which names port officials and employees of motor companies, also observing, "You ask me to believe the United States attorneys are taking evidence." Counsel asserted that they could prove it and the judge said he would consider the matter further at the hearing tomorrow on question of forfeiture of the schooner.

UNVEIL MONUMENT TO MAYFLOWERITES

MINNINGHAM, Eng., July 31.—(By the Associated Press) A monument to commemorate the departure of the Pilgrim Fathers from Lincolnshire and Yorkshire from Minningham Creek in 1602, erected by the Hull Anglo-American society on the exact spot from which the Pilgrim Fathers departed, was unveiled today by Sir Charles Wakefield in the presence of a large gathering, including the lord mayor of Hull, Mrs. Winttingham, M. P., and officers and men of the American destroyer Dale, the British warship Godolite, and the Massachusetts training ship Nantuxet. Admiral Bradford of the Nantuxet, descendant of William Bradford of the Pilgrim Fathers, placed a laurel wreath on the memorial, the top part of which consists of a piece of gray granite brought from Plymouth Rock in the United States. Sir Charles, Mrs. Winttingham and Commander Copeland of the Nantuxet addressed the gathering, stressing the necessity of perpetuating the ties between England and the United States.

Jack Daw's Adventures. Chapter 11

Very shortly Jack was out in the open again and he jumped up and started slipping the fur suit over his regular clothes. "You'll have to take your overcoat off," said one of the sailors, "for the suit won't fit." Jack then did as suggested. "Wow, it's cold," said he, when his coat was removed.

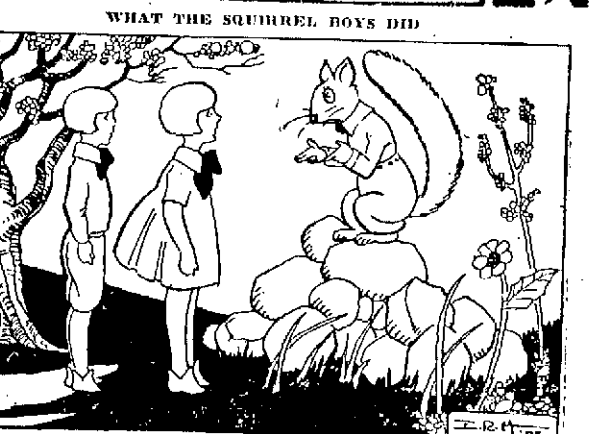

Then he hurriedly slipped into the fur garment. "Why that was made for you," the sailors shouted in chorus. "Well, it fits like it, doesn't it?" smiled Jack. The fur suit covered everything but Jack's face and when Flip looked up he started to bark and snap at his master.

Both sailors began to laugh. "Your dog doesn't know you," they said. So Jack stooped over and said, "Hello, there, old fellow. Don't you know your master?" The dog recognized Jack's voice in an instant and he turned from snapping to whining. Then he wagged his tail rapidly. (Continued.)

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

Olive Roberts Borton

"HELLO!" SAID NICK AND NANCY.

"Have you made your fortune yet, Mister Zip?" asked Nancy.

The fairman counted his money. "No," he said sadly, shaking his head. "Not yet. There are too many people getting into my park for nothing."

"Flop Field Mouse and Mikey Mole always come in by the gate, now," said Nick. "And they pay their way."

"Yes," said Mister Zip, "and I think they learned a good lesson in honesty. But there must be other people getting in free, for yesterday there were more people than tickets in the ticket box. I know, for I counted noses. You Twins might do a little more investigating for me. There are more ways than one of getting into Happy Go Lucky Park, I am afraid."

The Twins said goodbye and went off into the green woods.

It was a lovely day and the sunlight, coming down through the green leaves, made the trees look like lovely green lace.

Chippy Chipmunk was sitting on the roof of his stone house enjoying the weather.

"Hello!" said Nancy and Nick.

"Hello!" said Chippy. "Where did you come from?"

"We just came from Happy Go Lucky Park," said Nancy. "We are helping Mister Zip, the fairman, who owns the park, to make his fortune."

SERVICE BOARD VOTES INCREASE FOR SWEEPER DRIVERS

Board Chairman Opposed to Increase But Voted in Favor to Avoid Discrimination—Chamber of Commerce Committee Criticizes Work of Sweepers

Disaffection among street department chauffeurs who did not benefit by the increase voted at a special meeting of the public service board a week ago, came to a head at a regular meeting of the board last evening when two drivers of street sweepers, accompanied by union delegations, requested and were finally voted similar increases.

Evidence of disagreement among members of the board were brought to the surface when Chairman Dennis J. Murphy, in a statement concerning his stand on the matter, said he had been opposed to granting an increase to four chauffeurs when the matter was brought to his attention because he knew there would be a like increase and the financial condition of the department could not stand any group increase. He said he voted in favor of the increase for the four a week ago because it was stated that the other chauffeurs in the department were perfectly satisfied that the four singled out should receive increases. That this was not true is proven by this delegation before us this evening, he said, and I will favor an increase for them to think there should be no discrimination.

Mr. Murphy also took occasion while the street sweeper men were present to question them at length concerning their work and said he had heard many complaints that the streets were not being swept as they should be.

A communication from the mayor was read requesting that if a supplementary appropriation will be necessary, a request be made of him by Monday, August 4, and further asking that if the work of the street department is not up to schedule, as in his opinion it is not, the board notify him who is responsible for the delay. It was referred to the superintendent of streets to have all detail necessary to answer the mayor's request ready for the board at a special meeting to be held Monday noon.

Prior to the meeting, public hearings on a number of petitions were held in the council chamber. The hearings opened at 8 o'clock and were closed 7 minutes later, there being no discussion on any of the petitions. Action on the petitions was decided upon at the meeting which came later in the evening.

The hearings and disposition of petitions followed:

Petition of Mike A. Huxson for extension of Fletcher street sewer. Voted on condition the extension is made through the sidewalk to Franklin street.

Petition of Eliezer Leduc that a sidewalk of sidewalks and cinders be laid in front of 72 Farmland road. Granted.

Charles Leclair, et al, that Carolyn street be repaved, macadamized, and sidewalks laid on both sides of the street. This was granted.

Petition of Charles Stickeny that the unoccupied part of Warren street be accepted. Continued on request of an abutter who could not be present.

Petition that D street be widened at its intersection with Chauncy street. This was also voted.

A petition of Rev. C. J. Galligan for edgelines in Parker street was favorably acted upon.

Acceptance of Wedge and Gibson roads, as petitioned by Thornden England, was deferred until a plan and profile could be made by the engineer's department.

Petition for a sewer in Raynor street and Mount View avenue, entered by J. A. Lequin, was acted upon favorably by the board.

Two meetings of the board were held yesterday. The first at 4:45 p. m. following the board's monthly meeting of streets concerned petitions for sewers, sidewalks, etc. The second meeting was at 8:20 o'clock after the public hearings. All members were present at the first meeting but Mr. Leary was absent during the public hearings and at the evening meeting. At the afternoon meeting only routine business was transacted.

The first business before the evening meeting was the request of a delegation representing the Teamsters and Municipal Employees union for a raise similar to that granted four street department chauffeurs a week ago, for James Roark and Martin Rock, chauffeurs of the street cleaning machines.

Before taking up the matter, Mr. Murphy made a statement concerning his stand in the matter as given above. He then questioned the men at length concerning their work, which is done at night. He said he had received complaint after complaint to the effect that the street sweeping was not being done in accordance with plans laid out earlier in the year and said he did not think the city was getting satisfactory service from its sweepers.

"A chamber of commerce committee," he said, "has investigated the work of the sweepers and found the service very poor. This committee is seeking a hearing before the board in the near future. In fact, they claim, as I understand it, that the sweepers are not covering their routes."

The pays of the two men involved for the past seven or eight weeks were presented and disclosed that the men were getting considerable overtime. Mr. Murphy then said he believed the two men involved should get the increase they ask for so that there would be no further discrimination in the department but they should not be allowed to work overtime. The regular pay of the two men involved was $6.20 a day.

Mr. Meloy questioned the delegation as to how many more men would seek increases. The question was not answered.

It was then moved by Mr. Murphy and seconded by Mr. Meloy, that the street sweeper chauffeurs be increased to 75 cents an hour.

A communication from the purchasing agent concerning the purchase of a 3½-ton truck for the water department was read. In his letter the purchasing agent stated he would be pleased to receive recommendations but reserved the right of contract award, which he claimed the board was trying to take away from him. The letter was filed and the city engineer instructed to write to the purchasing agent to the effect that the board has no intention of usurping the agent's power but would refuse to accept any truck which it did not deem satisfactory for the work it must do.

A communication from the mayor concerning the laying of a new 10-inch main to the Oakland district as a means of furnishing employment for street sweepers was read and at the same time providing a necessary improvement, was read and taken under consideration for an early decision. The members present appeared to favor the suggestion embodied in the mayor's letter, but as it involved the expenditure of $75,000, felt the matter should be studied and action taken when all members of the board were present.

A civil service list of 40 eligible for 25 positions as experienced laborers was tabled to be acted upon at a special meeting of the board in the office of Chairman Murphy this evening at 8 o'clock.

The meeting adjourned at 9:30 o'clock.

DRIVE AGAINST ARSON IS CONTEMPLATED

BOSTON, Aug. 1.—Prevention of the practice of persons insuring property for double or triple their value, destroying them by fire, and then making a profit through the collection of the insurance, is to be one of the objectives of the special fire commission, it developed at a meeting in the State House yesterday afternoon of that recently appointed body.

It was indicated that the commission would devote much attention to the question of fire menaces. Large numbers of fires, it is said, start as a result of carelessness on the part of property owners in not protecting buildings from inflammable material lying about. It is expected that the commission will recommend legislation which will remedy this situation.

The commission will hold its next meeting at the State House, Sept. 4. At that meeting plans will be made for holding public hearings in Boston and in other cities throughout the state.

FIELD DAY POSTPONED

Rain Interferes With Program in North Billerica—Will Be Held Tomorrow

The heavy rainstorm that broke over Middlesex county yesterday afternoon shortly after 3 o'clock compelled the managers of St. Andrew's church field day in North Billerica, to postpone the event until tomorrow. Announcement was made this morning that all program features not presented yesterday before the storm cancelled the entertainment and contests, will be carried out Saturday as previously announced. There will be attractive exhibits and entertainment afternoon and evening, and plenty of good music.

The committee of arrangements was busy today preparing for the field day re-opening tomorrow on the Konrausch playground in North Billerica. Plans have been made to greet friendly village patrons from all the Billericas and also many returning parishioners, who are coming back to their old home Saturday to participate in the postponed festivities.

There will be an entertaining sports program, given in its entirety as previously billed, but which was cancelled because of Thursday's storm.

On every hand will be the usual tables filled with good things, including food, fruits and delicacies, fancy work, articles for the home, novelties, etc. The refreshment booths will have extra attendants for the Saturday afternoon and evening festival.

The special program of games, prepared for yesterday's entertainment, will be given tomorrow, with all contests scheduled to appear as previously announced. There will be many other attractions also provided by loving hands and hearts in a noble cause to raise funds for the St. Andrew's parish.

The much-heralded baby show was conducted on schedule yesterday, being concluded just before the storm broke over the playground. It was a great attraction and entrants were many. Mrs. John S. Welsh had charge of the show and the judges were Dr. Francis A. Finnegan of Lowell, director of school hygiene; and Miss Katherine Sullivan and Miss Marie Goudreau, Lowell board of health nurses in the child welfare department. ## THE STAGE IS ALL SET

Everything in Readiness for Month's Tour of Duty at Devens

Boys Will Go to Fort Adams For Coast Artillery Instruction

Everything is in readiness for the formal start of the month's tour of duty of the citizens' military training camp students at Camp Devens. Three hundred and twenty-five young men, including several Lowell district enlistments, arrived before sundown last evening, and were assigned quarters in comfortable barracks prepared for the influx of students under regular army supervision.

Today, the majority of the ambitious young men prepared to take up intensive military training, reached the camp grounds and reported. Many of them were met at Ayer railroad station by regular army officers, who will later be their instructors. The majority of "rookies" were conveyed to Camp Devens in army trucks, although many preferred to hike the mile stretch with bag and baggage, so eager were they to reach enrollment headquarters, secure their tickets to "quarters" and don the khaki uniforms they are to wear until Aug. 30.

At the checking-in station, the boys were given their medical examinations and then outfitted. Both the medical and quartermaster departments functioned in a manner that surprised even the old-time administrative army officers. Sixteen doctors were in charge of the examinations and each had a special task to perform. The boys were rapidly passed on, one after another, stepping forth from the examination rooms at the rate of one a minute.

Four hundred of the boys reporting today are to be sent to Fort Adams, near Newport, R. I., within a few days, for instruction in coast artillery and heavy gun work. It is not at all unlikely that some of the Lowell rookies will be selected to fill the quota assigned to the fort school of instruction.

Tomorrow morning will find practically all of the training camp quarters filled with the 1924 quota of young students, and it is planned to assemble the boys at 11 o'clock in the morning at the first battalion drill field near the headquarters of the Fifth Infantry, U.S.A., where the oath of allegiance will be administered to all. The ceremony will consist of the presentation to each student troop the guidon of its parent outfit, the gallant Fifth, which the students will keep throughout their stay in camp.

At the assembly of the students and the parent organization of United States regulars, Maj.-Gen. Andrew Brewster, commanding the First corps area, will deliver an address.

Lowell's quota at Camp Devens is 28 young men. The names of George A. Warren, of 10 Orford street, Lowell, was not included in the official list received from First Army corps headquarters by The Sun last week. Warren filed his application two weeks ago and was immediately accepted. He left today for Camp Devens with other enthusiastic Lowell young men eager for the military training to come.

Reserve officers who have been on duty at Camp Devens for the past two weeks, and who will leave for their homes Sunday, have not put in their summer tour of duty without some personal sacrifice. Lowell was represented in the 94th and 97th divisions. Many men who are heads of large mercantile or business establishments in their home towns or cities, performed the duty tour at Devens like regular soldiers of the line, and all of them seemed to like it. In the divisions they were found newspapermen, doctors, lawyers and in fact, men from all professions in this year's successful reserve officers' camp.

The devotion of some of the patriotic men who are attached to the reserve lists, was emphasized by the appearance at camp of Major Louis F. Fallon of the 97th division. He is a doctor by profession and lives in St. John's, Newfoundland. Major Fallon spent a week of his own time on the way to Camp Devens, and will spend another week getting home. Although he draws major's pay for two weeks, the amount of money will not begin to cover his expenses or the amount of the professional fees that he sacrificed during his month's absence from his Newfoundland home.

GROUNDWORK FOR RECOVERY

Puts in An Appearance in Market

Commodity Prices Took Turn for Better in June and July

In his monthly review of business and banking conditions in the New England district, Frederic H. Curtis, chairman and Federal Reserve agent in this district, is somewhat more optimistic. He says:

"While business as a whole is quiet just at present, more so than is usual in the summer, it has shown marked improvement during recent weeks.

"Manufacturing production has been declining for several months, not only in New England, but in practically all parts of the country. Many factories in this district normally have their vacation period in July, and in many cases the shut-down this year was for a longer period than usual. Upon reopening, a number of important concerns started production at a higher rate than was in effect immediately prior to the vacation, indicating, perhaps, a more hopeful feeling as to the future, as well as a larger volume of orders on hand.

"Since the middle of May the New England railroads have been carrying a smaller volume of freight than at the corresponding time last year, due to lessened shipments from mills and factories. It is evident, however, that production in some important industries has now been curtailed to such an extent that it is far less than current retail distribution, a condition which must sooner or later act as a powerful corrective to the present situation.

"The total volume of retail trade is indicated quite well by department store sales. During the first three weeks in July, sales of representative New England department stores were almost exactly the same as in the corresponding period a year ago.

"With production curtailed so extensively as it is at present, and with retail distribution curtailed to only a slight extent, the groundwork for a recovery in production would certainly seem to be in the process of being made."

NO SHORTAGE OF WATER IN LOWELL

Although many cities and towns throughout the state are at the present time facing shortage of water supply, due to the extended drought, Lowell's water supply is sufficient, in the opinion of Superintendent Gardner of the water department, to supply the demand without any curtailment being necessary. The average daily consumption is in the vicinity of seven million gallons, which is only a little above the average summer consumption.

SENT BOUQUET TO SUPT. ATKINSON

BIG IMPROVEMENT HERE IN THE CITY LIGHTING SYSTEM

City Engineer Reports on Plans Now Under Way for Extension of White Way System—Work to Be Completed Early in 1925

Final steps towards one of the greatest improvements in the history of the city will be undertaken next week when actual construction work will get under way which will result, probably by the first of next year, in this city being one of the best lighted communities in the country.

Plans already completed call for a complete rearrangement of the lighting system on the main traffic arteries, providing in place of the present arc and incandescent lights on these streets, the modern and very efficient type B white way light of 1000 candle power; extension of the present type A white way system and also for the replacement of all arc lights throughout the entire city with the same type B lights.

Announcement of this undertaking was made today by City Engineer Kearney who, with Percy J. Wilson of the Lowell Electric Light corporation, was named as a committee in charge by the public service board early this year.

In his statement to the press today, Mr. Kearney said, "Pursuant to plans made by the public service board early this year for relighting the city, plans have been completed and work will begin after Tuesday's meeting of the city council, if that body passes resolutions permits to be acted upon. The plans call for rearranging all lights and installing on the main arteries the type B white way lamps and the substitution of these white way lamps throughout the city for the present arc lamps.

"In addition to this, type A white way lights, similar to those on Merrimack street, will be installed on the other main arteries of the city.

MANSLAUGHTER CHARGE

John J. Keogh, operator of the automobile which struck and killed 10-year-old James J. Jubert at the corner of Lakeview avenue and Bridge street on July 10, was called in district court on a manslaughter charge this morning. An inquest concerning the death was held some time ago by Judge Pickman, and in his finding today, he states that there was negligence, but not criminal, on the part of the operator. In order to understand more clearly what is meant by the negligence referred to in the report, Judge Enright ordered the case continued until he consults Judge Pickman.

The concluding remarks in Judge Pickman's finding read as follows: "I find that there was negligence on the part of John Keogh in operation of the car prior to the accident in not having presence of mind to stop or check the progress of the car under the conditions that existed just prior to the accident when he tried to turn his car on the railroad tracks on which he was running.

"I find that his negligence was not so gross and wanton in its nature to make him criminally liable, at least, not for manslaughter."

NEW QUESTION RAISED IN LIQUOR CASE HERE

The question of whether a person can determine the alcoholic content of beer through the sense of taste was raised before U. S. Commissioner Richard B. Walsh today by counsel for Joseph Bateman and Patrick Driscoll of Lawrence, arrested on a warrant charging illegal sale and possession of beer.

A motion to quash the search warrant on grounds of illegality was filed with the commissioner by Attorney James Donovan of the firm of Coulson, Donovan & Hargrove of Lawrence, who argued it at some length. The commissioner reserved his decision.

Attorney Donovan argued and claimed that the affidavit made out and sworn to by federal agents before Commissioner Walsh at the time of request for a search warrant stated that a prior date a glass of beer had been purchased at the establishment operated by Bateman and Driscoll in Lawrence and that it contained alcohol of a content greater than one-half of 1 per cent.

Counsel for the defendants raised the point of a person's inability to determine through taste whether beer contained more than one-half of 1 per cent alcohol and that, therefore, the affidavit which preceded the search warrant was illegal.

It is the first time the question has been raised before Commissioner Walsh and he will take several days to make a decision.

PRIME MINISTER PROBES STRIKE
ST. JOHN'S, N. F., Aug. 1.—Upon receipt of a message from Alfred Price, leader of 4000 strikers, who had been employed on the Newfoundland power project, which said the men would destroy the plant of the Newfoundland Paper and Power company unless the premier personally investigated their demands, Prime Minister Moore of Newfoundland today prepared to go immediately to Cornerbrook, the seat of the trouble.

The strikers asked a 10 per cent wage increase. Price told the premier that the men expected the government to feed them after today.

At the request of the government, Admiral Ferguson, now in port here, on the flagship Calcutta, of his squadron of the British fleet, has ordered a warship which has been at Prince Edward Island to proceed immediately to the scene of the strike.

COX UPHOLDS CONSTABULARY

Chief Executive Scores Informal and Breezy Manner Release Was Asked

BOSTON, Aug. 1.—Governor Cox today made public his reply to the protest by Governor Flynn of Rhode Island against the arrest at Rutland on July 19 of members of a Rhode Island party, including two assistant attorneys general.

The governor supports the stand taken by the state constabulary, who made the arrests, and of the officials who refused a telephoned request from Governor Flynn to release the arrested men. Had a request been made for co-operation of Massachusetts authorities, instead of coming here unannounced, Governor Cox said, "the regrettable event of which you speak would not have occurred."

The arrest grew out of the partisan controversy in the Rhode Island senate, the sessions of which were interrupted on June 19 by the explosion of a bromide gas bomb. When Governor Flynn obtained affidavits from two former guards of a group of Rhode Island senators, who went to Rutland, Mass. after the incident, that republican leadership planned the bomb planting, the Rhode Island assistant attorneys general went to Rutland with the men who made the affidavits to obtain further evidence.

Governor Cox said in his letter that the arrest was made in consequence of a telephone call "purporting to come from Providence police department, requesting the apprehension of an alleged criminal from Rhode Island whose description was given, and as a result of information given by Senator Sherman of Rhode Island that he was staying at the Hotel Bartlett in Rutland. It was made in the belief that one of the members of the party was the man who was wanted."

The governor recited the circumstances of the arrest and the fact that eventually no complaint was made in court.

DOCTOR TAKES WITNESS STAND

Noted Alienist Called as First Witness in Defense of Leopold-Loeb

Claims Millionaires' Sons Regarded Murder Escapade as "An Intellectual Feat"

CHICAGO, August 1 (By the Associated Press).—The kidnapping and murder of Robert Franks was planned as "an intellectual feat" on the part of Richard Loeb, according to testimony given today in the hearing which is to decide punishment for him and Nathan Leopold, Jr., for that crime.

This revelation of Loeb's motive came right at the end of the morning session today from Dr. William A. White, first witness for the defense, whose testimony was started after Judge Caverly had definitely overruled objections by the state directed against all evidence as to the mentality of the defendants.

This ruling disposed of a question which had been argued for two days and which attorneys agreed constituted a precedent in Illinois for receiving evidence in mitigation of punishment.

Dr. White's testimony transformed the companion of Leopold from "Richard Loeb, defendant in this vast," to "Dietrich," a child beset with phantasmic dreams of becoming either the world's greatest detective or a "master mind" dominating organized enemies of society.

The witness called him "Dietrich," and Judge Caverly, in ruling on the admissibility of evidence about the "foolish goodness," who drove the boy to death, used the diminutive twice himself.

CHICAGO, Aug. 1. (By the Associated Press).—Judge John R. Caverly overruled objections by the state to alienist testimony offered in mitigation as to punishment by the attorneys for Nathan Leopold, Jr., and Richard Loeb.

The result, which came after more than two court days of argument was a decided victory for the defense, as it established the right to give testimony on mental disease short of legal insanity, "not as a defense, but in mitigation of punishment."

The decision was momentous in legal annals of this state, as no exacting situation could be found by attorneys for either side in Illinois records. The field opened by today's findings was more extensive than in cases which bordered it.

"It is the court's duty to hear this evidence," said Judge Caverly. "It is not his duty to reject it before he had an opportunity to hear it."

"The objection by the state is overruled."

Immediately Dr. William A. White, alienist from Washington, D. C., took the stand and stated his professional connections, the stage where his testimony was interrupted Wednesday morning.

Robert E. Crowe, state's attorney, struck back at Clarence S. Darrow and Walter Bucharach, attorneys for Nathan Leopold, Jr., and Richard Loeb.

"I was in doubt, as I listened to Dr. Darrow, whether he realized he was in a courtroom and not arguing before a legislature," said Mr. Crowe.

"And Mr. Bucharach," continued the prosecutor, "would bar the state's attorney from the courtroom, and make of this, not a trial, but an experiment."

"The defense would have us say these boys who have sneered day after day at the representatives of the law, have not blood on their hands, but jam."

Mr. Crowe said the defense had pictured Leopold and Loeb, not as "intellectuals who in their self-imposed superiority have rejected God," but as "innocent babes, who still believe in Santa Claus."

"Mr. Darrow had chided me because I sentenced a confessed criminal to death when 'I was on the bench,'" said Mr. Crowe. "But I was following the law."

Mr. Crowe followed Attorney Bucharach of defense counsel, who had finished his analysis of cases offered by the state in his efforts to bar from the record references to the mental state of the defendants.

"We have made an analysis of all the cases cited by the state," said Mr. Bucharach. "In one or two instances, consequential instances, none of them related to instance in which mental disease was offered as mitigation of punishment. All were inapplicable to this case."

"As this argument has progressed I have wondered what function there was in the office of state's attorney that allowed him to fix the punishment of these defendants."

"What right has he as an officer of the law, to demand what form of punishment should be meted out?"

"It is, in fact, none of his business. Whether a defendant pleads guilty or is convicted by a jury, his function is to inform the court by laying before it all facts in the case."

"That is his real duty, whether the

Public Safety Commissioner Orders Constabulary to Disperse Meetings

Says State Will Not Tolerate Any Warfare Between Opposite Factions

BOSTON, Aug. 1.—Commissioner Alfred E. Foote of the state department of public safety in a statement today announced that at a meeting of troop commanders of the state police patrol and detectives of the state police at the state house, instructions had been issued "for the purpose of putting an end to the bloodshed and riot which has attended recent meetings of the Ku Klux Klan in this state."

He said that the department could not under the constitution forbid the Klan to hold meetings, "but we can and will prevent any assembly of men bearing arms, whether firearms or other weapons." He said his men have been instructed to disarm every individual at such meetings, to arrest persons found carrying arms without permits and to take away weapons of those having permits, at the same time notifying the latter that they may get them at headquarters the next day by proving ownership. This precaution, he said, would give an opportunity to determine whether permits had been issued legally.

The commissioner, emphasizing that these measures would be applied impartially to Klansmen and their opponents, added:

"Massachusetts will not tolerate armed warfare between any factions. Every man and every resource of this department will be used to prevent it."

BOSTON ATTORNEY RAISES UNIQUE POINT IN DISTRICT COURT

Counsel for Man Found Guilty of Operating Auto While Intoxicated Claims Arrest on Charge Specified Was Illegal—Sentence is Withheld

James F. Fitzgerald of Boston was found guilty in district court this morning, of operating an automobile while he was under the influence of liquor, but because of certain peculiarities in the case, Judge Enright decided to withhold sentence until tomorrow.

Fitzgerald, who was arrested in Braintree on June 16 after the machine he is alleged to have been operating turned turtle, pleaded not guilty to the charge. His attorney, T. J. Kelley of Boston, entered a motion that the arrest on the charge specified was illegal and cited a Boston case wherein a defendant was dismissed because of a similar technicality. Attorney Kelley argued that the charge of drunken driving cannot be preferred at the time of the arrest. Drunkenness should be the immediate complaint, he said, to be followed by the charge of operating under the influence of liquor only after substantial evidence has been secured.

YALE CREW MEN HOME WELL SATISFIED WITH COURT HOUSE PLANS

NEW YORK, Aug. 1.—John M. Goettchius, graduate manager of the Yale crew, which won the Olympic championship, Benjamin M. Spock, who rowed No. 7, and Sidney Coe, the Eli's trainer, returned on the Resolute today. They brought the two Yale shells, one of which the victory was won. Other members of the crew will return later in the summer.

Complete satisfaction with the county architect's plans for the new Lowell district court house was expressed today by Judge Thomas J. Enright, Associate Justice John J. Pickman and United States Commissioner R. B. Walsh, who were in conference yesterday on the plans with County Commissioner Barlow and Architect Charles R. Green.

"I am much pleased with the plans," said Judge Enright this morning, "and I believe we are going to have one of the finest court buildings in the state. Naturally there were some changes and alterations that the court and lawyers felt should be made and what pleased me particularly was the co-operative spirit shown by Commissioner Barlow and the architect in granting our requests. It will be a fine structure."

Justice Pickman expressed similar thoughts, saying that the new building will be a splendid addition to county properly and will give the city of Lowell what it has been badly in need of for a long time. "A most excellent building will result from the plans, I am sure," was his comment.

"The new district court building will be used far beyond the expectations of the county commissioners," said Commissioner Walsh, "for it will be a pleasure to work in such surroundings. I am perfectly satisfied with the plans and feel very grateful to Commissioner Barlow and the architect because of their entire fair attitude toward making slight alterations in compliance with our requests."

GEN. PERSHING NEARS RETIREMENT DAY

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1.—General Pershing returned today to his desk at the war department and resumed personal supervision of plans for the defense day demonstration of Sept. 12. He began also his last tour of duty as an officer on the active list of the army, as he will be retired automatically on his 64th birthday, Sept. 13.

It was suggested at the war department originally that the defense test be held on Sept. 13, as a compliment to the retiring chief of staff and general of the armies. General Pershing himself preferred, however, that the date be selected and the event be in the nature of a commemoration of the battle of St. Mihiel, which opened on that day, 1918.

Kay, Lambton, and Gil Nichols, New York, both 72. Other good scores were:

Henry Cude, White Plains, N. Y., 75; Seymour Levton, Toronto, 77; Raymond MacKenzie, Montreal, 77; T. McGrath, Chatham, 75; Fred Decker, White Plains, 75.

RADIO ADDS INTEREST IN GOOD MUSIC

By N.E.A. Service.

MADISON, Wis., July 30.—Radio is largely responsible for increased interest on the part of the general public in better types of music, says Professor P. W. Dykema of the University of Wisconsin school of music. "Give the best music adequate performance and its appeal is immensely extended," says Professor Dykema. "Most wrong notions about classical music are based upon singing or playing that is so poor that the ideas of the composer are not evident. Just as a scratched or soiled copy of a great painting obscures or con-electric lines have caused one of the larger electric light and power companies to distribute a set of safety rules for the prevention of such accidents.

B. S. Hight, engineer in charge of operations of the Illinois Power & Light corporation, specifies them as follows:

"Antennae or any part of same must not be attached to wire, light poles, or any poles carrying wires at a greater potential than 220 volts.

"These wires must not be installed above or below any electric light or power wires, or nearer than three feet from them.

"When being installed the wires must not be thrown over any wire of any kind, unless it is positively known that this wire does not carry any voltage.

"Transmitting sets must not be connected to secondary lighting or power circuits to which any other customers are connected. A separate transformer must be set up for any such connection into the radio apparatus.

"Any transmitting or receiving set attached to a secondary circuit must be provided with a thorough and adequate ground which is not connected to a gas pipe."

RADIO MONOPOLY UNDER SCRUTINY BY GOVERNMENT

WASHINGTON, August 1.—Recent findings of the federal trade commission alleging that a monopoly exists among certain radio companies, have led the "Sherman law" section of the department of justice to determine upon "a further investigation or additional facts."

Whether Attorney General Stone has decided to bring anti-trust law action against these or other radio equipment manufacturers and distributors had not been made known, but officials of the department are understood to be of the opinion that some companies are involved in an agreement affecting selling prices. They have not been willing to say, however, whether the companies they have in mind are those cited by the trade commission, which included the Radio Corporation of America, General Electric, American Telephone and Telegraph, Westinghouse, Western Electric and International Radio companies and the United Fruit and Wireless Specialty.

ceals the original conception, so a poorly played Beethoven symphony prevents the listener from hearing the sublime beauty of that master. "Radio, by bringing to communities all over the United States performances of the great masters by the organizations, is doing much to acquaint our people with the beauties of music."

Professor Dykema thinks that radio is also influencing jazz music. "Largely through the influence of radio, jazz music has become more refined, complex and harmonious," he says.

"Jazz is changing with the change in the musical demands of the public. There is no need for a substitute for jazz music because it is losing the barbarous characteristic which it first possessed."

CHICAGO TO ENGLAND ON LONE TUBE!

By N.E.A. Service.
CHICAGO, Aug. 1.—R. T. Flewelling, famous radio engineer, announces he has succeeded in hearing Poldhu, England, on a single tube!

This remarkable achievement is made even more so by the knowledge that signals were heard at the distance of 3,500 miles with a loop as antenna.

According to Flewelling, the receiver used was the famous super-regenerative circuit invented by him. The station heard was 2VT, which was said to have been using Marconi's new "direct ray" transmission system, on 31 meters, when his broadcast signals were heard. "It is but a demonstration of what can be done in radio," is Flewelling's comment. "Very soon, by next winter perhaps, you will find such reception common on better made sets. The short wave and directed transmission are part of the secret. Sensitivity sets, well designed, are another factor."

RULES FOR SAFE AERIAL ERECTION

By N.E.A. Service.
CHICAGO, Aug. 1.—Continued trag-edies to radio fans who have tried to erect aerials near high-powered a big part through the microphone. "The resonant quality of voice plays says McMillen, "but resonance is only half the secret of effective broadcasting. Some voices, gifted with a clear, sharp, vibrating quality, are changed by the microphone to a series of incoherent blurs."

For effective broadcasting, he adds, use short sentences made of simple words. "If long sentences are used, make them compound. The beginning and ending of a paragraph should be made of short, pithy sentences packed with thought."

"A monosyllable with a long vowel is harder to pronounce sharply than a syllable with a short vowel. Listeners in cannot see the periods by radio; the speaker must make them evident."

"The sentence ending must never be ragged. Words are clearest and most easily pronounced that end in sharp consonants."

The locomotive headlight generator supplies power to the heaters, which fit over the pipes like shells.

WALL STREET ITEMS

A plan to re-group the railroads and the eastern section of the country, which is expected to be submitted to the Interstate Commerce commission providing for four instead of nine systems, exclusive of New England roads, is understood in the financial district to have been discussed by executives of the four chief trunk lines operating east of the Mississippi river. The conferences have been attended by Samuel Rea, president of the Pennsylvania; Patrick Crowley, president of the New York Central; Daniel Willard, president of the Baltimore and Ohio and representatives of the Van Swerghin interests. The discussions thus far were said to have dealt chiefly with the traffic end of the consolidation.

Directors of V. Vivaudon have omitted the 1 1/2 per cent. dividend on the preferred stock due at this time. The last declaration on the preferred was made April 30 when the common dividend was omitted.

Directors of Republic Steel have authorized the purchase of the Warren Foundry and Pipe company for $4,000,000 in August 26. The company plans to issue $2,500,000 first mortgage 7 1/2 per cent. bonds against the Warren property and 125,000 shares of Republic common stock for the transaction. The stock will be offered at $14 a share to stockholders, all the shares having been overwritten.

Declaration of an extra dividend by the United States Steel corporation this week, is believed to have caught a large stock interest by surprise and the efforts of this group to retreat have been a factor in the quick rise of steel common to a new high price on the current movement.

Deposits of banks throughout the country reporting to the federal reserve district expanded $1,250,000,000 between March and July 15, according to a compilation made by the Federal Reserve bank of New York.

The expulsion of Henry W. Blesford from the Consolidated stock exchange for failure to appear before the board of governors for examination yesterday was announced today.

DOCTOR FAINTS AT AUTO WHEEL

Physician Thrown Through Windshield and Expected to Die as Result

WATERBURY, Vt., Aug. 1.—Stricken with a fainting spell, Dr. Harry D. Hopkins, one of the best known physicians in Vermont, crumpled forward over the steering wheel of his automobile, yesterday, and the heavy machine tore down the steep hill from Waterbury Centre and plunged into a group of young people, instantly killing 12-year-old Raymond Lefevre and seriously injuring four others.

After knocking the group in all directions, the speeding machine crashed with terrific force into a tree and buried the unconscious physician through the windshield. Although probably fatally injured, Dr. Hopkins recovered consciousness shortly after he was carried to a nearby house and asked what had happened.

Shortly before the accident the boys had left a neighboring farm where they spent the day picking beans for one of the canneries. They were party down the hill, laughing and playing, when without warning the physician's auto plunged into the group. None escaped injury. Passing automobiles drivers carried the injured into the town and brought back a physician to where the dead boy lay.

The machine containing Dr. Hopkins continued on its wild run down the hill, swerving from one side of the highway and crashing into a tree. The physician was asked up several feet away. Even after he regained consciousness he was unable to tell what had happened.

The police, who immediately started an investigation, learned that Dr. Hopkins had left Waterbury but a short time before to play a professional ball and had complained of feeling ill. The police then shortly before the accident he met the machine with the doctor lying face down on the steering wheel and going at full speed.

Dr. Hopkins is 46 years old and has practiced in Waterbury several years. He was graduated from Baltimore Medical college in the class of 1901. He is a member of several medical organizations and fraternal orders. Besides suffering from probable concussion of the brain and internal injuries, Dr. Hopkins was found to have many severe cuts and bruises about the head and face.

DAWES PLAN EXPERTS MAY FINISH TODAY

LONDON, Aug. 1.—(By the Associated Press) The experts of the international reparations conference indicated early this afternoon that they expected to settle all the outstanding problems of the conference up to them for solution before the afternoon was over.

The experts, who did not leave Downing street until 2:15 o'clock this morning, returned to their task at 11 o'clock and during a two-hour session adopted the French proposals for the modification of the Dawes plan. They then adjourned to reassemble later in the afternoon.

The problem of transfers, allotted to the French committee, under the Dawes plan, is still causing trouble. If the experts are unable to overcome the difficulty on this point, this afternoon, the issue will be referred to the chief delegates.

Owen D. Young, of the Dawes committee, who has maintained an attitude of restrained hopefulness ever since President Harding's plan was produced, was enthusiastic when he left the foreign office.

"Monday" Fades When Women Organize Laundry Plan

INTERIOR VIEW OF CO-OPERATIVE LAUNDRY AT RIVER FALLS, WIS., AND TRUCKS USED FOR DELIVERY.

By N.E.A. Service.

RIVER FALLS, Wis., July 31.—"Wash day is not 'blue Monday' to the farmers' wives of St. Croix county, Wisconsin.

They have a co-operative laundry of their own, which has just completed 10 years of successful operation—so successful that women's clubs from all sections of the country are asking how it's done.

Originally the laundry served only the immediate vicinity of River Falls. Now the adjoining rural communities and 10 nearby villages have their dirty clothes collected, washed and returned with the regularity that prevails in a big city.

And it all came about as the result of a debate in a woman's club.

Dirty clothes took so much time to wash that members of the Home Culture club, an organization of farm women, decided something should be done about it.

A canvass was made of the surrounding farming community. Stock was sold at $10 a share. At first, the project was tried out in conjunction with a co-operative creamery, but the business took such a spurt that a separate enterprise became necessary.

After the first year the project was a success. The co-operative laundry, still owned by the "farmers' wives," employs 10 girls and three men. It has an average of 471 customers and furnished same-day service to hotels and restaurants in Hudson, Hammond, Ellsworth, Cumberland, New Richmond, Baldwin, Spring Valley and Prescott.

Three-Day Service

Laundry trucks, operated on a commission basis, gather up the dirty clothes from the farmers' wives each week and bring the garments back within three days, washed and ironed. A dry-cleaning department also is operated.

The college of agriculture, University of Wisconsin, awarded it a prize of $300 this year because of its success in lightening the burden of the farm home.

The institution is a model in every respect, equipped with latest machinery. It has paid off all indebtedness with the exception of $1200. It manages to pay off about $1000 a year.

MONSTER RACIAL WAR PREDICTED BY NOTED LONDON PUBLICIST

Sir Valentine Chirol Addresses Institute of Politics at Williamstown Saying Peaceful Adjustment of Relations With Occident and Orient is Vital Necessity

WILLIAMSTOWN, Aug. 1.—Unless some way is found to a peaceful adjustment of relations between the occident and the orient, the world will be plunged into a deadly racial conflict, said Sir Valentine Chirol today in the first lecture of this year's Institute of Politics at Williams College.

Sir Valentine was director of the foreign department of the London Times for many years and a member of the royal commission on the Indian public services. His lecture was the first of a series on eastern and near eastern questions.

The reawakening of the orient, he said, was "a direct challenge to western supremacy, economic, political and spiritual, as well as to the status of the white man's assumption of superiority."

Speaking specifically of Turkey, he said: "Hostility to all foreigners has never been so deliberately and insolently displayed as it is today."

In welcoming the members of the institute, President Harry A. Garfield of Williams college said: "We are not here to inaugurate a program of action nor to place our seal of approval as a body upon any proposal, however meritorious. We are here to explore the facts underlying international events as to seek the truth as everyone sees it concerning international relations."

Big Improvement Here In City Lighting System

much and other down-town streets will be installed in John and Paige streets, in Middle street from Central to Shattuck streets, and in Market street from Central street to Cardinal O'Connell parkway.

The new type B lights are to be installed by the Lowell Electric Light corporation, that company bearing all expense in connection with the change, and will cost the city $33 a light a year instead of the $50 now being paid yearly for each arc light.

Five months' work has been necessary to complete preliminary plans for the change and the Lowell Electric Light corporation has borne an expense, it is stated, of nearly $100,000 in changing over the plant to meet the requirements of the new system. There is still considerable work to be done which will cost the electric light company a great deal more money. The work is done in such a way that no section of the city will be left without lights while the change is being made. New lights will be placed where the old lights were, or in new locations, if such are necessary, and will be switched on immediately.

The city appropriation for street lighting, according to the city engineer, is sufficient to take care of the increased cost in lighting. The appropriation for this year is $150,000.

The new system will not be completed before Jan. 1, 1925, in the opinion of the committee, and it may not be finished until after that date, but both Mr. Kearney and Mr. Wilson, unanimously stating that Lowell will be upon the completion of the work, one of the best lighted cities in the country.

The type B white way lights which are to be installed on the main arteries are similar to those now in place on the Central bridge and along the Lowell-lane boulevard as far as the city line. The lights are very bright, yet are not glaring, and one feature which, in the opinion of city officials is very favorable to this system, is that the lights are all-night lights, not being shut off as the type A lights are late in the evening.

City Engineer Kearney and Mr. Wilson have been in conference several days each week for the past several months discussing the project and laying out plans for the new system. At a recent meeting of the public service board the city engineer's plans were approved and all that is now necessary for the beginning of work is the approval by the city council of a number of pole locations, which will be acted upon at Tuesday's meeting.

The type B white way lights, unlike the type A lights which require special poles, are mounted on the electric light corporation's wooden poles by means of a special bracket. This feature is one of the most important in connection with the change, for it is doubtful if the city could afford the change if it were necessary to erect separate posts for each new light.

The replacement of the arc lights throughout the city, according to the city engineer, is next to the complete rearrangement of the street lighting system on main arteries, a great step forward.

As above stated, it will be impossible to make the change of lights all at one time and afford opportunity for a formal opening of the new system, and the new lights will be put into operation just as soon as installed.

THE VACATION LARDER

When it came time for his vacation to start Mr. Mann of Anytown might be found busily packing the family larder with tents and blankets and cooking utensils and foods.

What to take for the vacation larder is always a problem.

This depends largely upon the distance of the camp site from some handy store.

But a camper can always bank on a few old reliables: Rice will take the place of potatoes and is far more easily carried. Dried lima beans are also easily carried and many good dishes can be made from them.

Dried fruits of all sorts are easily carried: Prunes, apricots and apples being more generally favored.

A slab of bacon should keep with but slight attention. Hardtack, rusks or zwieback substitute for bread.

Flap-jack flour is a general favorite for breakfast; also a good supply of coffee or tea, thinned milk and, if desired, eggs and almost all vegetables can be obtained in a dried condition.

ARREST MANIAC
AS MURDERER

Inmate of Feeble-Minded
Home Said to Admit
Killing Laundress

Complete Story

LAPEER, Mich., August 1.—Louis Johnson, 21 years old, an inmate of the Michigan Home and Training school, a state institution for the feeble-minded, is in jail in a nearby city after having confessed here yesterday, police say, that he strangled to death Mrs. Blanche E. Burke, pretty 28-year-old widow, employed at the institution.

Johnson, who is classed by the institution as definitely feeble-minded and who has been at the home for 14 years, readily admitted killing the woman, according to officers, and then went to the scene and re-enacted the occurrence for them. He told them, they said, that he resolved to kill the woman to "get even" with her for an argument they had had in the laundry of the institution sometime before.

On the night of Saturday, July 26, the alleged confession continued, the man waited for Mrs. Burke to leave the home and followed her until they reached a spot where the roadside was heavily overgrown with weeds and underbrush. After he had caught her, she broke away and ran, but he overtook her and overpowered her.

Stripping off her stockings, Johnson bound her feet together and then tied her hands before he strangled her, police say he said.

Mrs. Burke was missed late Saturday night when she failed to return to her home from the institution. A search was started and her underclothing was found early Sunday morning. For days police searched the vicinity in an effort to get some clue, but without success. Johnson was arrested yesterday after another inmate of the home had told officers that the man had told him he killed Mrs. Burke.

Burglars Get Less Than $200
in Holdup in New York
Delicatessen

NEW YORK, August 1.—Seven persons, including one woman, were held up in a Seventh avenue delicatessen store early today, by three armed bandits, who escaped with $184 after assaulting one of their victims, who had shown reluctance in obeying their orders.

One of the victims aroused the anger of the robbers by his slowness in complying with their commands to "take the mark." A bandit struck him in the face with his revolver.

The hold-up men made their escape in an automobile after a chase by policemen.

SOVIET MAY SUE U. S.
INSURANCE MEN

MOSCOW, August 1.—Claims amounting to hundreds of thousands of dollars will soon be made on a number of large American insurance companies by a Soviet bureau acting on behalf of Russian policyholders who have failed to collect insurance owing to the withdrawal of the companies from Russia.

If the claims are not paid directly by the companies, it is the intention of the credit bureau to endeavor to recover them through the American courts.

LIGHTNING MISSES
SOVIET PRESIDENT

MOSCOW, Aug. 1.—By the Associated Press—President Kalinin, of the Soviet government, had a narrow escape from death by lightning today, when the house in a village in which he had taken refuge during a thunder storm, while on his way from his country residence in Moscow, was demolished by a bolt. The driver of his carriage was instantly killed and an accompanying photographer injured.

Premature Old Age of Women
It is no secret that so many women suffer from ailments peculiar to their sex. Dark circles appear under the eyes, a pale, drawn, haggard expression to the countenance, and the weakness which accompanies such ailments is evidenced by the lagging step, headaches, backache and nervous conditions. Every woman who is afflicted in this way should rely upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which for a half century has been overcoming some of the most stubborn ailments of women.—Adv.

HOPE REVIVED AT CONFERENCE

Likely at Any Time

LONDON, Aug. 1.—(By the Associated Press)—Premier Herriot's proposals have revived hope in the inter-allied conference which is seeking ways and means of putting the Dawes reparation plan into effect. Following acceptance of the proposals by the first committee of the conference yesterday as a basis of settlement, the experts went into session in an effort to reconcile the views on certain important phases and adjourned at 2:15 o'clock this morning after a lengthy sitting which left them tired and haggard. This agreed upon adjournment to reassemble at 11 a. m. and James A. Logan, Jr., the American official observer, expressed hope that a settlement would be forthcoming today.

When this has been reached an invitation will be dispatched to Berlin asking German delegates to come here and make the final arguments for putting the new reparation program into effect. The reparation commission, which the Germans will deal with, yesterday decided to sit officially in London for that purpose.

IN NEW YORK

By Stephen Hannagan

NEW YORK, Aug. 1.—Tons of steel girders fell when a derrick lifting them to the top of a 15-story building broke.

Arthur Brown, walking beneath, was buried beneath the debris. Hundreds crowded to the scene. Brown, walking calmly from beneath the wreckage, which had fallen in such a manner as to make a protection wall for him. Only his clothes were dusty.

A newspaper photographer, near at hand, induced Brown to pose in the spot on which the heavy girders had fallen.

Just as Brown started to the spot, the remaining half of the derrick and more girders fell at his side. Brown finally posed for the pictures—a block away.

While the boys of New York play marbles the girls play jacks.

Just as the boys have been having a big tournament for several years, the girls are engaged in a tourney this year.

It promises to be an interesting competition.

Chinamen are wary as to introducing two countrymen.

None of this lokum back-slapping, hand-grasping tomfoolery of the professional introducer, so prevalent today.

For the honor of the Chinese code demands that if No. 1 introduces No. 2 to No. 3 and if No. 2 subsequently introduces a third, then No. 1 is honor-bound to make good the loss No. 3 has sustained.

This was told to me down in Chinatown.

Broadway. Noon. The crowd moves sluggishly. Sand still in eyes of many. Theatrical people are late risers. Dishcloved chorus girls chafing from a morning's rehearsal to snatch a bite of lunch. That girl looks familiar. I'm positive she's from my home town. Pardon me, miss, but aren't you Mildred Mauch. No? Well, I'm sorry. Don't be angry. I'm not a masquerader. But you look just like a little girl I saw growing up back in Lafayette, Ind. You did. You are. You remember me, now? Well, why the high-hat, then? Oh, you've changed your name. I see, Virginia Moore. Theatrical business, eh? Forgotten your own name already. Surely, I understand. Let's go have lunch and talk about the home folks. What's in a name, after all?

FLORIDA DRY LAW PASSED IN 1855

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., Aug. 1. (By the Associated Press).—The far-sightedness of Florida's legislators of the 19th century is disclosed in an old law unearthed in the archives of the state capitol here. It is an act which became effective in January, 1855, and provided heavy penalties for employees of railroads found guilty of being intoxicated while in the performance of their duty.

At the time of its enactment there were no railroads in Florida. The act, however, imposed upon the general assembly the duty of ascertaining the proper objects of improvements in relation to railroads, canals, and navigable streams; and indicates the presentiment the lawmakers must have had that liquor and locomotive combined would not make for public safety.

Chicago has 10 active broadcasting stations.

OUT OUR WAY

WHY MOTHERS GET GRAY

QUAKERS UNITE TO HONOR GEORGE FOX

LONDON, Aug. 1.—The bicentenary of the birth of George Fox, founder of the Society of Friends, was celebrated at his birthplace, the small village of Penny Drayton, Leicestershire, July 5. Quakers from America and from all parts of England gathered in the village and took part in the ceremonies.

The Anglican Bishop of Peterborough sent a message to the meeting which was read by Elbert Russell, of Philadelphia, at the conclusion of his address.

A visit was paid during the day to the parish church where there still exists the font in which Fox was baptized and which was for many years used as a village horse trough.

FRANCE PRODUCES LESS IRON

PARIS, Aug. 1.—The claim of some economists that France is the "iron-master of the world" is disputed by recently published figures. These show the production of iron to be 550,000 tons a month and of steel 554,000 tons. These figures are 15 per cent less than the 1913 output.

The dinar, the money in vogue in Herod's time, has been adopted as a monetary unit in Palestine.

LOCAL PLANT REPORTS BETTER BUSINESS

American Hide & Leather company reports business steadily increasing in the production of its regular lines, strengthening perceptibly in new finished leather products that have returned to popular favor after several years' neglect because of changing fashions.

More activity has been apparent in local shoe and leather industries since July 1. Both buying and manufacturing operations, until the present time have been on a very conservative basis for several months. The turn for the better, reported today by all of the local shoe factories and also the American Hide & Leather company on Perry street, represents a welcome change. And it is bringing a good deal of very valuable new business to the Lowell tanners. The Sun was informed last week.

On Perry street, general industrial conditions are much better today than they have been for more than six months past. Optimism is rampant, not too strong, but real optimism, in offices and factory quarters. The calf departments are moving along in production in good shape today, there being more work and larger output.

The recent re-opening of the patent leather department of the Perry street plant, was made necessary because of the sudden change of fashion's whim and the demand for patent leather shoes for summer, fall and winter wear. This demand for new leather grades could not be met by the smaller manufacturers, and the American Hide & Leather company, it is reported, secured many large orders for the patent product, necessitating the opening once more of the Lowell patent leather division. This department is now giving employment to a goodly number of Lowell workmen, who had been laid off some months before by the closing of this same plant.

Today, The Sun is informed, production in the patent leathers on Perry street is "about 100 per cent." Business has increased since the formal re-opening several months ago.

With relatively quiet conditions prevailing in the upper leather business during the quarter ending June 30, particularly in staple lines, it was not to be expected that the American Hide & Leather company would show results as good as in the first three months of the year, when a profit of $208,555 was reported. All things considered, however, the profit of $26,567, after interest charges, reserved for taxes and depreciation, in the second quarter, was very satisfactory.

This contrasted with a loss of $139,131 in the quarter ending June 30, 1923, and a loss of $12,201 in the corresponding period of 1922.

While American Hide & Leather has been operating near capacity so far this year, demand has centered largely on specialty and luxury leather, or, to the partial exclusion of more staple lines. To meet the demand, the big upper leather company has concentrated more on the specialties.

Patent leather was very active in the first three months of the year and its popularity continued in the second quarter. Indications are that demand for the fall is likely to swing into calf leathers, grain finish, in blacks and medium browns. Oxfords are likely to come into their own with a vamping of the sandal fad.

For the first six months of 1924, American Hide & Leather reports a profit of $237,156 equivalent to $1.89 per share on $124,830 preferred. This contrasts with a deficit of $307,900 in the first half of 1923, and compares with surplus of $159,069 arising from use and occupancy insurance on a plant destroyed by fire.

PASTEL SHADES
Organdie and taffeta, particularly in the pastel shades, are combined very effectively this season. Pleated sections and aprons are of the organdie and the under tunic is of taffeta.

Sugar Coated Cod Liver Oil Tablets
Put on Flesh and Build Them Up—Quick

In just a few days—quicker than you ever dreamt of—these wonderful flesh-making tablets called McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Tablets will start to help any weak, thin, under-nourished little one.

After sickness and where rickets are suspected they are especially valuable. No need to give them any more nasty Cod Liver Oil—these tablets are made to take the place of that good but evil smelling stomach-upsetting medicine and they surely do it. They do put on flesh.

"My son, 16, became thin and pale and did not gain needed nourishment from his food until he took McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Tablets. In a little over two months he gained eleven and a half pounds and feels and looks 100 per cent better."

George C. O'Brien, Mahwah, N. J. Ask Green's Drug Store, A. W. Dows & Co., Fred Howard, or any druggist for McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Tablets—so easy to take so candy and not at all expensive—60 tablets 60 cents. Get McCoy's, the original and genuine Cod Liver Oil Tablets.—Adv.

TARIFF REVISION PUT UP TO PRESIDENT

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1.—The question of revising the sugar tariff schedule has been put up to President Coolidge after more than a year and a half of investigation and dispute by the tariff commission.

The commission's findings, completion of which Senator La Follette, independent candidate for president recently charged was being opposed by representatives of the "sugar interests," were submitted yesterday to the president, who alone is empowered under the law to proclaim revision of the rates, up or down, to the extent of 50 per cent.

The results of the inquiry, which has embraced sugar production conditions in Cuba and elsewhere, were not announced, although it had been indicated that majority and minority reports were contemplated by the commissioners, who had been split between contentions that the duties should be lowered or left as they are, 1.76 cents a pound on Cuban and 2.50 cents on other sugar imports.

DAVIS PREPARED TO START SPELLBINDING

NEW YORK, Aug. 1.—His calendar clear of engagements, John W. Davis was able to devote much of his time today to the perfection of his address accepting the democratic presidential nomination and to plan for the campaign.

The program called for further discussion with his manager, Clem L. Shaver, who is to have complete charge in carrying out campaign details while Mr. Davis is presenting himself and his cause to the country.

One of the principal problems of organization—the selection of a national treasurer, and a finance committee—remains to be disposed of, but the nominee and his field general hope to have this and other important items of organization out of the way before the official notification ceremonies at Clarksbury 10 days hence.

Amplifying the formal statement issued after his return from Maine yesterday in which he endorsed the position of his running mate, Governor Bryan of Nebraska, regarding the administration's plan for National Defense day on Sept. 12, Mr. Davis said informally last night that he believed in "military preparation."

Between this and the "civilian mobilization" to which Governor Bryan had voiced objection, Mr. Davis drew a sharp distinction. He declared opposition to the encouragement of "demonstrations" at a time when he said every effort should be made to get the "world back to peace and to work."

For midsummer the medium-sized hat is getting a bit of notice. There is a tendency to broaden the sides of the hats and to shorten the front and back. Bows and trimmings of the tailored sort are used in the back instead of the front.

These Suits Will Feature Atlantic City Beauty Pageant

SOME OF THE BATHING SUITS ENTERED IN ATLANTIC CITY BEAUTY PAGEANT

By MARIAN HALE

By N.E.A. Service

NEW YORK, Aug. 1.—We have one pleasant event to look forward to, at least, though it is still several weeks away. I'm referring to the 1924 Atlantic City beauty pageant.

By September the various belles who represent the various cities of our land will be marshaled into New Jersey to try out for the "Miss America" title.

To be sure, there is never but one contestant who is really satisfied with the decision, and the juries have to get out of Atlantic City by the next train after the choice is made, but it always brings forth a new crop of beauties and a new crop of bathing suits.

The photograph above will show you some of the contestants and costumes that are already in the race. I'm informed that the regalia on the left, worn by Rita Caldwell, is to be the standard costume.

It is an adaptation of a short dress made of blue and white satin, with a smart monogram and a leather belt, and short knickers that come near enough to the knee to please the most exacting beach cop.

Blanch Nevins is carrying the popular black and white costume into her beach costume. Her black satin costume is worn over white knickers and she adds a smart scarf of black and white satin and a monogram turban for extra smartness.

The other three costumes worn by Betty King, Irma Lyles and Georgia Brown are of fancy brocade materials. Two of them feature colors against a background of gold cloth, and the third shows brocade satin figures on black taffeta. Each costume has its distinct piece of millinery.

Needless to say these outfits are the sort you hang on a hickory limb or in a locker or any convenient place so they don't get in the water.

POLICE CLOSE IN ON
PALS OF BANDIT

EAST ORANGE, N. J., Aug. 1.—Federal postal inspectors and detectives expressed the belief today that they are closing in on the escaped accomplices of John J. Manion, former state trooper, who was killed in an attempted mail robbery yesterday by Eugene Stack, 23-year-old mail clerk. The federal inspectors are trailing two men who they say operated with Manion in hi-jacking exploits on New Jersey roads.

LITTLE ICELAND TOWN TO WELCOME FLIERS

HOFN HORNAFJORD, Iceland, Aug. 1 (By the Associated Press).—The 80 inhabitants of this little fishing and fishing village were keyed to the highest pitch today in anticipation of the arrival from Kirkwall of the American army world fliers.

The United States cruiser Raleigh arrived here yesterday and found all preparations complete for the coming of the airmen, down to the erection of a big red sign, lettered in English:

"Welcome to Hornafjord." The village nestles in front of huge barren mountains and great ice fields that sweep to the edge of the mirror-like fjord, where the planes will be moored during their brief halt.

CANADIAN GOLF
TOURNEY STARTS

MOUNT BRUNO, Que., Aug. 1.—Despite withdrawals of several noted players from the United States, the first two rounds of the Canadian open golf championship got under way today, with a classy field competing for the blue ribbon of dominion golf. The matches will not be finished until late today because of the large number of contestants.

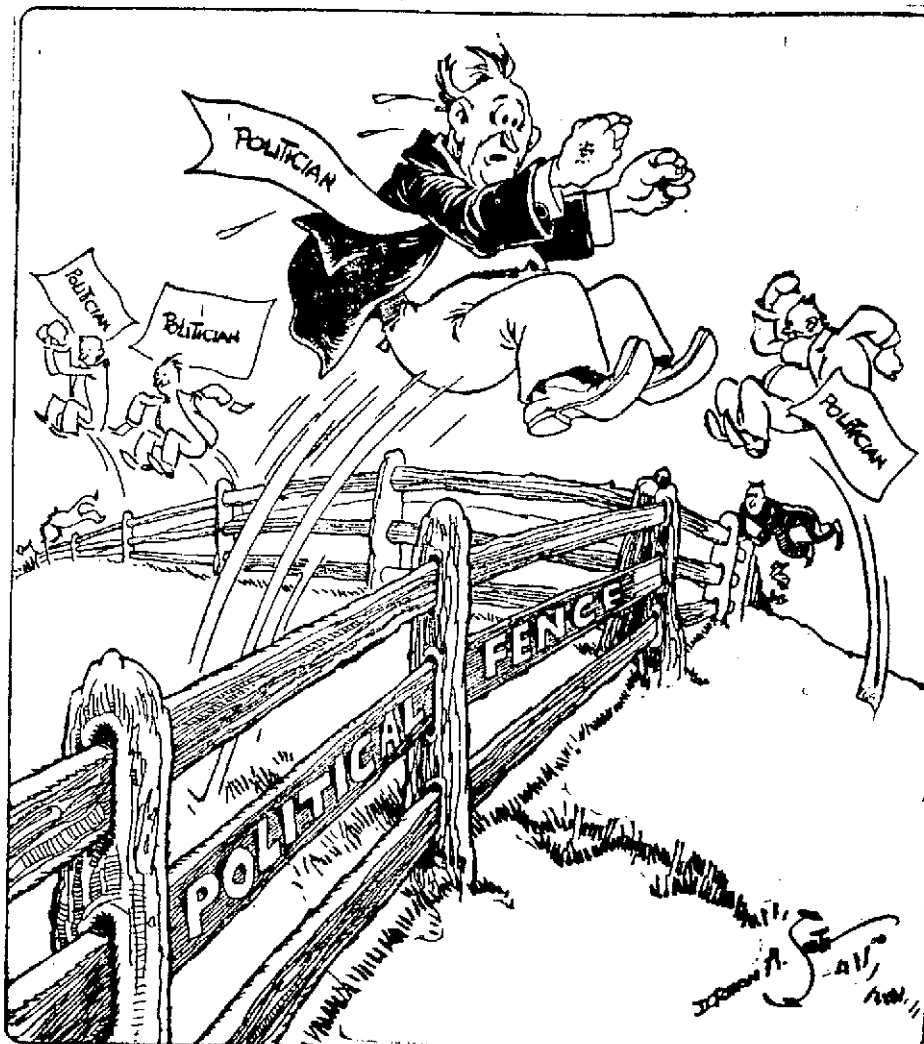

The feature pairings today were those of Gene Sarazen former United States open champion, and Johnny Farrell, New York; T. G. Armour, former Scottish champion, and now of the Westchester-Biltmore club, and Tedders MacKenzie, of Montreal; Clarence Mackey, Atlantic City and C. S. Lyon of Toronto, veteran Canadian amateur champion; George Cumming, Toronto, and Mike Brady, Detroit, an ex-Canadian open champion; Frank

Thompson, Toronto, Canadian amateur champion, and W. E. Mehlhorn, United States player of note; Al Walrous, Detroit, also an ex-Canadian open champion, and William McLuckie, Montreal, and Leo Diegel, Philadelphia and G. Joseph, Montreal. Only those players with scores 20 strokes higher than the lowest card will qualify for the 38 holes play tomorrow.

LEGION ASKS MANY WHAT WAS ACTUAL GAIN BY WORLD WAR

Former Kaiser's Secretary, Crown Prince, Newton D. Baker, Generals Pershing and Allen Among Those Who Make Answer—Some Deny Any Gain

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Aug. 1.—A symposium on "what did the world gain by the World war" is published today by the American Legion weekly. The majority of the replies, many of them from famous Americans, agree there were gains, though some deny any.

The first person quoted, the former Kaiser's secretary, Admiral H. von Reuter-Paschwitz, said:

"What did the world gain? Nothing! It lost everything."

"This answer," said the article, "was in reply to a letter to William Hohenzollern in Holland. It is taken to represent very clearly the real views of the former emperor."

The symposium was prepared to feature the tenth anniversary of the beginning of the World war.

The Crown Prince

Friedrich Wilhelm, former crown prince, said:

"The result was that all nations are armed as hard as they can, and what about democracy? Just look at the cables from over the whole world. Dictatorship of some sort or other is the favorite idea. The only good the war did is to show that a nation, not well armed, is powerless, and that such a nation gets no help from anybody."

Newton D. Baker

Newton D. Baker says:

"Taking the long view, I believe, it is possible now to say that the world is at least convinced that the balance of power theory is an unstable basis for world peace and that international co-operation is the only other plan to be tried. This is a great gain."

General John J. Pershing said:

"While we are probably too close to the events of the World war definitely to judge of its general benefits to mankind, yet the victory did result in preventing domination by autocracy, with all its disastrous effects upon civilization, and the evidence is clear that the free peoples of the world will unite in resisting such domination."

General Allen

General Henry T. Allen, commanding-general of the American army of occupation, says:

"The world has seen that the impious creeds that might makes right, and that the state as the incarnation of power stands above law have been overthrown. The world has learned much more of the inter-dependence of states. It has learned that Europe cannot proceed properly along the road of moral and physical restoration without our participation in the great unsettled post-bellum measures."

John Doughboy

American soldier, who served in the ranks throughout the war and is now a staff sergeant:

"Although we cannot claim that, as a result of the World war, the world has been made 'safe for democracy,' it is apparent that the American principle that governments derive their just powers from the consent of the governed has been, for the first time, impressed upon European minds."

Mr. Philip Gibbs

Mr. Philip Gibbs, British war correspondent, says:

"The only gain to humanity from the World war, as far as I can see now, was the inspiration that comes from the supreme valor of youth and its ready sacrifice for ideals higher than self-interest."

William Allen White

William Allen White, Kansas editor, says:

"The gain came in self-respect for the workingman and the man of small means and his woman folk. And it cut through nationalities without respect to allies or central powers. In that much democracy has gained and will never go back."

Henri Belloc

Henri Belloc, English historian and student of military science:

"The world gained by the great war a demonstration in practice that the atheist doctrine and tradition of which Prussia has been the increasingly successful exponent for 150 years, would ultimately prove weaker than the culture of Christendom."

President Emeritus Elliot

Charles W. Elliot, president-emeritus of Harvard:

"The World war destroyed the huge Russian, a German and Austrian autocracies. . . . Democratic principles have made good progress and brought nearer to effective union for promoting 'liberty, justice and peace throughout the world.'

Samuel Gompers

Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor:

"The world gained as a result of the great war a freedom from the menace of organized militarist imperialism without which all peoples sooner or later would have been enchained in bondage and vassalage. Democracy is in the ascendancy, the dominant form of government."

Jane Addams

Jane Addams says:

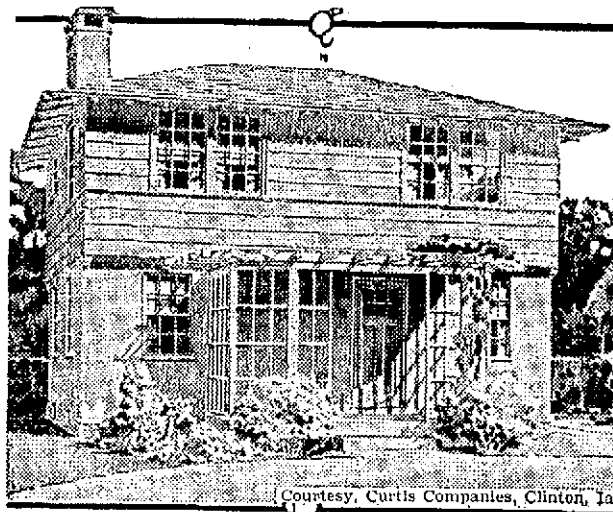

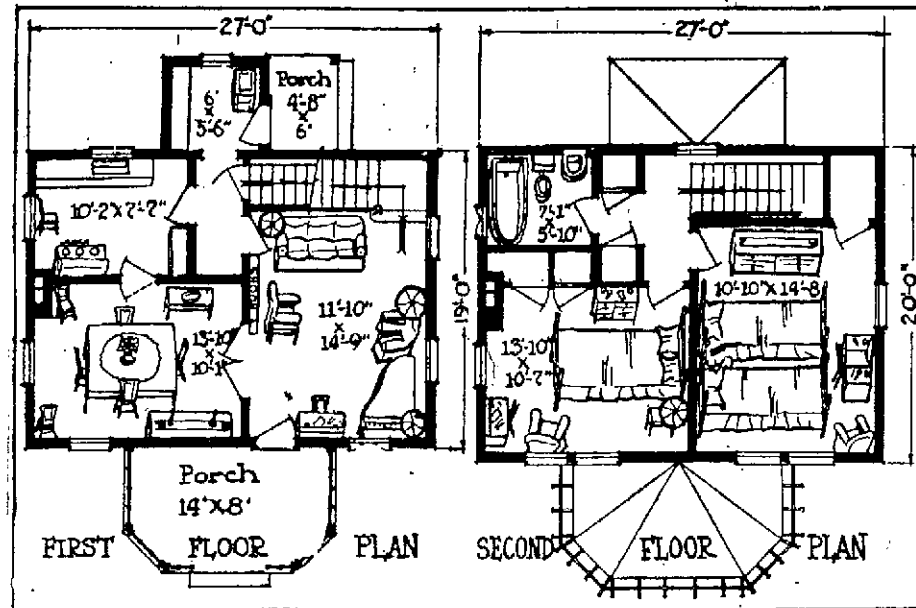

"A revolution of what modern war is when systematic propaganda arouses world-wide hate and when the achievements of industrial efficiency achieve the maximum of slaughter and destruction. . . . Among the living, a growing determination to abolish war for the sake of those who gave their lives to end it."

Here's the Gem

John Maynard Keynes, English economist and author of "Economic Consequences of the Peace":

"I don't know."

FRONT VIEW AND FLOOR PLANS OF FIVE-ROOM WESTERN HOME.

The five-room cottage pictured here is of a type that has been called "western" by some architects.

Some of its characteristics are widely overhanging eaves, open porches, exposed rafter ends, a frank plainness, overhanging second story suggestive of the chalet, good proportions, balance in the size and placing of openings.

Stained claspboards and stucco are used in developing the exterior. Windows divided into small panes are in good taste in any house. The freestyles on a quaint-shaped porch, and the exposed rafter ends in porch effect, as well as the pleasing design of the chimney, show a fine consideration for detail in the exterior treatment.

The interior is no less carefully planned. The use of standard stock materials has been taken into consideration all the way through, effecting a decided economy in construction.

One enters directly into the living room which occupies one side of the first floor, with the stairway at the rear of it. French doors open into the dining room also at the front of the house, making both rooms lighter and more spacious.

Good light and small size help make the kitchen pleasant. Note the convenient arrangement of the basement steps, below the main flight. An outside entry is provided for the refrigerator and hanging storage shelves. There are two bedrooms, each with a front location and cross-ventilation.

The bathroom and several closets, one of which is fitted with removable trays, complete the second floor layout.

This little cottage is planned for economy, but for the sort of economy that provides conveniences and comfort for the owners. Part of the joy of living in it comes from the knowledge that passersby also "like its looks."

The cost of this house is estimated at $4315, for the average community figuring 30 cents a cubic foot.

ROTARIANS WILL VISIT BOY SCOUT CAMPERS

Follow the arrow! Attention, all ye Rotarians! You can't lose.

Hudson, N. H., rural and exotic in August when summer is in full bloom, calls from afar, and the invitation outflows. Just follow the arrow.

Next Tuesday afternoon, promptly at 6 o'clock, if the weather be fair or stormy it makes no never-mind, a band of Lowell Rotarians, old and young, will depart in automobiles for a quick dash over deviously winding highways from Dutton street via Merrimack and Pawtucket streets and Varuna avenue, to a point just over the New Hampshire state line where Hudson, the sire of the great out-door beckons.

The automobile excursion into the Granite state is momentous. It is the talk of Rotary-dom today. Not a member will be missing when the round-up roll-call is read at local Boys' club headquarters, if nothing serious happens to prevent attendance at the checking-up point. Secretary Roy Parcher has been assured that the motor car cavalcade to the northern destination will be imposing and a good time will be had by all.

Lowell Rotarians are preparing to visit Hudson to see how the Lowell Boy Scout campers are getting along. They have had excellent written reports from Boy Scout Executive Edwin J. Mellen, of course, and parents of the lads in khaki have also been assured that the 1924 scouts' outing has been a record-breaker for success, for the escape of every outdoor, for the pursuit of the Rotarians, and for the fun for themselves. And so they are planning not only to hold their weekly business meeting at the Lowell Boy Scouts' camp ground at Hudson, N. H., next Tuesday afternoon, but will partake of a regular dinner in the camp dining barracks, providing the ration for one and all in the usual Rotarian full-course fashion.

The trip from Lowell to Hudson cannot be made at this time of the year without a few detours. Rotarians have smoothed the way for members, so they won't get lost en route to the Boy Scouts' summer camp. The directions call for initial movement to the corner of Mammoth road and Varuna avenue first, swinging down the avenue, then following the arrows. It will be necessary to keep sharp eye out for these arrows. Rotarians are told. They will be more noticeable along the route at important turns and detours.

Officers of the club hope to have many well-filled automobiles in line, the August visitation trip being one that many members look forward to with genuine eagerness annually.

BUSY WEEK-END

The Dixon Shu-fu team will have a very busy week-end. Tomorrow afternoon they will journey out to Chelmsford to battle the strong Chelmsford A. A. Sunday they will take on the St. Margaret's at Washington park. Monday the team will take on the Pawtucket A. A. in a twilight game at Highland park. "Tiger" Pearson, the Dixon star twirler, will be back in the lineup. The Dixon have open dates for Saturday and Sunday, August 3 and 4. Call Dixon Shu-fu, 6740 and ask for Bert Dixon.

Denmark will erect four radio stations in Greenland.

Use of radio receivers is forbidden in the German occupied areas.

FIRE SWEEPS IDAHO VALLEY

BOISE, Idaho, Aug. 1.—Fanned by strong winds and aided by aridness, the forest fire which started near Big Eddy, Tuesday night on the east side of the Payette river about six miles from Smith's ferry, was spreading with alarming rapidity Thursday afternoon and getting beyond control, said a message from the fire dispatcher at Cascade. The fire was started by sparks from a locomotive.

JAIL BARONESS FOR LARCENY

GRAZ, Austria, Aug. 1.—Baroness Alice Konrad von Konradshausen was sentenced to six months in jail today after conviction on a charge of stealing and selling pearls belonging to two of her friends in the former Austrian aristocracy. The testimony showed that she broke strings of pearls worn by the plaintiffs and purloined a considerable number of them while they were being picked from the floor. The baroness collapsed when she heard the sentence and was carried unconscious from the court.

Mr. William Donohue, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Donohue of Litchfield terrace, and Miss Mary Holmes, daughter of Mrs. Clara Holmes of Highland street, were united in marriage last evening at St. Michael's rectory by Rev. James H. Lynch. Miss Catherine Holmes, sister of the bride, attended as bridesmaid, while Mr. Harold Monahan acted as best man. The bride wore a handsome gown of poudra bleu pleated georgette with hat to match and carried bridal roses. The bridesmaid's gown was of honey-dew georgette with hat to match. She carried Killarney roses. Following the ceremony a dinner was served at the home of the bride's mother by the Lydon Catering Co. Present at the wedding were guests from Cleveland, O., Fall River, Lynn, Boston and Methuen. Today Julien Couche and Julien Salmon, friends of Vandennecke, together with the latter's son, Robert, came to the crematory as the official witnesses of the cremation, although no decision has as yet been made as to the disposal of the ashes.

NO CANTONMENTS IN NEXT WAR SAYS ARMY CORPS LEADER

Maj. General Andre W. Brewster Explains How Three Branches of Army, the Regulars, National Guard, and Reserves, Would Function Should War Come

BOSTON, Aug. 1.—War department plans for national defense, made public today by Major General Andre W. Brewster, commanding the first corps area, provide for a return to revolutionary war methods of mobilization. Instead of troops being sent to a central cantonment, they will be gathered locally, trained near their homes, fed and sheltered there, and replacements will come from fellow citizens.

"Never again will men be herded into huge cantonments, created at enormous expense, far from home and friends," General Brewster said. "Instead, men will collect themselves naturally, much as our forefathers did, in the American revolution, and each town and state will be largely responsible for its own troops. There is no question of the economy of such a plan or of its equitable distribution of the burden, but it is so highly decentralized that its success depends upon each community understanding and intelligently performing its duties."

General Brewster's statement, making public "certain features of the war department plans for national defense which have heretofore been classified as a secret," repeated the plans to call out troops for the regular army and the national guard, in the event of an emergency adding "that as soon as those troops had mobilized, expanded to war strength and left their areas, the organized reserve would commence their mobilization, using the shelter and other facilities in their communities used previously by preceding troops."

STATE PROBES ROOF COLLAPSE

Rhode Island Attorney General Investigates Sudden Fall of Mill Roof

Endeavor to Determine if There Was Criminal Negligence in Accident

WOONSOCKET, R. I., Aug. 1.—State Attorney General Herbert L. Carpenter has started an inquiry into the collapse of the roof of the Branch River Combing company plant at North Smithfield, to determine if there was criminal negligence.

Mr. Carpenter visited the scene this morning and will take up the matter with officials of the engineering and construction companies involved, at their Boston offices.

Officers of Lockwood and Greene company and the Turner Construction company have completed their investigations and turned in their reports at Boston but will have nothing to say as to their nature.

The three men critically injured are in grave condition at the hospital and several others are also under treatment at the institution.

Work on clearing the ruins has been started but there is much of the steel that cannot be used again in the building.

WILLIE RITCHIE TO TRY A COME-BACK

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 1.—Willie Ritchie, who held the lightweight boxing championship from 1914 to 1917, has signed a contract for the first bout of a much-heralded comeback attempt. Two years ago Ritchie, now an automobile tire dealer here, let it be known that the huge purses offered for boxing matches in the east were too tempting to resist and that he would endeavor to re-enter the ring and gain some of them.

The Celestias, owned by Karl Ishburgh of the New Rochelle club, was the first to cross the finish line, but lost the race on account of the Reverie's time allowance. The Celestias arrived at 5:45.5.

WILL ENTER ORDER OF ST. DOMINIC

Next Monday morning at the mother house of the Dominican sisters in Louisville, Ky., Sister Mary Arthur, who, before her entrance into religious life was Miss Celia Connors, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter A. Connors of 25 Twelfth street, will be solemnly professed as a nun in the Order of St. Dominic.

In order to be present at the impressive exercises, Mrs. Connors, with her son, Rev. Arthur Connors, O.M.I., of Buffalo, N. Y., left for Louisville this morning. The ceremony of profession will take place at 9 o'clock next Monday morning.

On the return trip to Lowell, Mrs. Connors will stop over at Sea Isle, N. J., near Atlantic City, for the purpose of visiting another son, James, who is following in his brother's footsteps and will be ordained an Oblate priest next year. The Oblates have a summer home at Sea Isle.

NATIONAL CAMPAIGN AGAINST MILITARY

RICHMOND, Ind., Aug. 1.—A nationwide campaign under the direction of a group of Young Friends, against observance of National Defense day, was in progress today, according to an announcement by J. Howard Marshall and Miss Rachael Conrad Jones of Philadelphia, chairmen of the committee in charge of the movement.

Letters and literature protesting against observance of the day on the ground that it constitutes an endorsement of future wars, is being mailed out to groups of Young Friends throughout the nation, according to the chairmen, who are attending the Young Friends conference here.

The campaign was decided on at a meeting of Young Friends at Ocean City, N. J., two weeks ago, which was called to consider the relation of world peace to the proposed observance, the announcement said.

FIND BIG SUPPLY OF HOME BREW

A liquor raid in an Exeter street by a 4 and 6 per cent beverage. Seizement last night netted 2500 one-quart bottles of home brew, alleged to be of the highest quality. The bottles of the seized goods have been sent to Boston for analysis.

The raid was conducted by Captain Palmer, Sgt. Winn and Officers William L. Keegan and Alfred J. Conney, and an arrest will follow when ownership is established.

HELPS COOLIDGE ON HIS SPEECH

Col. George Harvey, Former London Ambassador, Aids President on Draft

Charles B. Warren, Retiring Mexican Ambassador, Visitor at White House

WASHINGTON, August 1.—Arrival here today of Charles B. Warren, retiring ambassador to Mexico and chairman of the platform committee at the republican national convention, revived speculation as to the part he will take in the republican campaign.

Mr. Warren came to Washington to surrender formally his commission as ambassador to Mexico, but it was understood that as a White House guest, opportunity would be afforded for conference of a political nature between him and the president. It has been generally presumed among republican leaders here that Mr. Warren would be requested to take a prominent part in the campaign because of his experience as republican national committeeman in Michigan for a number of years and because of his work as leader of the platform builders at Cleveland.

Mr. Coolidge is expected to go over his notification address, now being drafted, with Mr. Warren during the retiring ambassador's visit at the White House. He has consulted frequently during his work on the speech with George Harvey, former ambassador to Great Britain, and probably will read it over early next week to William M. Butler, chairman of the republican national committee, before sending the manuscript to the printer. Official business having taken most of his time yesterday, Mr. Coolidge was hopeful that today he would be able to get in more work on the address.

HUGHES CHATS WITH MILLERAND AND POINCARÉ IN FRANCE

Secretary of State Has Long Chat on Reparations With Former Presidents of Republic—Le Matin Comments on Extended Conference

PARIS, Aug. 1.—Before leaving for Brussels, Secretary Hughes had long talks, not only with President Doumergue, but with former Presidents Millerand and Poincaré, with the former at his home in the Avenue de Villiers and with the latter after dinner at the American embassy. It is violating no secret of state, says Le Matin to record that the American cabinet chief was deeply interested in the conversations of the two former presidents.

"It has been a long time," the paper continued, "since Mr. Hughes was in Europe before and he has followed the situation here from afar, sometimes perhaps it was through the distorting prism formed from the imaginary ocean. The secretary felt that himself in the conversations. The word reparations was most often on his lips.

"He sought to understand France's viewpoint, and in addition he did not conceal that the question of French safety, and consequently the possibility of a new war, pre-occupied to a high degree the government and people of the United States and he appeared strongly impressed with what Mr. Millerand, who spoke with great energy and frankness, said to him."

"In a word," concludes the paper, "Mr. Hughes left in a very different state of mind from what he had when arrived. He sees, above all, that if France is struggling with serious financial difficulties, she is by no means ready to abdicate all her rights in

FATHER DINAND RETURNS AS HEAD AT HOLY CROSS

WORCESTER, Aug. 1.—The appointment of Rev. Joseph N. Dinand, S. J., as president of Holy Cross college is announced in connection with the appointment of Rev. James J. Carlin, S. J., who has held the office for six years, as treasurer of the Jesuit Novitiate at West Stockbridge. Father Dinand, who was the Holy Cross head for several years beginning in 1911, has been assistant to the Jesuit provincial of the New York-Maryland province in recent years.

Favor of financiers, however eminent, well intentioned and friendly. "There is no power in France like Wall street in America. It is unlikely there will be, and in the acute stage through which the negotiations are passing this ought never to lose sight."

cient lights" on mail trucks, drivers who operate such vehicles "faster than it is safe to go at night without lights" will have their licenses suspended, according to a letter sent to Postmaster Roland M. Baker yesterday by Frank A. Goodwin, state registrar of motor vehicles. "It has been called to my attention," said the letter, "that a number of mail trucks are now being operated on the streets without any lights at all at night, and I have seen two such cases myself. "If course, I realize that you cannot help it, because apparently the United States government is too poor to put sufficient lights on their trucks to safeguard the lives of the people, but so long as your trucks are in this condition, I wish you would please notify the drivers to take existing conditions into consideration while driving through the streets, because if any complaints are made to me and are verified by investigation that your drivers are going faster than it is safe for motor vehicles to go at night without lights, I shall suspend their right and not permit them to operate on the highways."

SUSPENSION BRIDGE TO CAMDEN FROM PHILA. NEARS FINISH

Gigantic New Span to Be Opened to Traffic for Sesqui-Centennial Exposition—Largest of Its Kind in World, Engineers Assert

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 1.—Construction work on the great Delaware river suspension bridge, according to officials of the commission directing its erection, is keeping pace with the schedule set by the engineers who designed it, making it probable that July 4, 1926, the sesqui-centennial of the signing of the Declaration of Independence, will see the new artery of traffic opened between Pennsylvania and New Jersey.

The bridge, with a span of 1750 feet between towers, according to the engineers, will be the largest of its kind in the world. More than a mile and a half in total length, its towers, already in place, reach 335 feet above the surface of the Delaware river.

Draped from the monster cables, each of which will be 23½ inches thick, the floor of the bridge is to be 135 feet above high water, providing passage for the largest craft without altering their top hamper.

The bridge will be 125 feet wide and will accommodate four tracks for trolley and rapid transit lines and a roadway for six lanes of vehicles. Two walks for pedestrians will be built above the roadway. The cost of the project is estimated at $32,783,000, divided between Philadelphia and Camden, and the states of Pennsylvania and New Jersey.

At its present stage, the structure presents the appearance of a bridge without a floor. The towers and anchorages are in position, and the two shores linked by temporary cables on

LIQUOR SEIZED BY FEDERAL OFFICERS

In raids made yesterday by federal enforcement agents at the Bass Point house at Nahant, and a near-by establishment in Lawrence, Agents Sullivan, Hall and Canole secured liquors of various brands and upwards of 1000 gallons of beer. As result of the raid at the Bass Point house, the alleged proprietor of the hostelry, Andrew P. Fuller, was summoned to appear before U. S. Commissioner Jimmy in Boston.

In addition to the beer seized at 126A Elm street, Lawrence, the agents confiscated a considerable amount of manufacturing equipment. The alleged owner, Anthony Cabara, will be called before Commissioner Walsh in this city.

LIBERAL RULING ON BONUS BILL

Time in Guardhouse or Absent Without Leave May Be Counted

Dishonorable Discharge is the Only Barrier, Attorney-General Stone Asserts

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1.—Atty. Gen. Stone has notified the army and navy that a liberal interpretation should be placed on the insurance bonus act with regard to who is entitled to receive the benefits. The term "active military service" allows time spent in the guard house or "A.W.O.L." to be counted in, according to his ruling. The only barrier is that men dishonorably discharged are not eligible.

More than 1,000,000 applications for the "adjusted compensation" have come in so far, Maj. Gen. Robert C. Davis, the adjutant general of the army, announced today. Since distribution of application blanks was completed on June 26, 12,000,000 blanks have been issued and the rate of return is surprisingly low.

A force of 2000 clerks is at work here, passing on 1000 applications a day. The output will reach 40,000 a day when the new machinery gets into efficient operation, Gen. Davis said. He urged that those who have not filed their applications do so as early as possible.

Certificates have been approved and the veterans' bureau will issue checks for cash payments due March 1, 1925.

AUTOMOBILE BURNED

A new Hudson sedan, valued at $2200 and owned by William A. Griffin of Somerville, was destroyed by fire starting from gasoline ignited by the flame of a farm lantern, early yesterday morning, at the summer cottage of the Griffin in Billerica. An attempt had been made to draw gasoline out of the sedan tank to pour on the fire, but the flames spread to the cottage nearby, but Billerica firemen, promptly summoned, saved the building from destruction.

COMMODORE BALLROOM

With a spacious dancing surface in the best possible condition, wonderful music and the temperature just right, there is no reason why one should not enjoy an evening of real pleasure at the Commodore ballroom. Tonight there will be check dancing with Minner-Doyle's orchestra playing all the popular numbers. The admission is 10 cents. Check dancing will also be on the card for tomorrow evening.

FEAR WATER SCARCITY

Billerica water commissioners have requested water takers to refrain from using hose on lawns and gardens for the present, on account of the extreme drought of the past few weeks, which has lowered the driven wells' supply perceptibly. Several of the wells are actually dry. The meadow land near the pumping station has never been so lacking in moisture as it is at the present time.

LA FOLLETTE LEADERS PLAN CAREFULLY

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1.—The national campaign in support of the independent-progressive ticket headed by Senator La Follette as presidential and Senator Wheeler as vice-presidential candidates, organization leaders asserted today, will be in full swing by Sept. 1. The setting up of campaign and electoral machinery for the entirely new enterprise, which has absorbed attention to date, will have progressed by that time, said the leaders, to the point where a direct appeal may be made effectively to the voters, led by the candidates themselves.

Members of the national executive committee plan to select director of publicity shortly, Robert M. La Follette, Jr., vice-chairman of that body, declared.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE
Only a few opportunities remain for Lowell movie lovers to see "The Fool's Awakening," a screen adaptation of the noted story by William J. Locke, which features the current program at the Merrimack Square theatre. "The Fool's Awakening" is one of the greatest romances of the year. It's dramatic, punchy and full of thrills and excitement. The cast stars Enid Bennett, Harrison Ford and Mary Alden. The other feature of the week-end is "Phantom Justice," an exceptionally strong play with Red La Rocque and Estelle Taylor. An Our Gang comedy and the latest International News complete the bill.

For Sunday, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday the feature attractions will be "Babbitt" by Sinclair Lewis, author of "Main Street," and George Washington, Jr., starring Wesley Barry.

RIALTO THEATRE

"Stormy Seas," a thrilling story of the briny deep, is the chief attraction at Lowell's Rialto the latter half of the week. J. P. McGowan, whose weakness is liquor, is seen as the captain of a ship. He is entrusted with a new liner on her maiden voyage, but in a moment of weakness gives way to drink during a severe storm and the ship founders on a treacherous reef. Heart-broken and ashamed to face the owner of the line, the disconsolate captain disappears. Of course, there's a pretty love story, too, with Helen Holmes as the girl.

"The Freshie," a story of college life with Big Boy Williams in the title role is an amusing film and contains many hearty laughs. Another round of H. C. Wilwer's "Fighting Blood" and Fox News are included in the program.

IRISH QUESTION UP IN HOUSE OF COMMONS

LONDON, Aug. 1 (By the Associated Press).—The house of commons upon reassembling this morning at once took up the Irish question. Colonial Secretary Thomas said the government proposed immediately to introduce legislation, giving effect to the Anglo-Irish treaty and to press its passage through parliament regardless of the consequences to the government.

He announced that he had invited William T. Cosgrave, head of the Southern Irish government, and Sir James Craig, the Ulster premier, to come to London to confer with him.

FAST GAMES ON BASEBALL MENU OVER PRESENT WEEK-END

Abbot Worsteds Play No. Cambridge and Everett at Graniteville—Cleveland Giants at Alumni Field Tomorrow—Silesia Has Sunday Game

Baseball games are programmed over this week-end, the main sponsors of the sport being the Abbot Worsteds and Silesia Mills. This evening in Graniteville, the Abbot Worsteds will endeavor to outwit Dan Leahy's North Cambridge team; tomorrow afternoon, Abbot Worsteds will play the Cleveland Giants (colored) at Alumni field in Lowell, and Sunday they cross bats with Everett at Graniteville. Sunday, the Silesians play Gardner at Silesia park in North Chelmsford.

This evening's game at Graniteville, featuring the peevish North Cambridge boys, will doubtless be a hummer all the way. Since the second half of the Greater Boston Twilight League got under way, North Cambridge has been unable to defeat the Abbot Worsteds, although they have trimmed about every other team in the circuit. To date, the Abbot Worsteds claim one victory and one tie against the Canbats, and Dan Leahy doesn't like a bit. But the Abbot Worsteds aren't worrying about Mr. Leahy's feelings and will go after his team hammer and tongs when play is called at 6 p. m.

Cleveland Giants Tomorrow

For the benefit of the local fans who will not be able to get out to Graniteville this evening, the Abbot management has arranged for a star attraction at Alumni field, formerly Spaulding park, tomorrow afternoon. At 3 o'clock, the blue-uniformed youths will stack up against the famous Cleveland Giants, the greatest colored aggregation of ball players in this part of the country. Aside from their magnificent humorous stunts, the colored men play a serious game of ball, and have turned ed back several formidable opponents this season.

The Abbot Worsteds, knowing of their prowess, are not counting on taking any chances in this game. The best available lineup will be used in an effort to continue this wonderful winning spree of the Graniteville outfit. And it has been some winning streak at that. The boys have been clipping the apple at a merry gallop, led by the example of the inimitable Billie Grann, the greatest little shortstop seen in this neck of the woods in a decade.

Sunday Battles

Two good Sunday games are on the sport menu, one at North Chelmsford and the other at Graniteville. Abbot Worsteds will tackle the Everett team of the Greater Boston Twilight League and Silesia will work hard to defeat Gardner at North Chelmsford. As Silesia appears to have recovered from its slump, its future games will be closely watched by large following.

Other Games

This evening on the South common, the Lowell Twilight League will introduce the Logan's Central and the Centralville Princeton. Both teams have engaged in several bitter struggles this season and are about on even terms in the won and lost column. Toby Quinn, of one-half game, will probably work for the Central tonight, while Gus McKenzie will do his stuff in the box for the Princeton.

For tomorrow and Sunday, amateur games are scheduled on practically all local playgrounds. Richard's Redwings, St. Peter's Cardinals and others will be heard from.

Means to Land Lightweight Title

LUIS VICENTINI

BY JOE WILLIAMS
NEW YORK, Aug. 1.—A young, sharp-eyed Chilean, who started out to be a sculptor and later worked his way into the films as a Daring Desmond in his native Santiago, is the newest word in cauliflowerdom.

Mr. Luis Vicentini, by his recent feat of reducing the good Rocky Kansas to a state of clammy submission in 11 rounds, has leaped blithely over the domes of Dundee, Moran, Barbrin, White and Zivic as the foremost lightweight challenger in the ring.

Mr. Vicentini has something most of the other contenders lack, a destructive punch. White can punch, but he is hopelessly old and worn. Mr. Vicentini is replete with youth and all the essentials that accompany it.

Crude, But He Wins
Vicentini's punch is somewhat of a novelty, if you are interested in technique. It is a right hander but it is as different from the orthodox right-hand punch as a squirrel's bark is from a mother's lullaby. It suggests at once that swinging effect employed by Firpo and the bee-line straightness sponsored by Mons. Carpenter. It is, in fact, a combination of the two.

Vicentini's great speed and agility enable him to use this curious punch with splendid effect. In some puzzling manner or other he manages to get all his body power behind the hit at the proper moment. Old judges of boxing lift their credit hands in high scorn.

"He hits like a bum," they say.

And yet when Vicentini's mongrel mauler connects the blow is over. It is the one for the senator to come bristling down the center aisle and sweep the debris from the middle of the ring.

The full potency of this punch was observed in the knockout of the ruckered Kansas. Prior to his fight with the Chilean, Kansas, in some 150 knocked off his feet. Benny Leonard, lightweight champion, is credited with a knockout over the Buffalo Italian. It was one of those technical things. Kansas broke his hand and had to retire.

Best of All Contenters
Leonard fought Kansas four times, over an aggregate distance of 45 rounds, and not once was he able to put the challenger on the canvas for a count. No one will deny that Leonard can hit. Next to Gans and Lavigne he carries more misery in his fists than any man who ever held the lightweight title. Yet Kansas was too tough for him.

Vicentini, though, was able to drop Kansas twice in less than 11 full rounds. This is proof enough that the Chilean is a great hitter, a harder and more dangerous hitter, perhaps, than Leonard.

We wouldn't bet, however, that Vicentini, in his present stage, can take Leonard. Vicentini has plenty to learn. Kansas had him whipped soundly on points up to the moment of the knockout. If Leonard had been in Kansas' shoes that night he would have knocked the victor out.

Vicentini is not ready for Leonard yet. His sense of defense is still uncharted and his left hand is a crude weapon. But he has a punch and the heart, and these are two robust qualities.

CITY TWILIGHT LEAGUE GAME POSTPONED

On Monday evening the Believes will clash with the East Ends; Wednesday night, the Believes and Richard's Belmonts supply the fun, and on Friday night, the Pawtucket A. A. plays the Believes. ## HEBERT FIGHT PLEASED

Washington Fans Got Money's Worth Watching Lowellite With Dencio

The Washington Post carries the following story of the fistie battle between Lowell's flashy flyweight, Frankie Hebert, and Young Dencio, which took place in Washington last Monday night.

"Young Dencio, the Philippine Panther and Frankie Hebert, New England's flyweight champion, battled to a 12-round draw in the feature at the Kenilworth arena last night. The fight was a real treat for the fight fans, most of them followers of the Philippine, seemed satisfied with the decision. There were no 'boos' so frequently heard at Kenilworth.

"The battle was one of the best ever staged here. The little flyweights provided plenty of action and they kept the spectators on their toes throughout the 12 rounds. Dencio, perhaps excelled in the lightning department, but Hebert was best at long range. He battered Dencio at will in three of the 12 rounds and had him groggy on two occasions. Dencio, however, came back in remarkable fashion and gave Hebert punches now and then that were not love taps.

"Dencio brought a roar from the fans in the very first session, when after a minute's fighting, he sent Hebert to the mat for a count of nine. It was a left to the chin and a right hook that sent his opponent down.

"Hebert, nevertheless, was on his feet before the tenth count and was mixing matters in pepper fashion when the bell rang."

JESSE BURKETT IS SUSPENDED

Manager of Worcester Club Up to Old Trick of Naging Umpire

Picked the Wrong Bird When He Tried Stuff on Red Rorty

WORCESTER, Aug. 1.—Jesse Burkett, manager of the Worcester Eastern league team, has been suspended for an indefinite period by Pres. Dan O'Neill of the league, as the result of his row with Umpire "Red" Rorty in the Pittsfield-Worcester double-header at Boulevard park Wednesday.

Upon receipt of the notice of suspension, A. H. Powell, president of the Worcester club, appointed Bobby Emmerich, team captain and centre fielder, as temporary manager. The change went into effect yesterday.

The club has been automatically fined $100 for the forfeiture of the game Wednesday, but no word has been received by the management regarding Wade Lether and Duke Herman, both of whom were mixed up in the argument Wednesday, which resulted in the alleged blow delivered by Burkett and the forfeiture of the game.

WESTERN BALL PLAYER JOINS WORCESTER

HITCHCOCKSON, Kas., Aug. 1.—Clifton Slomer, catcher of the local club of the Western association, purchased from Omaha early in the season for $500, has been signed by the Worcester club of the Eastern league. He probably will not join the Eastern team until the end of the season.

RUTH'S HITTING CANNOT STEM TIDE AS YANKS LOSE TO ST. LOUIS

Bambino Gets Another Homer, His 14th in July, Setting New Record—Detroit Loses to Washington—Close Scores Mark American League Games

NEW YORK, Aug. 1.—St. Louis southpaws proved too much for the league leading Yankees yesterday and the Browns romped home with both ends of a doubleheader, 2 to 1 and 5 to 4. Wriggall in the first game, had the New Yorkers at his mercy, limiting them to five singles. Danforth was the Yankees' nemesis in the second. Babe Ruth was the only one able to solve the lefthanded slants of the Brown twirlers, gathering two singles in the first and a home run and single in the second. His circuit club was his 13rd for the season and his fourteenth this month, establishing a new monthly record. His best previous mark was established in June, 1921, when he made 13 home runs.

The double defeat cut down the Yankees' lead to one-half game over Washington as the Senators defeated Detroit 1 to 0, when Zachary Cudill Collins in a pitching duel.

Harvey McClellan, substituting at second for Eddie Collins, who is out for a few days due to a strained leg, was a big feature in Chicago's victory over Boston 6 to 4. The Athletics and the Indians broke even in a doubleheader, Philadelphia taking the first, 7 to 2, and Cleveland, the second, 4 to 3, in a ten-inning battle. Speaker's double, chasing Summa over the plate, was the deciding blow in the second encounter.

John McGraw's Giants took another drubbing at the hands of the Pirates in a game that ran limited to six innings. The score was 5 to 0. It was the Pittsburgh team's seventh straight win and placed them only eight games behind the league-leading New Yorkers. Chicago remains in second place, six games behind.

Chicago evened up the series with Brooklyn, winning a closely contested game, 4 to 1. Britt's hitting for the Cubs was the feature of the game, the first sacker driving in all the Chicago tallies with a homer and triple.

Defeat once more was Philadelphia's portion when the St. Louis Cards battled Mitchell out of the box in the first inning, scoring four runs, enough to win. The final score was 6-3. Maule, Wilson and Hornsby hit for the circuit. Rogers making his fifteenth of the season.

The Cincinnati-Boston game was called at the end of the fourth inning, when rain made it impossible to continue play.

By N.E.A. Service
NEW YORK, Aug. 1.—A 17-year-old youth will be William Tilden's partner in the national tennis doubles championship this season. Tilden admitted today his definite decision to team with young Sandy Wiener of Philadelphia, fellow townsman and protégé of the champion.

Tilden scoffs at the suggestion that Wiener is too young for competition in the national event, or worse, too inefficient. "I think Wiener is just about as desirable a partner as I could wish for," Tilden says.

It is said Tilden had every intention of teaming with Wiener in the national doubles last fall, but for some reason or other changed his mind at the 11th hour and asked Brian Norton to take his place. Tilden and Norton then went on to win the championship.

Tilden and Wiener have been playing all season as doubles partners, and it must be admitted they have proved a formidable pair. Recently, in the national clay court championships, the two gave a remarkable performance, winning in straight sets from two such stars as Clarence Griffin and Brian Norton.

Tilden, naturally, carries the brunt of the burden. It is probably true that he covers three-fourths of the court. This is not exactly good doubles play, since the play should be evenly distributed. But it seems to work in Tilden's case. So great is his skill, speed and resourcefulness that he hardly needs a partner at all. Any player of medium skill will do, Wiener, however, is a young star who does not rank many strokes behind the older stars.

Billy Evans SAYS

Is the crouch system used by baseball catchers all wrong?
A famous track coach of a big eastern college thinks so. He has some convincing arguments to back up his opinion.

The coach is of the opinion that every major league catcher could add several years to his career and save his speed if other methods were used.

Most major league catchers are slow of foot. The outstanding stars are no exception. Let two players of equal speed, one a catcher, the other an infielder or outfielder, break into the league at the same time and the catcher will show the wear and tear much sooner.

In five years the catcher will show up a step on the other player. Over a period of 10 years he will be from two to three steps slower. There is a reason.

The famous track coach insists it can all be traced back to the crouch system used by the catchers. The practice of squatting on every ball pitched, prior to giving the signal.

"Nothing could possibly be worse for the muscles used in running than the 'squat-on-every-ball' habit used by all catchers," says the track mentor. "It is an exercise that tends to tighten the muscles of the legs rather than make them pliable. A condition so much desired for speed."

"I realized the crouch system is employed to hide the signals of the catcher. However, there is no reason why a catcher should not work out a set of signals that could be flashed to the pitcher from an upright position, yet escape detection."

"Nine out of every ten catchers are slow of foot. If they have speed when they start their careers as catchers, they soon lose it."

"There must be a reason. Catchers do only one thing differently from other players, squat on every ball pitched. I am positive that is the cause."

The argument of the famous coach sounds logical. It is worthy of a trial but probably will never get it.

Baseball players are prone to follow precedent. Catchers have used this crouch system since the introduction of the game. In all probability will continue to.

DAIRY CATTLE GET OWN

U. S. BUREAU

By N.E.A. Service
WASHINGTON, Aug. 1.—The importance of the dairy cow and the growing complexity of American agriculture have finally been recognized with the establishment of the new bureau of dairying in the U. S. department of agriculture.

Dr. C. W. Larson, head of the new bureau, was head of the dairy division of the bureau of animal industry, from which the bureau has sprung. It was born on a farm in Iowa and for the last 20 years has been actively dairying.

Although several European countries have been famous for their cows and dairy products, no country has gone forward in this industry as rapidly as the United States. Foreigners frequently comment on the safety of our milk supply and the marvelous machinery developed for handling milk from the time it is taken from the cow with the milking machine until it is delivered to the consumer in a sterilized bottle, cleaned, filled and capped by machinery.

Also the health of dairy cattle has been wonderfully improved, particularly in the eradication of tuberculosis, which is going on at an increasing rate. Each year shows an increase in the consumption of milk because it is becoming one of the safest foods and long has been recognized as one of the most nutritious.

Dr. Larson says that, in spite of the progress which has been made, there is room for much more improvement, as many of the fundamental problems have not been solved. His bureau will study, among other things, the underlying principles of breeding to insure, if possible, the same results that breeders of grain, flowers, and fruit are able to accomplish.

In addition to the laboratories, the dairy problems will be worked out on a large farm at Beltsville, Md., near Washington, at a commercial creamery and cheese factory at Grove City, Pa., and on experimental farms in various parts of the country.

Three Teams Survive Elimination in Men's Doubles—

Women Play Today

SEABRIGHT, N. J., Aug. 1.—The coast stars, William M. Johnston and Howard Kinsey, both of San Francisco, clash in the final singles match in the Seabright invitation tennis tournament here today.

Johnston has gradually rounded to form and with Kinsey playing the game of his life, a slashing battle is looked for. Kinsey stands between Johnston and his fourth straight victory in this event.

In the men's doubles three teams survive, with William M. Johnston and Clarence Griffin in the final, and Howard and Robert Kinsey, and Earl Dahr and Dean Mathey in the semi-final.

By defeating Miss Molly Phayer and Miss Phyllis Walsh of Philadelphia, Miss Mary Browne and Mrs. T. Horace Dudley of Los Angeles, advanced to the final in the women's doubles. Miss Browne and Mrs. Dudley won their match 6-3, 6-2. They met Miss Mayme MacDonald and Miss Florence Ballin of New York in the final today.

Senior Firpo will now arise and broadcast that pathetic little dirty entitled, "My Sweetie Went Away."

BELTSVILLE, Md., Aug. 1.—Even in death, Sophie 19th, famous Jersey champion, has given herself over to science.

After nearly 20 years of service in milk and butter production, during which time she held many championships, Sophie was slaughtered recently on the government farm here, in the presence of many scientists interested in the study and improvement of domestic animals. She was a member of the famous Jersey herd at Hood Farm, Lowell, Mass.

But, killed because of old age, Sophie is still useful to science. Her body has been the object of study by scientists of the department of agriculture.

Their special search is confined to high-yielding dairy cows, to see if there is some relationship between the sizes of their organs and their productivity. Also a new basis for judging dairy cattle may be developed.

During her lifetime Sophie produced nearly 100 tons of milk and almost five tons of butter. At the age of seven years she produced 200 pounds of butterfat, which means about 120 pounds of butter in one year.

From January, 1911, to November, 1915, she was world champion Jersey and as late as 1923, when she was very old for a cow, she was eighth highest milk producer of the breed.

STOCK MARKET

Stock prices continued to seek new high levels today despite a rather volume of week-end profit-taking, all the so-called Van Sweringen stocks broke through their previous high levels, and good buying was also noted in the oil, motors, public utilities and merchandising issues. Sales approximated 1,200,000 shares.

The closing was irregular. Heavy selling of the sugar shares in the late trading brought about recessions of 1 to 2 1/2 points in American Sugar Refining, Cuba Cane and Punta Alegre. Bullish demonstrations took place, however, in the oil and rubber issues.

Prices continued to surge upwards during the morning despite a rather large volume of week-end profit-taking in various sections of the list. Steady accumulation of the railroad shares resulted in additional new 1924 high records being reached by Pittsburgh and West Virginia, Western Maryland, Gulf, Missouri and Northern, Chicago and Northwestern and Peoria and Eastern Illinois. Speculative belief that U. S. Steel common had definitely been placed on a 7 per cent basis by the declaration of three extra dividends of 50 cents, the last in a period of depression, brought fresh buying into that stock and sent it up to 108 1/2, or within a fraction of the year's top established early in the year. Jarrable fluctuation took place in American Waterworks, which opened 4 points lower at 100 1/2, advanced to 115 1/2 and then reacted again. Some of the strong spots were National Lead, DuPont, Smith Drug, Nash Motors, U. S. Steel, 1st pf, Consolidated, Consolidated Sugar, Producers and Refiners and Calumet and Arizona up 1 1/2 to 3 points. Call money opened at 2 per cent.

Prospects of an early agreement being reached at the London reparations conference had a bullish effect on sentiment in various sections of today's stock market. Buying orders were again spread over a broad list with an exceptionally good demand noted for the rails and major Atlantic Coast Line moved one point to a new 1924 top at 135 and Houston Oil advanced 1 1/2.

Rails and public utilities assumed the leadership of the early advance during which another stock of new high records for the year was established. All the stocks mentioned in the preceding paragraph of the Van Sweringens sold at their best prices of the year, including the three Pikes, Pere Marquette common and preferred, Chesapeake and Ohio, Nickel and Steel, the guinea ranking from fractions to nearly two points, Delaware and Hudson, United Fruit, Mackay companies and Public Service common. General Electric also reached new peaks. Steel common crossed 108 to within a point of the year's best.

American Waterworks, which had been four points in further reflection of a denial of reports that interests identified with the General Electric company had obtained control of the property. Foreign exchanges obtained firm.

Loeb-Leopold Murder Trial

facts are favorable or unfavorable to the defendants.

"Were I in his place, I would instead let my conscience be my guide, and were I a judge I would want to know every fact that could be presented from either viewpoint of both state and defense."

"I would lay aside the rules of evidence," continued Mr. Bacharach. "They don't matter in a situation like this. This don't matter as a fact of law."

"This is not a trial. It is a hearing for you to determine the punishment to be meted out."

Lie quoted from Fischer on evidence to the effect that formalities necessary when a case is before a jury should be disregarded by a court in considering punishment.

"Everything went in that the state desired and properly so. When it comes to the defense's evidence nothing should be shut out. It requires a distortion of the mind to say that evidence as to the mental condition of these boys is not a proper consideration in fixing the punishment."

"It seems a useless thing for us to have to stand here and argue that mental condition like age, shall not be considered in mitigation of punishment."

Mr. Crowe said the issue before the court was something for Judge Caverly himself to decide.

Mr. Crowe also defended his course in banking a bill in the last Illinois legislature for revision of the lunacy laws.

"This is a tremendous case in Illinois," Mr. Crowe said, in opening remarks.

"As I listened to Mr. Darrow, I was in doubt whether he was in a court trial, making a speech before the legislature, or making a closing speech to a jury in an effort to save his clients," he said. He referred to remarks by Darrow that he had no right to present evidence in the case after a plea of guilty and by Bacharach, that the state's attorney's duties ended with presenting his case, denying the defense had stated the case correctly.

"Yes, the state's attorney is a sworn officer of the law," Crowe said. "But the defense would bar me because they would have this proceeding not as a lawsuit at all."

"Mr. Darrow has castigated me because when I occupied the place Your Honor occupies, I attempted to follow the law and protect the women and children of the community."

"I have heard Mr. Darrow say that he would not hang anybody and even that he would not punish anyone for crime."

He referred to a bill he had tried to sponsor through the legislature for isolation of mental defectives before they had committed crimes.

"There is only one issue in this," he continued. "The purpose of the testimony now about to be introduced concerns the mental responsibility of these defendants. The legal effect and the effect it has on the mind of the layman is that it is a defense of legal insanity. You have no right to hear it. The state could not appeal. The defense, if satisfied, would not appeal. If not satisfied they would appeal and the supreme court would send the case back on appeal."

Judge Caverly looked inquiringly at the attorneys for both sides and finding none wished to argue further, delivered his decision.

WHEN WINTER COMES IN SUMMER

Winter comes in the summertime at Rapid City, S. D. Hundreds of windows were broken, roofs caved in, automobiles were wrecked, and a blanket of hailstones four inches deep covered the city streets after a severe half-hour storm. Folks brought their snow-shovels out of the cellars and went to work.

There was a stir as the significance of the court's words struck home for one for Leopold, with broad smiles on their countenances leaned over to Benjamin Bacharach and spoke in a low tone.

Dr. William Alanson White, first defense witness, climbed back to the stand. He was questioned by Bacharach as to his professional connections.

"In 1903 I was appointed superintendent of the government hospital for the insane, Washington, now known as St. Elizabeth's hospital," he answered. "I am the alienist for the public health service. I am president of the American Psychiatric association," he added.

Dr. White testified he was asked by Attorney Bacharach to explain the methods of mental examination and as he started to refer to notes, Mr. Crowe objected, saying that the matter properly was one for examination. "The state is right," Judge Caverly ruled.

"What is the importance of the past and environment in examination," Dr. White was asked.

"It is of enormous importance," he answered, after much argument by attorneys, as to whether it was admissible.

Bacharach's questions led through whether the doctor could tell whether a patient was lying, and Crowe objected, but was overruled, Judge Caverly saying the doctor was put on for a purpose and he was desirous of finding out what the purpose was.

"Is it always possible to make a diagnosis that a patient is suffering from a mental disease?" he was asked. A negative reply was given after the state's objection had been overruled.

Mental diseases depend upon a number of considerations, Dr. White declared.

"Distortions in youth are quickly imbedded in the make-up of the individual," he said.

The doctor talked about "the inner mental life" and Mr. Crowe interrupted.

"Just what question is he answering now?"

The court allowed the lecture to continue.

"As a result of your examination of Richard Loeb, have you been able to form, and have you formed an opinion as to his mental condition?" asked Mr. Bacharach.

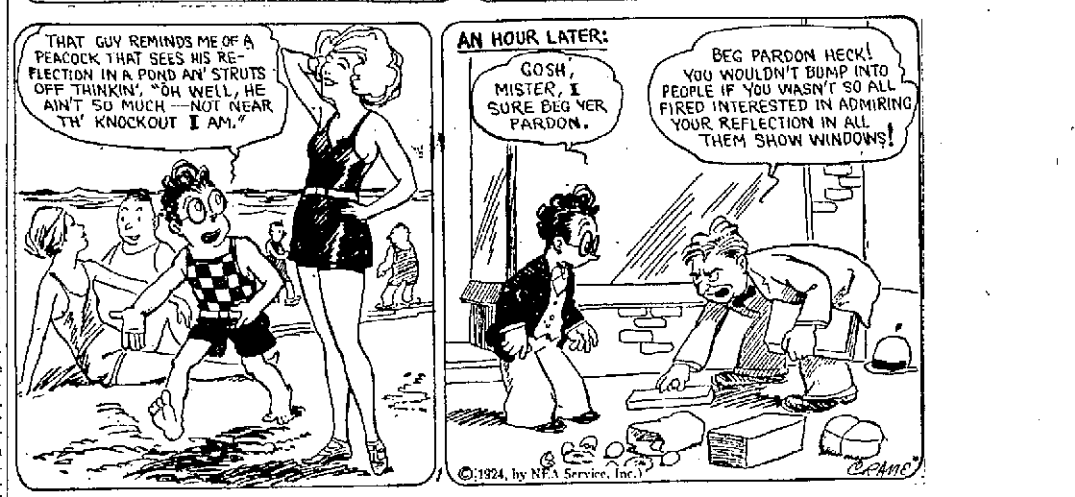

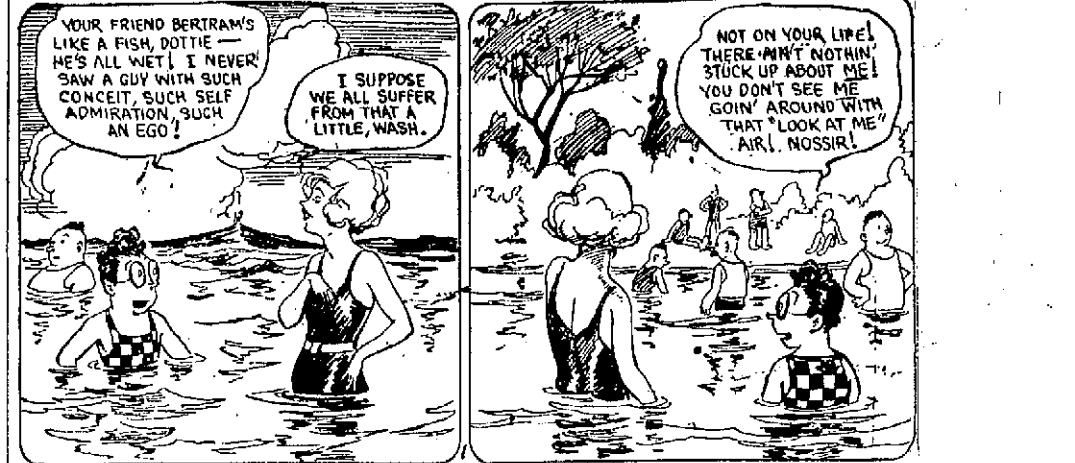

Mr. Crowe objected and the defense agreed with him that everything that has been done and all information he had obtained be given just as it had been done and as he had obtained it.

The doctor then launched into a long description of the examination of Loeb, referring to the youth as "Dickie."

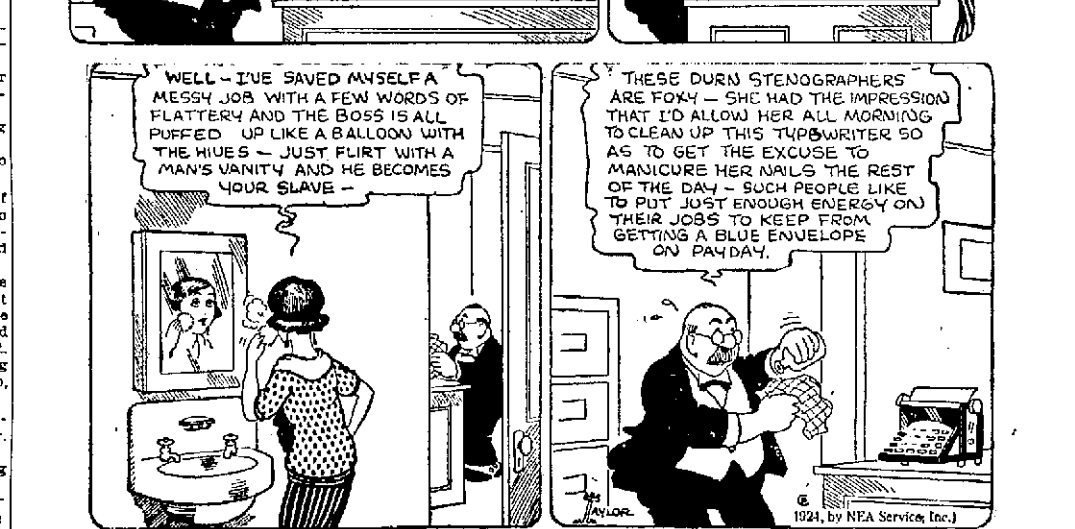

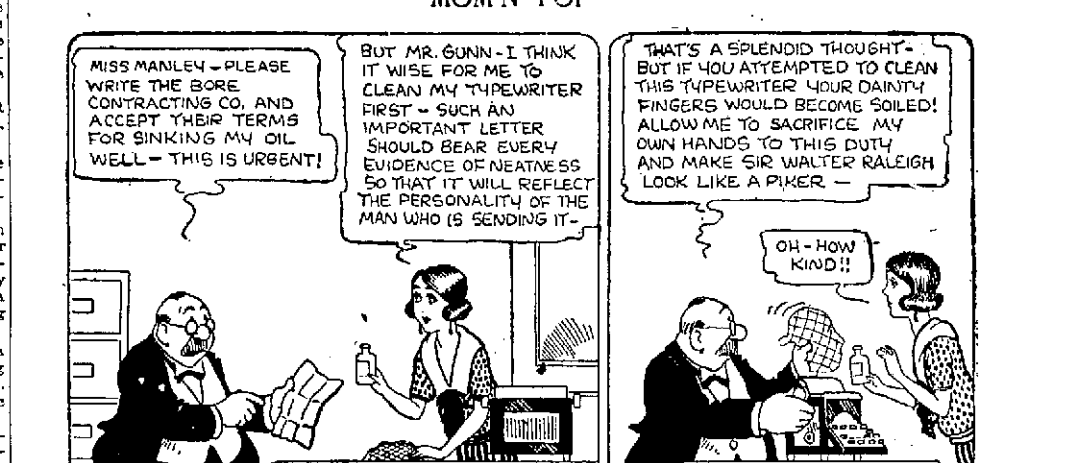

"Do you mean Richard Loeb, defendant in this case?" asked Mr. Crowe.

"Yes; you don't object to my calling him 'Dickie,' do you?"

Advertisers who use The Sun consistently get greater returns on the money invested than through any other Lowell newspaper. There's a reason. The Sun goes into more homes in Lowell and suburbs than any other Lowell paper and ninety per cent of Sun readers read no other Lowell newspaper. Furthermore, ninety five per cent of The Sun circulation is confined to the city of Lowell and immediate vicinity.

Jack Daw's Adventures. Chapter 11

Very shortly Jack was out in the open again and he jumped up and started slipping the fur suit over his regular clothes. "You'll have to take your overcoat off," said one of the sailors, "or the suit won't fit." Jack then did as suggested. "Wow, it's cold," said he, when his coat was removed.

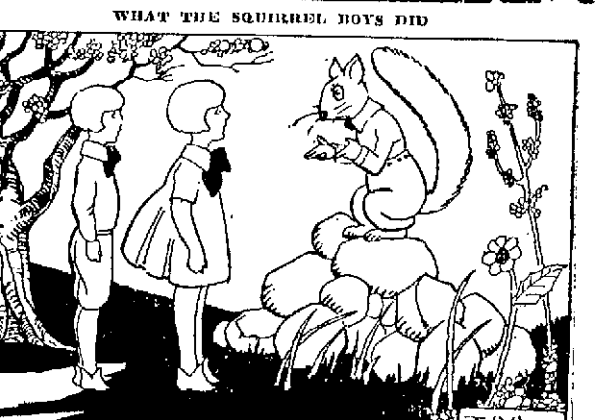

Then he hurriedly slipped into the fur garment. "Why that was made for you," the sailors shouted in chorus. "Well, it fits like it, doesn't it?" smiled Jack. The fur suit covered everything but Jack's face and when Flip looked up he started to bark and snup at his master.

Both sailors began to laugh. "Your dog doesn't know you," they said. So Jack stooped over and said, "Hello, there, old fellow. Don't you know your master?" The dog recognized Jack's voice in an instant and he turned from snapping to whining. Then he wagged his tail rapidly. (Continued.)

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

"HELLO!" SAID NICK AND NANCY.

"Have you made your fortune yet, Mister Zip?" asked Nancy. The fairymen counted his money. "No," he said sadly shaking his head. "Not yet. There are too many people getting into my park for nothing." "Flop Field Mouse and Alkey Mole always come in by the gate, now," said Nick. "And they pay their way." "Yes," said Mister Zip, "and I think they learned a good lesson in honesty. But there must be other people getting in free, for yesterday there were more people than ticks in the tickle box." "I know," for I counted noses. You Twins might do a little more investigating for me. There are more ways than one of getting into Happy Go Lucky Park, I am afraid."

The Twins said goodbye and went off into the green woods. It was a lovely day and the sunlight, coming down through the green leaves, made the trees look like lovely green lace. Chippy Chippmunk was sitting on the roof of his stone house enjoying the weather. "Hello!" said Nancy and Nick. "Hello!" said Chippy. "Where did you come from?"

"We just came from Happy Go Lucky Park," said Nancy. "We are helping Mister Zip, the fairymen, who owns the park, to make his fortune."

"I wish I could go along. I've got 5 cents to spend, but that wouldn't even take me in."

Sure enough the two frisky squirrel boys were coming out of their uncle's front door in Maple Tree Flats at that very minute, and the Twins watched to see what they would do. Instead of coming down to the ground, they ran nimbly out to the end of a branch where it touched the trunk of a pine tree. Then they ran from branch to branch of the pine tree until they came to a place where the pine tree touched a maple tree. They did the same with the maple tree until they reached an elm tree. From that to a chestnut tree and so on until they came to the edge of the woods where Happy Go Lucky Park was.

A big sycamore tree grew right in the park. When they reached it, they slid down and there they were! In the park as nice as pie, and all for nothing!

"No wonder Mister Zip isn't making his fortune," said Nick. "Come, Nancy, we'll have to talk him."

But I'm sure the squirrel boys didn't think they were doing anything dishonest.

SERVICE BOARD VOTES INCREASE FOR SWEEPER DRIVERS

Board Chairman Opposed to Increase But Voted in Favor to Avoid Discrimination—Chamber of Commerce Committee Criticizes Work of Sweepers

Disatisfaction among street department chauffeurs who did not benefit by the increase voted at a special meeting of the public service board a week ago, came to a head at a regular meeting of the board last evening when two drivers of street sweepers, accompanied by union delegations, requested and were finally voted similar increases.

Evidence of disagreement among members of the board were brought to the surface when Chairman Dennis J. Murphy, in a statement concerning his stand on the matter, said he had been opposed to granting an increase to four chauffeurs when the matter was brought to his attention because he knew others would seek like increases and the financial condition of the department could not stand any group increase. He said he voted in favor of the increase for the four a week ago because it was stated that the other chauffeurs in the department were perfectly satisfied that the four singled out should receive increases. That this was not true is proven by this delegation before this evening, he said, and I will favor an increase for I think there should be no discrimination.

Mr. Murphy also took occasion while the street sweeper men were present to question them at length concerning their work and what they had heard and many complaints that the streets were not being swept as they should be. A communication from the mayor was read requesting that if a supplementary appropriation will be necessary, a request be made of him by Monday, August 4, and further asking that if the work of the street department is not up to schedule, as in his opinion it is, the board notify him who is responsible for the delay. It was referred to the superintendent of streets to have all detail necessary to answer the mayor's request ready for the board at a special meeting to be held Monday noon.

Prior to the meeting, public hearings on a number of petitions were held in the roominghouse chamber. The hearings opened at 8 o'clock and were closed 15 minutes later, there being no discussion on any of the petitions. Action on the petitions was decided upon at the meeting which came later in the evening.

The hearings and disposition of petitions follow:

Petition of Mike A. Husson for extension of Fletcher street sewer. Voted on condition the extension is made through the sidewalk to Franklin street.

Petition of Elzear LeDuc that a sidewalk of edgstones and cinders be laid in front of 72 Farmland road. Granted. Charles Leclair, et al, that Carolyn street be accepted, macadamized, and edgstones laid on both sides of the street. This was granted.

Petition of Charles Sweeney that the unaccepted part of Warren street be accepted. Continued on request of an abutler who could not be present.

Petition that D street be widened at its intersection with Chauncy street. This was also voted.

A petition of Rev. C. J. Galligan for edgstones in Parker street was favorably acted upon.

Acceptance of Wedge and Gibson roads, as petitioned by Thorsten Egnard, was deferred until a plan and proffment be made by the engineer's department.

Petition for a sewer in Raynor street and Mount View avenue, entered by J. A. Lequin, was acted upon favorably by the board.

Two meetings of the board were held yesterday. The first at 4.45 p. m. following the board's monthly tour of streets concerned petitions for sewers, sidewalks, etc. The second meeting was at 8.25 o'clock after the public hearings. All members were present at the first meeting but Mr. Leary was absent during the public hearings and at the evening meeting. At the afternoon meeting only routine business was transacted.

The first business before the evening meeting was the request of a delegation representing the Teamsters and Municipal Employees union for a raise similar to that granted four weeks ago for public chauffeurs. The delegation, James Roarko and Martin Rock, chauffeurs of the street cleaning machines.

Before taking up the matter, Mr. Murphy made a statement concerning his stand in the matter as given above. He then questioned the men at length concerning their work, which is done at night. He said he had received complaint after complaint to the effect that the street sweeping was not being done in accordance with plans laid out earlier in the year and said he did not think the city was getting satisfactory service from its sweepers. "A chamber of commerce committee," he said, "has investigated the work of the sweepers and found the service very poor. This committee is seeking a hearing before the board in the near future. In fact, they claim, as I understand it, that the sweepers are not covering their routes."

The pays of the two men involved for the past seven or eight weeks were presented and disclosed that the men were getting considerable overtime. Mr. Murphy then said he believed the two men involved should get the increase they ask for so that there would be no further discrimination in the department but they should not be allowed to work overtime. The regular pay of the two men involved was $5.20 a day.

Mr. Meloy questioned the delegation as to how many more men would seek increases. The question was not answered.

It was then moved by Mr. Murphy and seconded by Mr. Meloy, that the street sweeper chauffeurs be increased to 75 cents an hour.

A communication from the purchasing agent concerning the purchase of a 32-ton truck for the water department was read. In his letter the purchasing agent stated he would be pleased to receive recommendations but reserved the right of contract award, which he claimed the board was trying to take away from him. The letter was filed and the city engineer instructed to write to the purchasing agent to the effect that the board has no intention of usurping the agent's power but would refuse to accept any truck which it did not deem satisfactory for the work it must do.

A communication from the mayor concerning the laying of a new 16-inch main to the Oaklawn district, as a means of furnishing employment for many men out of work and at the same time providing a necessary improvement, was read and taken under consideration for an early decision. The members present appeared to favor the suggestion embodied in the mayor's letter to be heard in the expenditure of $75,000, felt the matter should be studied and action taken when all members of the board were present.

A civil service list of 40 eligible for 26 positions as experienced laborers was tabled to be acted upon at a special meeting of the board in the office of Chairman Murphy this evening at 8 o'clock.

The meeting adjourned at 9.30 o'clock.

DRIVE AGAINST ARSON IS CONTEMPLATED

BOSTON, Aug. 1.—Prevention of the practice of persons insuring merchandise or other forms of property for double or triple their value, destroying them by fire, and then making a claim through the collection of insurance, is to be one of the objectives of the special fire commission, it developed at a meeting in the State House yesterday afternoon of that recently appointed body. It was indicated that the commission would devote much attention to the question of fire menaces. Large numbers of fires, it is said, start as a result of carelessness on the part of property owners in not procuring buildings from inflammable material lying about. It is expected that the commission will recommend legislation which will remedy this situation. The commission will hold its next meeting at the State House, Sept. 4. At that meeting plans will be made for holding public hearings in Boston and in other cities throughout the state.

FIELD DAY POSTPONED

Rain Interferes With Program in North Billerica—Will Be Held Tomorrow

The heavy rainstorm that broke over Middlesex county yesterday afternoon shortly after 3 o'clock compelled the managers of St. Andrew's church field day in North Billerica, to postpone the event until tomorrow. Announcement was made this morning that all program features not presented yesterday before the storm cancelled the entertainment and contests, will be carried out Saturday as previously announced. There will be attractive exhibits and entertainment afternoons and evenings, and plenty of good music.

The committee of arrangements was busy today preparing for the field day, reopening tomorrow on the Kohlman playground in North Billerica. Plans have been made to greet friendly village patrons from all the Billerica and also many returning parishioners, who are coming back to their old home Saturday to participate in the postponed festivities.

There will be an entertaining sports program, given in its entirety as previously billed, but which was cancelled because of Thursday afternoon's storm. On every hand will be the usual tables filled with good things, including food, fruits and delectables, fancy work, articles for the home, novelties, etc. The refreshment booths will have extra attendants for the Saturday afternoon and evening festival.

The special program of games, prepared for yesterday's entertaining, will be given tomorrow, with all entries scheduled to appear as previously announced. There will be many other attractions also provided by loving hands and hearts in a noble cause to raise funds for the St. Andrew's parish.

The much-heralded baby show was conducted at a splendid yesterday, being concluded just before the storm broke over the playground. It was a great attraction and entrants were many. Mrs. John S. Welsh had charge of the show and the judges were Dr. Francis A. Finnegan of Lowell, director of school hygiene; and Miss Katherine Sullivan and Miss Marie Goudreau, Lowell board of health nurses in the child welfare department. The winners and prizes were as follows:

Everything in Readiness for Month's Tour of Duty at Devens

Boys Will Go to Fort Adams For Coast Artillery Instruction

Everything is in readiness for the formal start of the month's tour of duty of the citizens' military training camp students at Camp Devens. Three hundred and twenty-five young men, including several Lowell district enlistments, arrived before sundown last evening, and were assigned quarters in comfortable barracks prepared for the influx of students under regular army supervision.

Today, the majority of the ambitious young men prepared to take up intensive military training, reached the camp grounds and reported. Many of them were met at Ayer railroad station by regular army officers, who will later be their instructors. The majority of " rookies " were conveyed to Camp Devens in army trucks, although many preferred to hike the mile stretch which baggage so eager were they to reach enrollment headquarters, secure their tickets to "quarters" and don the khaki uniforms they are to wear until Aug. 30.

At the checking-in station, the boys were given their medical examinations and then outfitted. Both the medical and quartermaster departments functioned in a manner that surprised even old-time administrative army officers. Sixteen doctors were in charge of the examinations and each had a special task to perform. The boys were rapidly passed on, one after another, stepping forth from the examination rooms at the rate of one a minute.

Four hundred of the boys reporting today are to be sent to Fort Adams, off Newport, R. I., within a few days, for instruction in coast artillery and heavy gun work. It is not at all unlikely that some of the Lowell rookies will be selected to fill the quota assigned to the fort school of instruction.

Tomorrow morning will find practically all of the training camp quarters filled with the 1924 quota of young students, and it is planned to assemble the boys at 11 o'clock in the morning at the headquarters of the fifth infantry, U.S.A., where the oath of allegiance will be administered to all. The ceremony will consist of the presentation to each student troop the guidon of its parent outfit, the gallant Fifth, which the students will keep throughout their stay in camp.

At the assembly of the students and the parent organization of United States regulars, Maj.-Gen. Andrew Brewster, commanding the First corps area, will deliver an address.

Lowell's quota at Camp Devens is 28 young men. The name of George A. Murren, of 10 Oxford street, Lowell, was not included in the official list received from First Army corps headquarters by the Sun last week. Murren filed his application two weeks ago and was immediately accepted. He left today for Camp Devens with other enthusiastic Lowell young men eager for the military training to come.

Reserve officers who have been on duty at Camp Devens for the past two weeks, and who will leave for their homes Sunday, have not put in their summer tour of duty without some personal sacrifice. Lowell was represented in the 94th and 97th divisions. Many men who are heads of large mercantile or business establishments in their home towns or cities, performed the duty tour at Devens like regular soldiers of the line, and all of them seemed to like it. In the divisions were found newspapermen, editors, doctors, lawyers and, in fact, men from all professions in this year's successful reserve officers' camp.

The devotion of some of the patriotic men who are attached to the reserve lists, was emphasized by the appearance of a group of Major Louis P. Fallon of the 97th division. He is a doctor by profession and lives in St. John's, Newfoundland. Major Fallon spent a week of his own time on the way to Camp Devens, and will spend another week getting home. Although he draws major's pay for two weeks, the amount of money will not begin to cover his expenses or the amount of the professional fees that he sacrificed during his month's absence from his Newfoundland home.

GASOLINE CLUB TO HOLD OUTING

The Lowell Gaelic club will hold its annual outing at Revere beach on Sunday next. The members, and their friends will proceed to the beach by trucks at 9 a. m., from the corner of Paige and John streets. Anyone not having procured tickets can do so Sunday morning, if they will be accommodations provided for all.

The added healthful qualities of sea air may be attributed to the fact that sea air has more ozone than land air.

Groundwork for Recovery Puts in An Appearance in Market

Commodity Prices Took Turn for Better in June and July

In his monthly review of business and banking conditions in the New England district, Frederic H. Curtiss, chairman and Federal Reserve agent in this district, is somewhat more optimistic. He says:

"While business as a whole is quiet just at present, more so than is usual in the summer, it has shown marked improvement during recent weeks."

"Manufacturing production has been declining for several months, not only in New England, but in practically all parts of the country. Many factories in this district normally have their vacation period in July, and in many cases the shut-down this year was for a longer period. Upon reopening, a number of urgent concerns started production at a higher rate than was in effect immediately prior to the vacation, indicating, perhaps, a more hopeful feeling as to the future, as well as a larger volume of orders on hand."

"Since the middle of May the New England railroads have been carrying a smaller volume of freight than at the corresponding time last year, due to lessened shipments from mills and factories. It is evident, however, that production in some important industries has now been curtailed to such an extent that it is far less than current retail distribution, a condition which must sooner or later act as a powerful corrective to the present situation."

"The total volume of retail trade is indicated quite well by department store sales. During the first three weeks in July, sales of representative New England department stores were almost exactly the same as in the corresponding period a year ago."

"The production curtailed so extensively as it is at present, and with retail distribution curtailed to only a slight extent, the groundwork for a recovery in production would certainly seem to be in the process of being made."

It was pointed out in the July 1 issue of the "Monthly Review" that, in spite of the present volume of retail distribution, the volume of orders outstanding for merchandise was far less than at this period last year. There has been a slight improvement in this condition during the past month or six weeks.

The commodity price situation, a marked turn for the better in June and July. The extra-cornness in corn and wheat apparently has been a factor in the increase in prices of these commodities since the first of the year.

The extent of this advance is recorded by the index of 20 basic commodity prices compiled by the Federal Reserve bank of New York, these figures showing an increase of almost 7 per cent during the past two months. In the last week of July alone, this index registered an increase of 3.3 per cent over the record of the previous week. "This is the sharpest rise on record in the weekly figures which have been compiled since January, 1922. 'Dun's Review' for the third and fourth weeks in July reported that more wholesale commodity prices had increased during those weeks than declined. Such a condition had not existed during the preceding 20 weeks."

"Increasing commodity prices almost always create a better feeling in business circles, and at certain stages they even favorably affect the business situation itself."

"While banking situation remained fundamentally sound during July, money rates showed somewhat more stability after the marked decline of the past few months, although the average rates at the close of July were lower than at any time since 1916."

SENT BOUQUET TO SUPT. ATKINSON

This morning, the Lowell Permanent Firemen's club, Robert Broadbent, president, sent a bouquet of flowers to Police Supt. Atkinson, who has been ill at his home for the past two weeks. The little token is in appreciation of the kindly interest the superintendent evinced in the welfare of the club.

TAKING TRAFFIC COPS' MEASURE

Lowell's traffic officers were in a happy mood this morning, when they called to the police station to be measured for new summer khaki uniforms. It is expected that the new and comfortable attire will be ready for wear within a week.
